THE NEWS.

Europe.

The cable despatches are dated July 1.

The London journals publish that something is wrong with the new French cable, and that it has been cut and buoyed. The Great Eastern is returning probably to discover the fault that was noticed on the 25th ult.

The Lord Mayor of London entertained the Ministers at the Mansion House last evening at a banquet, during which Mr. Gladstone spoke on the Irish Church question.

A fearful nitro-glycerine explosion has occurred in Wales, killing four men.

The bullion in the Bank of England has increased £185,000 since last week.

The Burlingame mission is about to leave Paris for Stockholm.

In the Cortes yesterday General Prim denied any intention to attempt a coup d'etat.

Cuba.

An American engineer, recently from Puerto Principe, says the condition of the garrison in that town is dreadful, there being ten deaths a day in the hospitals. The insurgents were conducting the siege with great activity. An American named Speekman, one of the crew of the Grapeshot, had been executed at Santiago.

South America.

We have dates and letters from Panama to the 23d, Lima, Peru, to the 13th and Valparaiso to the 2d of June. The new canal projects have been rejected by the Colombian Congress. Secretary Borie's apology for the landing of marines on Colombian territory in order to capture deserters is published. President Baita, of Peru, in reply to a request of a mass meeting that the monitors be tendered the Cuban insurgents, replied that he would do what tended most to the honor of Peru. A fire had occurred at Santiago, Chile, involving a loss of $400,000.

West Indies.

Advices from St. Thomas to the 16th ult. announce that Sir Arthur Rumboldi, Bart., Governor of the Virgin Islands, died suddenly there on the 12th ult. An immense crowd of people of all ranks and positions attended the funeral. It is the general opinion that slow poison was administered to Sir Arthur by some of his political enemies in Tortola.

We learn from St. Domingo that General Cabral had succeeded in landing with a strong force at Azua. General Luperon sailed from St. Marc in the steamer Telegrafo for St. Domingo to blockade that port, and Cabral proposes to invest the city by land and so cut off all communication. The Telegrafo had been in to Puerto Plata and attempted to bombard the town, but her guns would not reach. She was driven off by the guns of the fort. The Senate has declared her a pirate. A correspondent states that Baez had left his capital and gone to Monte Christo.

Advices from Porto Rico state that the Captain General had ordered four of the ringleaders of the recent military emeute to be tried by court martial and immediately shot; but the officers composing the court disagreeing as to the punishment proper to be inflicted, the affair remains unsettled. In Ponce and Mayaguez the feeling against the Spaniards is becoming more bitter daily. The people have received the news of the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents by Peru and Chile with great rejoicing.

Miscellaneous.

The public debt statement just issued shows a decrease in the debt during June of $16,410,132.

President Grant delivered the diplomas to the graduates at Georgetown College yesterday. A seat next his own was reserved for ex-President Johnson, but he did not arrive until the exercises were closing.

The Democratic State Convention in California has adjourned. It passed resolutions favoring the fifteenth amendment and the adoption of the postal telegraph system.

The Richmond (Va.) police force is to be increased on election day and armed with muskets and bayonets.

The floods have been very destructive in the neighborhood of Junction City, Kan. Thirteen lives are known to have been lost and more probably were.

The City.

General Butterfield was regularly installed in the Sub-Treasury yesterday.

The yacht Dauntless was seen on the 29th, 230 miles east of Sandy Hook.

Hastings, who killed Frank Bunker, it is reported, has been arrested in Boston.

There are still $200,000 or more of the Ocean Bank money in the hands of the thieves. The bank officials have offered $25,000 for the arrest of the thieves, although they claim that the bank did not lose over that amount.

The stock market yesterday was irregular, opening strong and buoyant and then undergoing a sharp decline on the leading speculative shares. Gold advanced to 137½ but thence declined to 136¾.

Prominent Arrivals in the City.

Sir John Barrington, of Dublin, Ireland, and General Parker, of Washington, are at the Brevoort House.

General Craig W. Wadsworth, of New York, and General W. Dwight, of Boston, are at the Albemarle Hotel.

Ezra Cornell is at the Coleman House.

Colonel H. C. Whitely, of Washington, is at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Thomas Coffin and P. Power, members of Parliament for Nova Scotia, are at Sweeny's Hotel.

Ex-Governor Fletcher, of Missouri, is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

General W. Q. Gresham, of Indiana, is at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Prominent Departures.

Count Zwikywiski, Secretary to the Russian Legation at Washington, and Nathaniel McKay, for Boston; Major General Heintzelman for Englewood.

Captain Abner Mellen, of General Varian's staff, and party, start to-day on an equestrian tour through the White Mountains.

General Sickles, Minister to Spain, and his family, and George Wilkes, Editor of The Spirit of the Times, sailed yesterday for Europe in the steamship Union.

The New Labor Movement—The Chinese in the South.

Progress is the watchword of the grand movements which are now spreading throughout all the ramifications of society in the Old World and the New. In peace and war, in sunshine and storm, in the midst of physical, political and religious convulsions, progress is the irresistible law of civilization. It is at once the motive and the object of the strange restlessness which is agitating vast populations in Europe and in Asia and driving them to seek in the two Americas, that now form the new centre of the world, incalculable resources of sustenance, wealth and power for at least thirty-six hundred million inhabitants.

We seem to have reached a period in many respects similar to those diverse epochs in the history of the distribution of human races over the surface of the globe when great migrations have taken place and the inhabitants of one climate have been visited, if not overwhelmed, by a mysterious influx of inhabitants of some other climate. As at the creation the spirit of God moved over the face of the waters, so at these epochs the spirit of man has moved over the face of the earth. It has impelled numerous tribes and whole nations across plains, mountains, rivers and even oceans, and deposited them in regions far remote from their original birth place. We lately referred to the extraordinary statistics of European immigration to the United States during the past fifty years, and particularly to the recent startling increase of Swedish emigration to this country, as forcibly illustrating this point.

It is likely to be illustrated still more forcibly and on a grander scale by Chinese immigration, which within a very few years has brought to our shores at least two hundred thousand Mongolians. Notwithstanding the restraints to which it has been subjected—in the first place by the Chinese government, and in the next place by the absurd and cruel legislation of California—this immigration is daily increasing. An intelligent writer in the July number of the Galaxy says that, with an emigration from China standing in the same ratio to the home population that the drain from Germany holds to the population of that country, we should have an influx of more than one million Chinese yearly. "Ten years of this rate would place upon our soil a preponderance of male adults of Mongolian blood over those of all the other families of man among us." This is surely an astounding prospect.

Aside from all other problems suggested by it, Chinese immigration is manifestly inaugurating a new labor movement of immense importance. The single fact that the Pacific Railroad has been built by Asiatic labor is pregnant with significance. By this fact the Chinese have earned their title to recognition as a necessary element for the development of the resources of the far West. California is beginning to repent of her suicidal policy towards them. As this policy is gradually modified her material prosperity is advanced. The Chinese, we are informed, are found now in woollen, paper and powder mills; in the borax works, in the hop plantations, fruit orchards and vineyards; following the reaping machines on farms and working the salt pits on the coast; doing almost universally the cooking, and engaged in hundreds of branches of industry that would be impossible without their cheap labor.

But even if California should persistently enforce her inhuman laws against the Chinese, what would be her inevitable loss might prove a great gain to the rest of the country. Asiatic labor might extend more rapidly along the line of the Pacific Railroad until by its unsurpassed perseverance, ingenuity and thrift it should irrigate and fertilize even our great American desert, make our mountain wildernesses blossom like the rose, drain malarious districts, build up such dykes to prevent the overflow of the Mississippi as their earliest ancestors built to control their own more unmanageable Yellow river; develop to a degree now undreamed of the productiveness of the entire valley of the Mississippi; find their way into every branch of industry and trade, even in our Middle and Northern States; and especially solve the problem of elevating the Southern States to higher prosperity than was ever attained before the war.

The Chinese alone retain their innate energy beneath tropical suns. Their ultimate destiny may be to reclaim all the vast areas of tropical lands, insular and continental, which have hitherto been, comparatively speaking, a closed world. Meanwhile plenty of land and plenty of work can be found for them in our Southern States. We hail, therefore, with satisfaction the welcome which the Southern planters are about to offer to Chinese immigrants. A convention has been called, to meet at Memphis on the 13th of July, for the special encouragement of Chinese immigration. It will be composed of delegates from all parts of the South, particularly from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee. It is expected, moreover, that Koopmanshaaf, one of the principal Chinese contractors at San Francisco, who has already brought fifty thousand of his countrymen to America, will be present at the convention, and will unfold his plans for organizing a mighty scheme of direct immigration to the South. We shall look upon the presence of Koopmanshaaf at such a convention as an event of historical moment. If Sambo will insist on turning office-seeker, and will not work, the sooner John Chinaman takes his place the better.

"PEACE HATH HER VICTORIES NO LESS RENOWNED THAN WAR."—New cantata by Jubilee Gilmore. His benefit concert realized over twenty thousand dollars, which, with his twenty-five thousand dollar gift house, will do pretty well.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF A COMMON MISFORTUNE.—The grain dealers in Chicago and other Western grain marts have taken advantage of the recent deluge in some of the Western States and the supposed prospective injury to the wheat crop to send up the price of grain, and, of course, the price of flour must be enhanced in a still greater ratio. The rise, however, must only be temporary, for the Southern wheat crop is not only beyond danger, but a good deal of it is already in market. The bulls in the grain markets are straining every nerve to appreciate prices in view of the extraordinary yield of wheat and corn betokened in every part of the country.

The News from Cuba and the Cuban Question.

We publish to-day very interesting advices from Cuba by letter and telegram. The course of the revolution runs on without any remarkable event to hasten the result, and disease among the troops and volunteers is beginning to play the same part with the Spanish forces in the field which it did a few years since during the Spanish invasion of St. Domingo, when thirty thousand men were sacrificed for an idea that, after all, was never vindicated. Our letters from Havana bear date previous to the recent arrival of General Rodas, and besides bearing witness to the taming of the rebellious spirit of the volunteers they make mention of two very important points—the admitted need at every point under insurrection of large reinforcements to the troops, and the approach of an insurgent body to Colon, the centre of the great slave district of the island, and distant but little over one hundred miles from Havana.

Our telegraphic advices give the report of an American engineer from Puerto Principe, near which place General Quesada is operating. He reports that the operations of both sides are trivial in results, but the patriots are becoming bolder and more active—a fact which the Spaniards attribute to the presence of Americans among them. Disease is doing its work among the Spanish troops in garrisons there, while the feeling of terror among the people was inducing many to flee the island. According to this report the Spanish officers in the field state that reinforcements to the extent of forty thousand men are required to put down the revolution. This number Spain is ill able to send, with her exhausted exchequer and her own troubles at home with the democratic pact of Tortosa, the Carlists and the numerous opponents of the new régime. At Santiago an American sailor named Speekman, who had formed one of the crew of the schooner Grapeshot, had been captured and shot. The matter has been represented to the government at Washington.

Thus we see that the Cuban question grows in complication and importance, while the administration is likely to have its hands full with the proceedings against the Cuban Junta and the filibusters here. In view of the trouble these are giving the government, and the fizzle of their late attempt to circumvent the law, probably the best thing they can do is to take a new departure with fresh men at the lead. Señor Morales Lemus, with Goicouria, Ryan & Co., are likely to keep the officers of Spain and our own pretty busy, and a new organization here, leading off quietly in another direction, would be able to do much good to their cause. At the same time they could assist the new negotiations which it is whispered Spain is willing to enter upon. The progress that Cespedes and Quesada are making in Cuba, with disease as their ally against Spain, and a few hundred experienced Americans to inspire their movements, indicate that the Cuban republic will soon need new men here for diplomatic purposes.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—The report of the Treasury Department for the month of June exhibits a still further decrease of the debt of the nation, the reduction during the thirty days amounting to $16,410,132; making the aggregate decrease since the 1st of March, three months inclusive, foot up $36,640,799. This is very gratifying.

THE FRENCH TRANSATLANTIC CABLE.—Communication by signal through the French Atlantic cable from on board the Great Eastern to the shore end station at Minon, near Brest, and vice versa, was interrupted about nine o'clock Wednesday morning, and has not, so far as we have heard to the present hour, been restored. The electricians in charge of the wire report that there is no reason for alarm, the delay in signalling being, as supposed, caused merely by the occurrence of one of those "kinks" or rope snarls which produced so many alternations of feeling between hope and dread of failure during the progress of the work of submerging the cable now in use. The French cable has been, it is thought, cut and buoyed in shoal water, so as to effect the removal of the faulty part, if there be any, or to straighten it out if necessary. Sir Wm. Thomson telegraphs from France that the exact reason of the interruption was not known. We sincerely hope that it may prove to be only trivial and temporary, and that the great undertaking will proceed to a successful completion.

THE NUISANCES OF THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—On every side our ears are saluted with the preliminary poppings of the glorious Fourth of July. We do not know that any amendment has been made to the constitution by which these nuisances have been extended over the preceding week, and we think they should be stopped. If the police cannot control the boys they can control the innumerable itinerant sellers on the streets, who not only supply the boys with torpedoes, Chinese crackers and other appliances to make the community uncomfortable and delight the sneak thieves with hopes of fire, but who also keep up a continual noise by way of announcing their dangerous wares. They should be stopped, and we look to the police to compress the Fourth of July into that portion of the almanac that legitimately belongs to it.

A NEAT BIT OF DIPLOMACY.—General Sickles, at his public reception on Wednesday evening, in the course of "a few remarks," said in reference to his mission to Spain:—"I shall try to do my duty. That duty will be to obey the orders of my government and to faithfully represent its policy in Spain, our oldest ally, our earliest friend, who has honored herself by her noble efforts during the past year to place her government upon the sure and safe foundations of constitutional liberty." Surely after this Marshal Serrano will dismiss all apprehensions touching the mission of General Sickles, for even in this little speech he doubtless spoke by authority.

POSTAL TELEGRAPHS.—The California Democratic State Convention, in session in Sacramento, adopted a resolution condemnatory of the present tariff charge rates for telegraphing made by one of the large corporations, as well as of monopolies in general in such direction. They advocate a reform by the legalizing of a postal telegraph system. California is on the right track. She has the Pacific Railroad, and wants an efficient, well regulated telegraph.

The New Irish-American Movement.

The president of the Irish Republican Association of Pennsylvania (Mr. Moriarty) is out with a card cautioning the members against an apprehended packing of their general convention, which is to assemble at Chicago on the 4th inst., with Irish democrats, and says that the objects of the convention are universal suffrage, protection to American industry, attachment to the Union and the social and political elevation of the Irish race. This is a republican movement for the Irish vote; but why is it feared that the democrats will attempt to pack the convention? It is because of this protection of American industry. The democratic party is coming out for free trade; and free trade will open our markets to English manufacturers at cheaper rates than our own factories can produce the same articles. "Very well," says the democrat, "shall the masses of the people be forever taxed to keep up our home manufactures and to enrich these monopolies?" But what will be the retort of the republican to the Irish-American? "Will you, Irishmen, go for free trade when its sure effects will be at the expense of American industry, to enrich the manufacturers of England, and so from this country to strengthen the British despotism over Ireland?" This Irish republican movement, then, on protection to American industry, is a shrewd device, and will be apt to make a sensation in the general reorganization of our political issues and parties for 1872.

The Close of the Fiscal Year—The Government Finances.

Yesterday was the government New Year's, the previous day, June 30, being the close of the fiscal year. The vast array of clerks at the various departments at Washington are busily at work closing up accounts and striking the balances of the business of the government for the past twelve months. Some of the results are already arrived at. The total receipts from revenue and customs were over three hundred and forty million dollars—a sum much larger than predicted—showing the success which has attended the reforming of the odious features of the tax laws. The expenses of the government during the same period will not be known for a few days, as the arithmetical labor connected with their preparation enforces delay; but they are estimated at three hundred and twenty-five million dollars, so that Secretary Boutwell will have a large surplus with which to carry out the Sinking Fund law. With this flattering intelligence comes the monthly statement of the national debt, showing a reduction of over sixteen million dollars for the month of June.

The following table shows the receipts of the government in each of the following fiscal years, ending on the 30th of June:—

	Internal Revenue.	Customs.	Total.
1866.....	$309,226,813	$179,048,651	$488,273,464
1867.....	266,027,537	176,417,810	442,445,347
1868.....	191,087,589	164,464,599	355,552,188
1869.....	158,237,176	182,000,000	340,287,176

GENERAL PRIM assures the Spaniards that the government will "never attempt a coup d'etat." Why mention such a contingency?

THE COTTON CROP.—While the cotton spinners of England are holding meetings and passing resolutions to the effect that the cotton fields of America cannot fully supply the demand for the raw material, and in consequence are urging the encouragement of the growth of the staple in the East Indies, our Southern planters are indulging the hope that the present season will prove the most remarkable one as regards cotton production that has ever occurred in this country. The Southern States are capable of raising cotton enough to supply the markets of the world, and as soon as the labor problem is definitely settled, either by the blacks going voluntarily and vigorously to work or by the substitution of European and Asiatic labor, this will be demonstrated to the satisfaction of every cotton spinner in Europe or America.

BRIGHT AND FOSTER.—What is the matter? John Bright is a Quaker. So is W. E. Foster. In spite of their Quakerism they have both forced themselves into prominent positions in connection with the Gladstone administration. They were both members of the Reform Club. They have retired from that club, says the cable, because the club refuses to elect as honorary member a gentleman whose name they had proposed. Was this gentleman a Quaker? We are not told. If our suspicions are well grounded Quakerism has had nothing to do with this matter. Bright and Foster are advanced liberals—a little too far advanced for the Reform Club. The Reform Club is a whiggish concern, and the whigs are nearly as conservative as the tories. If liberalism be the source and cause of this trouble we may rest assured John Bright will have his revenge. It is not wise of the landowners to provoke the wrath of the great tribune of the people. This little affair is interesting from its probable results.

THE LORDS AND THE IRISH CHURCH BILL.—After all this Irish Church bill seems safe in the House of Lords. The amendments offered by Lord Lifford, Earl Russell, Lord Redesdale and Baron Westbury, taken in connection with the previous feeling on the subject, seemed to indicate a terrific storm and very stubborn resistance. The storm does not appear to have been so alarming nor the resistance so stubborn after all. An insignificant amendment was carried on Wednesday night—an amendment which in no way affects the character of the bill; but the clauses from number two to twelve were afterwards agreed to without discussion. The preamble of the bill has been reserved for future discussion; but unless something quite unforeseen transpires the bill will be read a third time and passed before the present session comes to a close. If such proves to be the fact Mr. Gladstone will have gained a victory which will be without precedent in the annals of parliamentary government. It is the first time that so grand and sweeping a reform has been achieved without revolution.

NITRO-GLYCERINE AGAIN.—An explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred in Wales yesterday. It was produced by concussion incident to the cartage of the material towards quarries near Carnarvon. Four men, with the horses employed, were blown to atoms, a railway station building was torn down and a village distant one-fourth of a mile much shaken. Is such an agent worth the risks incurred by its use?

THE NEW ASSISTANT UNITED STATES TREASURER.

Installation of General Butterfield—Valedictory of Mr. Van Dyck—Remarks of His Successor.

At a little after nine o'clock yesterday morning the force of employés in the Sub-Treasury to the number of sixty-seven, including heads and assistant heads of division, assembled in the rotunda of the building on Pine street to hear the valedictory remarks of the retiring Assistant Treasurer, Mr. Van Dyck, and to open acquaintance with his successor, General Butterfield.

Mr. Van Dyck said:—Gentlemen, I have come to bid you farewell and to express how grateful I feel to all of you here present for the faithful and generous aid you have invariably rendered to my administration of the affairs of this department. My connection with you has been of some considerable length, but marked throughout by recollections of a pleasant and satisfactory nature. Your duties in many instances were of an arduous and important character, but I fail to remember that I ever had occasion to remark a case of neglect or inattention to duty. In taking my final leave, however, the emotion of regret at parting with so many familiar faces is pleasingly qualified by the thought that I hand over the affairs of this department to one in whom you will find all those qualities of mind and heart that combine to secure an honorable appreciation and an affectionate esteem among men. I have now the very great pleasure of introducing to you General Butterfield, whose services in the field in the cause of the Union neither history nor his countrymen will soon forget. In the duties upon which he now enters I have no doubt whatever that the same high ability which marked his military career will be as fully illustrated in this more peaceful scene of labor.

General Butterfield here came forward and said:—I feel highly complimented by the remarks of my worthy and respected friend and predecessor, and I trust that you will have no reason to find that I fall very greatly below the standard he has erected for me. The complimentary remarks he has made in reference to yourselves is sufficient guarantee and encouragement for me that the same fidelity and generous assistance that have characterized your connection with him will enable me to discharge to the best of my humble ability the duties of this position. Mutual aid, freely and ungrudgingly rendered, makes the relations between those who have a common business to perform agreeable and happy. My aim shall be, while zealously performing the duty I have been assigned to discharge, to cultivate none but feelings of courtesy and kindness with those who are here united with me in the Sub-Treasury of the United States.

Mr. Van Dyck then introduced the following heads of division:—W. H. Ferris, E. H. Birdsall, C. H. Patterson, P. C. Field, C. H. Cady, P. H. Bowne, D. Wilson, W. Sherer; assistant heads of division, C. F. Gulick, A. L. Weaver, W. Brewer; and then the General was made acquainted with the rest of the employés, after which, in company with Mr. Van Dyck, he proceeded to his private office and entered upon the duties of the department.

At ten o'clock the doors were opened to admit the crowd outside waiting to get their coupons cashed. The rush was something like a holiday night at a theatre; but the officials in the building were numerous and skilful enough to prevent any awkward jams or bruises.

THE OCEAN BANK ROBBERY.

Fully $200,000 Still Missing.

No new revelations in the Ocean Bank robbery were made yesterday calculated to fix the offence upon any particular parties.

In addition to the $268,000 recovered by the police, it is known that fully $200,000 are still unaccounted for by persons who have made their losses known. A number of sufferers who had deposits in the institution have carefully abstained from reporting the amount to the bank, and consequently the exact value of the property carried off cannot be stated, but it will not likely fall short of half a million. In the newspapers of yesterday advertisements appeared offering rewards of twenty-five per cent for four different lots of securities, amounting in the aggregate to $135,000. It is understood that $75,000 of this sum was lost by Mr. Lilienthal, tobacconist; $15,000 by Harrison Reed, and $25,000 by a gentleman of wealth who has taken care to keep his name from the public in the transactions of the bank. The statement having been made that the Irving National Bank was a heavy sufferer the officers have published a denial of any such losses.

The Board of Directors of the bank have offered a reward of $25,000 for the arrest of the guilty parties. As they profess to have suffered to the extent of from $20,000 to $25,000 only, this liberal reward has excited considerable comment and is generally looked upon as indicating that either the bank has sustained losses that the officers have feared to divulge, or, being very sure that they will never be called upon to pay the amount offered, they put forth the card to impress the public with their sympathy for depositors.

There are very few persons who believe that the Superintendent of Police has given to the public a faithful and full statement of the manner in which the restoration was made. That the box was sent to Captain Jourdan is certain, and that it contained the sum named is equally certain; but the general impression is that but half the story has been told; that if the facts were known the box was deposited on Elizabeth street in accordance with a previous agreement entered into between the thieves and some person having sufficient influence to guarantee them protection from punishment. Nobody connects Captain Jourdan with any such compromise; but the air is filled with strange whispers of ugly compromises, and the Superintendent of Police is believed to be in a position to throw some light on the case if he choose so to do. His action in the entire case is severely criticised. When called upon by the bank officials it is known that he recommended them to employ private detectives, naming a party, promising them at the same time the assistance of his detectives. In this action he has seriously annoyed the Board of Police, who look upon it as an admission by the Superintendent that his officers are unequal to accomplish the arrest and conviction of the thieves, or that he does not desire their arrest.

The chief of detectives, Mr. Kelso, and his assistants, notwithstanding the singular recommendation of their Superintendent, are exerting themselves to unravel the mystery of the burglary, and for once they have been put upon their mettle. They say but little; but enough has leaked out to show that the force do not appreciate the compliment the Superintendent has paid them for energy and sagacity, and are not likely soon to forget it. The recommendation of the Superintendent to employ private parties has so scandalized the force that the Commissioners yesterday contemplated taking action to rebuke him had not one of their number been suddenly called away.

THE LATE REVOLT AT SING SING PRISON.

In connection with the seizure of a sloop by convicts last Wednesday morning—the particulars of which appeared in the HERALD of yesterday—it is asserted that had the keeper who was in charge of the revolters performed his duty promptly the vessel could not have been removed from her dock. When the preconcerted moment for action had arrived, and while five of the convicts were in the hold of the sloop, the apparent ringleader, a notorious fellow named Watson, unhesitatingly proceeded, in full view of his keeper, to cut the hawser with a shoeknife. The last named party drew his revolver and ordered him to desist or he would blow his brains out. To this Watson replied, "You go to h—ll," and in a moment afterwards the rope was severed. As an excuse for stepping ashore and abandoning the men over whom he was placed, on seeing the vessel move off from the dock, the timid keeper pleaded that the convicts drove him ashore under penalty of death if he remained; but this did not save him from immediate discharge. This brave (?) man, who, according to his own statement, was threatened with bodily harm, turned his back to the unarmed fugitives while the chambers of his revolver contained a bullet for every convict on board. The man Watson, who held the helm of the sloop, after directing her a few hundred yards from the dock, and while surrounded with flying bullets, defied and abused the guards and keepers, who were each endeavoring to bring him down. Drake, the convict, who was shot while trying single-handed to hoist a sail on the sloop, felt somewhat easier yesterday; but the prison physician believes that his wound is mortal. Although four of the convicts found in the hold of the vessel deny having had any participation in her seizure, Drake has since stated that all were alike guilty.

EXTENSIVE FIRE AT TARRYTOWN.

Shortly after ten o'clock last Wednesday evening, a fire broke out in the block of three story buildings on the corner of Main and Water streets, in this village, which in a few hours consumed the entire block, with two houses on Water street, in all valued at not less than $30,000. The origin of the fire is at present unknown. Some five or six families lived in the upper portion of the building, and it is thought that a kerosene lamp exploded in one of the rooms. As there is no fire engine in the village little or nothing could be done to stay the progress of the flames, which licked up the buildings so rapidly that their occupants had barely time to escape in their night-clothing. The principal losses are as follows:—J. L. Wigant, baker, loss on stock $1,300, insured in the Putnam Insurance Company for $1,000; William Vighoni, upholsterer, entire stock destroyed, loss $2,000, no insurance; Mrs. E. L. Freeland, milliner, damage to stock $2,000, fully insured in the Cleveland Insurance Company; B. Damman, cigar maker, loss on house and stock $4,500, insured for $3,000, principally in the Yonkers and New York Insurance Company; Benjamin Meeker, house on Water street, $3,000, no insurance. Of the Main street block four houses were owned by Mrs. J. Q. Fowler, valued at about $10,000, on which there was $7,000 insurance in the Yonkers and New York Insurance Company. The other building was owned by Mrs. A. Foster, and was valued at $8,000, on which there was an insurance of $5,000 in the Yonkers and New York Insurance Company. It is believed that had the wind changed during the fire the entire lower portion of the village must have been destroyed.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 1, 1869.

Georgetown College Commencement.

The fifty-second annual commencement of the Georgetown College took place to-day. During the delivery of an oration by S. R. Mallory, Jr., on the subject of the French Revolution, President Grant, accompanied by his Assistant Private Secretary, R. M. Douglas, appeared at the door and was welcomed by the President of the College, who conducted him to a front seat, while the band played "Hail to the Chief" and a portion of the audience rose to do him honor. The President subsequently handed their diplomas to the graduates and the medals, &c., to the prize students of the other classes.

The degree of Master in Arts, in course, was conferred on Luis de Puebla, of Mexico. The honorary degreee of Master of Arts was conferred on Johnson Eliot, M. D., of the District of Columbia; Theodore H. Franklin, of Virginia; George A. Pitch, M. D., of West Virginia; Ernest Legarde, of Louisiana; Don José Antonio de Antonio, of Spain; Valentine McNally, M. D., of Connecticut; Frank Neale, of Texas. The degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred:—First, Henry M. Russell, of West Virginia; second, Walter R. Abell, of Maryland; third, Harry Walters, of Maryland; fourth, Sands W. Foreman, of California; fifth, Stephen R. Mallory, Jr., of Florida; sixth, James V. Coleman, of New York. After the distribution of the prizes President Bernard A. Maguire, S. J. S., made a brief address, at the conclusion of which he announced that a chair of English literature would be established in this college at the opening of the fall term.

It was expected that ex-President Johnson, one of whose sons is a pupil of the preparatory school, would be present, and a seat was accordingly reserved for him next that of President Grant. Owing to a detention Mr. Johnson did not reach the grounds, however, until the exercises were just closing.

Improved System of Mail Service.

To-day the mails on two thousand routes, directly under charge of the Contract Bureau of the Post Office Department, were started on a new term of service. Postmaster General Creswell has introduced an entire new system of surveillance, which this morning, the first day of the fiscal year, went into operation, over States by divisions and districts, embracing every post office and every mail route in the land, and so connected that in a short space of time the efforts and energies of two or three divisions can be combined in the suppression of wrong doing, or in promoting the interests of the department under any emergency.

MOVEMENTS OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.

Yesterday afternoon Vice President Colfax and wife arrived by rail at Irvington on the Hudson, where they were met by Moses H. Grinnell, at whose residence, it is understood, they will remain for a short time.

DEPARTURE OF GENERAL SICKLES.

Major General Daniel E. Sickles, administration appointee as Minister to Spain, sailed yesterday afternoon in the Union, of the New York and Bremen line, and will proceed directly to Madrid. The party en voyage consists of the distinguished Minister, Mrs. Sickles, his mother; Miss Sickles, daughter of the General; Major Raphael and Major De Pevster, and Mr. A. A. Adde, the Minister's private secretary. Colonel John Hay, regularly appointed Secretary of Legation, is not of the party, and will not sail until the 10th inst., joining the legation at Madrid.

There was no demonstration, demonstration having been already exhausted and having gone to bed in the morning after a night of it. The party was escorted to the steamer by the members of the General's staff and a few military friends, with a select few political friends and a host of civilians, though, perhaps, it is not worth while to say that the latter ignored the party exactly. They simply put in an appearance to see the distinguished gentleman on board, those who were acquainted indulging in the luxury of a parting hand-shake; those who were not looking as if they would like to have done so. George Wilkes, Mr. Andrews one of the earlier in the Grant movement as a republican movement in this city and other prominent republicans were present, and took leave of the General on board, with the exception of Mr. Wilkes, who accompanies him to Europe, though not as one of the party. For the rest—the hoi polloi, as the Greeks used to call them; the vermin, as Monseigneur of France called them before the days of the revolution—for their benefit a sort of informal reception was improvised on deck; and thus were they afforded a parting look at the once distinguished hero, now distinguished diplomatic appointee.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE SINKING FUND.

A Nut for the Excise Board to Crack.

At the meeting of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund held yesterday at the Comptroller's office a large amount of routine business was transacted, after which came up a discussion in relation to the amount received for license fees by the Board of Excise. After a short conversation and discussion the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Excise Board be notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, after a full investigation of the legal questions involved by the appropriation made for the various purposes by the Legislature out of the excise license fees, have unanimously agreed at the conclusion that the entire excise fees are pledged to the revenues of the city and county of New York for the redemption of the city debt, and that therefore the said Treasurer is respectfully advised that for any diversions of any part of said fund from said revenues, he will be held responsible, and that he be requested to account for all of said fees to the City Chamberlain.

The Commissioners then adjourned.

Report of an American Engineer—Condition of Affairs in Principe—Disease Among the Troops—Forty Thousand Recruits Wanted—Attempt on the Town—An American Sailor Shot at Santiago.

HAVANA, June 30, via KEY WEST, July 1, 1869.

An American engineer from Puerto Principe has arrived here via Nuevitas, which place he left on the 24th, and makes the following statement of affairs in and around the former city. He left Puerto Principe on the 17th.

At that time trivial results had been attained by the operations in that vicinity. The condition of the troops in garrison was dreadful, and their numbers were subject to constant depletion from casualties and disease. The hospitals were full, with an average of ten deaths a day.

On the 14th a foraging party had left the city, 150 strong, but were driven in and forty of them were sent to the hospital sick.

On the 18th a few patriots entered the city in disguise and tried to capture a sentinel, but were discovered and retreated with a loss of two.

On the 22d the patriots captured a detachment of 105 regulars at the first station from Principe.

The regiment of Catalan volunteers had lost 200 from sickness.

General Quesada, commander-in-chief of the patriots, was in the vicinity, and had become more active and bolder in his operations. The Spaniards attribute the recent successes of the patriots to the presence of Americans among them.

They admit that 40,000 more troops are required, and they expected large reinforcements to arrive with General Rodas.

The garrison in Principe are disheartened, while the Cubans are in terror and fleeing to the United States.

Advices from Santiago to the 23d states that an American named Speckman, who was one of the crew of the Grapeshot and was captured on shore, had been shot. He claimed that he had been deceived when he shipped, was forcibly detained when landing, and surrendered to the troops after skirmishing. When he was taken to Santiago the Consul endeavored to save him and asked for a delay of the execution to enable him to present proofs, which was refused. The matter has been represented to our government.

ENGLAND.

The Lord Mayor's Banquet to the Ministers—The Premier on the Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The Lord Mayor gave a banquet to her Majesty's Ministers last night at the Mansion House. Mr. Gladstone was present and made a speech, in which he alluded to the Irish Church bill. He said the government had bestowed its best endeavors on the conduct of the measure, which formed a vital and essential portion of its work for the peace of Ireland and the security of the empire. Since the bill passed the House of Commons there had been great excitement, rumors of reaction and threatenings of its speedy doom. During this excitement he and his colleagues remained in a state of great tranquillity; for they felt that the review of their work was not a matter to arouse their jealousy, but was rather calculated to create satisfaction. Although great care had been bestowed on the bill, no doubt it still had many faults. The Premier concluded as follows:—"We shall be grateful for every improvement, and all changes shall be respectfully considered, subject to the position in which we stand—to words spoken and pledges given, and to the commission we have received. We tendered the terms of the covenant when in opposition, and shall not forget them when in power."

Amendments to the Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

In the House of Lords, to-night, the consideration of the Irish Church bill was resumed in committee. Clauses 11, 12, 13 and 14 were agreed to without amendment, except as to the date when the property of the Church shall pass into the hands of the commissioners, which was changed from January 1, 1871, to January 1, 1872.

It was promised, on the part of the government, that an additional clause should be framed, providing that the Irish bishops may retain their seats in the House of Lords.

The Bishop of Peterborough's amendment, that all compensation be paid without deduction therefrom of the income tax, was adopted by a vote of 95 to 50.

Clauses fifteen, sixteen, seventeen and eighteen were then agreed to, and the consideration of clauses nineteen, twenty, twenty-one and twenty-two was postponed.

Lord Carnarvon's amendment, fixing the commutation of life interests at fourteen years' purchase, was adopted.

The visit of the Viceroy of Egypt has terminated. His Highness left this morning for the Continent.

Meeting of Confederate Bondholders.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

Another meeting of the holders of Confederate bonds was held this evening. Admiral Warren, who presided, said he considered the position of the bondholders better even than if the late convention between England and America had been ratified, for their claims were now to be adjudicated upon.

The deputy chairman read a report, detailing what had been done in prosecuting the claims and explaining the present aspect of the case. He said they were not fighting their own but the battles of all those whose interests might be affected by changes of government, the principle involved being the inviolability of contracts made by de facto governments. The decision of Baron Hatherley, the Lord Chancellor, was in their favor, and he believed a court of equity would adjudicate the amount of cotton claimed, which would make the bonds valuable.

Resolutions protesting against Mr. Sumner's speech and authorizing a petition to Parliament were read, but were not put to a vote, and without taking action the meeting adjourned.

LIVERPOOL, July 1, 1869.

The races were continued to-day. The Liverpool Cup of 200 sovereigns, in specie, added to a subscription of twenty-five sovereigns each, was won by Mr. Bowes' b. c. The Spy, four years old, by three-quarters of a length, from Mr. Sheldon's br. h. Fortunio, five years, second, who finished a length and a half ahead of Mr. T. Bussey's bl. g. Sportsman, six years, third. Two others were not placed. The betting was even on The Spy, three to one against Fortunio, and eight to one against Sportsman.

The Stamford Plate (handicap) of eighty sovereigns, for all ages, was won by Mr. Foy's Patrician, four years, beating Mr. Barber's Pantaloon, aged, second, and Mr. J. Johnstone's Good Hope, three years, third. No others ran. The betting was 3 to 1 on Patrician, 4 to 1 against Pantaloon, and 10 to 1 against Good Hope.

Fearful Explosion in Wales—Several Lives Lost—A New Telegraph to Norway.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

A fearful disaster occurred at Carnarvon, Wales, to-day. During the cartage of some packages of nitro-glycerine from the harbor to the quarries, the material exploded on the way, and the cart, horses and men attending them were blown to atoms. A railway station near the scene of the explosion was torn to pieces. A village about a quarter of a mile distant was much damaged by the shock, which caused great consternation among the inhabitants. Four men were killed by the explosion.

A telegraph cable has been successfully laid between Peterhead, Scotland, and the coast of Norway.

THE FRENCH ATLANTIC CABLE.

Some Serious Interruption.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The papers of this city publish the following intelligence to-day:—

The following despatches have been received from Captain Sherard Osborn, who is at Minou, the shore end of the new French cable, near Brest:—

BREST, June 30, 1869.

This morning, at nine o'clock, Greenwich time, the Great Eastern telegraphed to us:—

"We are going to cut the cable and buoy."

This has evidently been done, for no signals have passed since. A careful watch is being kept for a renewal of the signals. The first sign of something being wrong in the electrical condition of the cable occurred early this morning, but nothing of a definite character until the above message reached us. We had a very long message at thirty-four minutes past eleven, Greenwich time, last night from the Great Eastern, at which time the signals were reported by Mr. May to be most perfect. I see no reason for the slightest alarm at what the Great Eastern is doing. It was evident from the resistance of the gutta percha reported last night that the slight fault of the 25th was improving. Mr. May agrees with me in thinking that they have buoyed the cable in shoal water, and are returning to remove the fault. The delay is the only inconvenience.

The following has been received from Sir W. Thomson:—

MINOU, June 30, 1869.

I arrived here from Brest with Captain Osborn at noon. A telegram from Mr. Gooch, dated at nine o'clock this morning, Greenwich time, awaited him, saying that they intended to cut and buoy the cable. This has probably been done, as no signals have come since then. We do not know the reason. The tests here up to half-past six o'clock, Greenwich time, gave no cause for suspicion.

Landing of Cuban Political Prisoners at Fernando Po.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The mail steamer Mandingo has arrived from the west coast of Africa.

She reports the arrival of the Spanish steamer Borja at Fernando Po with 250 political prisoners from Havana. The prisoners complained that they were badly treated on the voyage, especially by the volunteers on guard over them. They also complained of the high price of provisions at the settlement. As soon as they landed the island was placed under martial law, and while the steamer Mandingo was there communication with the shore, unless by special permission of the Governor, was prohibited.

KANSAS.

Destructive Freshets—Great Loss of Life and Property—Continued Rush of Immigrants.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 1, 1869.

Advices from Kansas in regard to the late storm and freshets in that State say that in the neighborhood of Junction City and west of there the flood is reported greater than any other since the settlement of the State. Bridges have been carried away, houses destroyed and many lives lost. The greatest disaster occurred at Chapman's creek, thirteen miles west of Junction City, where several houses were washed away and thirteen persons known to be drowned. It is supposed that a number of others have perished. The rising of the streams was so sudden and unexpected that before the residents in the valleys were aware of the danger their dwellings were surrounded with water and all chance of escape cut off. It was reported that numbers had escaped by climbing trees, and in that situation were awaiting the decline of the flood. At Manhattan fourteen dead bodies had been seen to pass floating down the Blue river.

A despatch from Topeka, Kansas, says $210,500 worth of Pottawatamie lands have been sold during the past month, mostly to actual settlers. The run of immigration continues as great as ever and property is constantly advancing. A careful estimate shows at least 1,000 new settlers coming into Kansas daily.

Receipt of Immense Herds of Texas Cattle—Loss of Life by the Freshet.

ELLSWORTH, July 1, 1869.

Two thousand head of Texas cattle arrived here yesterday. Drovers report that 50,000 head are now north of the Arkansas river, en route to this point for sale and shipment. It is estimated that 70,000 head will come here during the season.

No mails or trains from the East have arrived here since Friday last. There has been great destruction by the freshet to the bridges and track of the Kansas Pacific Railroad from the Solomon river to Manhattan, and thirty lives are reported to have been lost.

The Indians are going to their reservations and submitting to the new policy of the government.

EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

Serenade of the Ex-President—A Speech of Characteristic Spiciness—Congress, Grant and the Radicals Raked—The Constitution Again—Enthusiasm of a Large Assemblage.

WASHINGTON, July 1, 1869.

A large crowd assembled before the Metropolitan Hotel to-night on the occasion of a serenade to ex-President Johnson. The band having played a tune Mr. Jonhson appeared on the balcony and was received with applause. Mr. John E. Norris, of Washington, introduced him as having been known for many years as the great champion of democracy of the United States, and as having fought many battles and won many a victory in behalf of constitutional freedom.

Ex-President Johnson then climbed over a rail and took his stand near the reporters' table on the balcony. He was again greeted with applause.

He said it was not his purpose to make a speech, but merely to tender his thanks for this cordial welcome on his return to Washington. It was not necessary for him on this occasion to recapitulate or rehearse the arguments he had heretofore made in behalf of the people and in behalf of those great principles which should be maintained and preserved by those calling themselves free, patriotic and intelligent. In taking the stand he did he believed he was doing his duty. (Applause.) He had tried to act on principle and in vindication of principle. He had collected facts and arguments which in times gone by were considered unanswerable and irresistible. They had been presented for the consideration of Congress and the country, but it appeared they did not avail much during the time he had presented them. However, in his politics, as in his religion, when his facts gave out and his reasons failed him, he drew pretty largely on his faith, and his faith was yet strong and unbroken. The time would come, and that ere long, when the American people will be aroused to the importance and high sense of preserving the great principles which have been overslaughed and trampled under foot so long. He would say, Let us have faith. He believed the gleam of the morning of redemption could now be seen. He thought it was coming, when the constitution of our fathers would be restored. It was not necessary for him to call the attention of this intelligent audience to the struggles and contest transpiring within the last four years. It was not necessary for him to point their attention to the judicial department of the government to show that under the domination of an usurping Congress that even the judiciary of the country was made to quail and shrink before it. (Applause.) It was not necessary to turn attention to the other end of the avenue—(cries of "Hear, hear")—nor was it necessary to do more than point to the tyrannical body called "Congress," which attempted to absorb every single power of the President. He had called them "tyrants" standing with the mailed heel of power on all the necks of the freemen of the United States, endeavoring to blot out the lines which separated the States, to wipe out the other two co-ordinate branches of the government, and in this Congress stood omnipotent. I tell you here, my countrymen, he said, that if I were compelled to make a choice (and thank God I am not so compelled as yet) I would take one individual who was honest, wise, patriotic and just as my ruler or master in preference to a Congress so usurping, capricious and corrupt. (A voice—"That's so," and applause.) Let us talk about these things as they are. We even find a difference among them as to whether they would take such a government as an omnipotent Congress would impose or an imperial government. Such feelers have been sent out. They wish to develop what sentiment there is in the country. Take a paper, especially in New York, in which, no doubt, is the emanation and reflection of a certain combination of individuals, some of them perhaps, residing in Washington, and when we turn to the title page what do we see? On one side "The Empire is peace," and on the other side the quotation "Let us have peace." (Laughter.) The meaning of this is, "Let us have the empire, with Grant at its head, and we shall have peace." (Laughter and applause.) But you find lurking behind this a debt of twenty-five or twenty-eight hundred millions of dollars. The great fear is the people are not to be trusted, and will not pay it; and hence we must have a strong government with an army at our backs, and when the people become restive as to the payment of taxes they are to be compelled to do so at the point of the bayonet. I know what I say, and, not to be egotistical, I know what is being prepared for the American people. We find the single item of $150,000,000 to be collected for payment of interest on bonds, and what is it? Interest to be paid in one-half year's time. You run your hands into your pockets and pull out something so dim and worn that you cannot tell what it is. But see what it calls for on its face. As compared with the currency of the world, as admitted by both Christian and barbarous nations, we find this paper to be thirty or forty cents below par. But what about the men who have so many millions in bonds? I must here tell a little story. It has been so long since any of the people in my section saw a five, two and a half, or ten or twenty dollar gold piece that I made it a special point to carry home a few pieces with me in order that they might see them. It had been stated in a paper that in a conversation he had remarked to somebody that "no nation had ever yet paid a national debt created in war except by repudiation." If I stated a fact is there any harm in it? (Cries of "No, no.") What political economist dare deny the proposition? I also state there is not a nation on earth that made a debt interminable or permanent that is free. Is there any harm in stating such facts and great truths? (Responses of "No, no.") Then how does the matter stand? Because I have uttered truths which cannot be controverted it is said I favor repudiation. But go to Congress. What has it done? You will find that in the inaugural address it is stated that if anybody is in favor of repudiation to the extent of a single farthing he cannot hold an office under the government. (Laughter.) But when you go to this Congress, so conscious were they of the great fraud practiced in various atrocious ways they came forward and proposed to repudiate one-third of the whole debt. "It is nominated in the bond" to say six per cent, and yet Congress, in face of this solemn contract, proposed to reduce it to five, four and three per cent. But this interest is to be paid in gold and silver. Go to the department. A man comes in with coupons, and at one counter gets gold and silver for them; another man comes in and goes to another counter with claims for some widow or orphans of him who fell in the country's cause—who was buried with no winding sheet around his body but the blanket stained with his blood—and this man, acting for the widow or orphans, is handed depreciated paper, while the bondholder receives gold and silver. When the rebellion commenced I was one of those who opposed it. My property was imperilled. I raised thirty-seven thousand men for the struggle. I am out of office now and ask for no place, therefore I can talk plain on the subject. The war commenced and was called on our part, as was solemnly declared in Congress, for the purpose of preserving the Union and restoring the States to their proper relations. The rebellion progressed, and what was the effect? There was an institution in the South to which there was great prejudice. It was estimated, when considered in its character and shape as property, to be worth three thousand millions of dollars. I was no advocate of slavery. The negro walked off, and just as this property disappeared in one section it appeared in the shape of government stocks and bonds at the other end of the line, instead of existing in an institution which was productive to the nation and to the world. I can tell you where it is. Go look into the vaults and see the great stacks of government bonds. How many fields does it plough? Ho many ships does it build? How much wealth does it add to the nation? Can anybody tell me? (A voice—"None.") It there remains corroding and eating out the government vitals. The query comes up, Are the American people going to tolerate these things? Instead of such a vast amount of credit and capital being locked up in the strong boxes, it should be forced out of the hands of the bondholders and forced to seek investments in such enterprises as would add to the wealth of the country in the development of its resources and in works of public improvement. After further remarks on this and kindred subjects he said, we once had a Washington in this country, and thank God for it. (Applause.) I have heard it said we have a second Washington. (A voice—"We have got him yet.") I should like to look at him. (Applause and laughter.) I should like to see what kind of an animal he is. I suspect the second Washington is about as much like the first Washington as—let me illustrate. You remember the old story of the prank or satire that Diogenes practised on Plato, who was very learned, and who instructed the young men in the academy, and defined man to be an animal with two legs and without feathers. Diogenes, who was a cynic and well of satire, concluded he would ridicule the idea out of existence, and therefore he would catch a goose and strip it of its plumage and hang it by the head, and as the students were turned out he pointed at the goose with the feathers stripped off, saying, "This is Plato's man." (Applause and general laughter, with cries of "Good," "You're right on the goose.") I think the comparison near about complete. Carrying out the idea, Washington was inaugurated on the 13th of April. He referred in his speech to Congress to his great want of experience and his diffidence in assuming a responsibility so great, and also spoke of the importance of private morals as the foundation of public virtue. (Applause.) He furthermore recommended that in sustaining the Executive Department no more money should be appropriated than was barely sufficient to defray the expenses. He approached the Presidency almost with awe and trembling. He did not say, "I feel the responsibility, but I accept the office without fear." That is your second Washington. (Laughter.) But I have not seen your second Washington yet. Imagine Washington sitting at the council board, looking at the Secretary of the Treasury and saying, "I've got your draft for sixty-five thousand dollars, "and seeking for a book from which to derive a little information, saying to the Secretary of the Navy, "I've got your library at a cost of fifteen thousand dollars." Then look around at the furniture, house and lots. How would Washington have sat in Cabinet meeting, surrounded by such men as these? (Laughter and cries of "Good.") You see how the government is moving along. The cry comes up, my countrymen, whether we shall not meet the issue when we shall rally round the ballot box to the support of the constitution as the palladium of our religious and civil liberty, and cling to it as the shipwrecked marriner clings to the last plank when the night is closing around him. Give me the constitution of my country. You may take your petty tyrants, but give me the constitution of my country. I repeat here what I said on the 22d of February, with reference to the Freedmen's Bureau:—"You may erect your altar and lay your constitution upon it, and, if necessary, as an evidence of devotion to my country, lay me also upon it; and the blood that now warms and animates my existence shall be poured out as a last libation." The speaker then gave a brief account of the condition of things in Tennessee under radical rule, and said the first thing he had to do when he went home, in order to obtain possession of his property there, was to go before an officer and give evidence by proper vouchers that he was a loyal man. (Laughter.) He also spoke of the tyranny existing in Tennessee. The men called militia, go into a court house, send out the judge and jury into the woods or the street, and, placing therein a court martial, try a man one day and hang him the next. "Let us have peace."

Mr. Johnson said, in conclusion of his remarks:—You are now approaching the point when your government is vibrating between a military dictator here and a military dictator there. If we go on at this rate every little military man who can claim a battle will seek to be made dictator and rule the nation. But the character of an American citizen is above all other characters. In my mind we have high and noble duties to perform. Let us not falter. This mighty nation is determined to preserve its unity. Bodies of men and munitions of war started in a certain direction. Those columns never turned until they conquered. And because some little fellow walked with a supply train he is a "second Washington." (Laughter.) It might as well be said that as some of these intelligent reporters followed the army for the purpose of narrating events, they conducted the army operations. (A voice—"How about the hazel nut?") I have consumed more of your time than I intended, and I wish to say, in conclusion, I have no favors to ask and you none to bestow. You know that when in office here I did all in my power to promote your local interests. I have heretofore said, and now repeat, that you ought to have representation in Congress; one knowing your wants, the same right as freemen have. In coming among you on business—having a son at school and some private matters to transact—to receive such a cordial welcome by the people of this District is a source of heartfelt gratification to me. (Applause.) I trust the day is not distant when we shall meet under more auspicious circumstances than we now do. I again thank you for this cordial welcome.

The band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the ex-President was vociferously cheered as he retired. Many of those who had listened to his remarks entered the hotel to pay their respects. He spoke an hour and a quarter.

During Andy Johnson's speech to-night he said:—

I have been called a repudiator because in a late conversation here with a gentleman I remarked that no nation ever yet got rid of its great national war debt without repudiation, and no nation ever made such a debt interminable or permanent without the loss of its freedom. Well, what of it? Is it not true? Did I not state the plain, naked fact? Is there any political economist who will dare deny it? Does not history sustain my assertion? I challenge anybody to deny it. Why, because I speak right out without concealment I am abused and called a "repudiator."

This is a complete vindication of the accuracy of my reported conversation with Andrew Johnson last Sunday night, which has created such a sensation all over the country. During another part of his speech somebody in the crowd shouted out, "What about that hazelnut?" three or four times in succession, but Andy, having drawn near to the close of his speech, preferred to decline expatiating on that subject. Many of the points made in his speech produced quite a sensation. When he told the anecdote of Plato, and his definition of a man as being an animal with two legs, without feathers, and the clever hit of Diogenes in obtaining a goose and stripping it of its feathers and then calling it Plato's man, and comparing that illustration with the comparing of Grant with Washington, he produced an effect rarely witnessed at a public meeting. His entire audience cheered and roared lustily, some of them shouting "Bully for you, Old Andy," and other similar expressions.

At the meeting to-night, taking short-hand notes, was one of the private secretaries of the President. His presence and industrious efforts to take down every word of Andy Johnson led to considerable comment to-night among the people on the balcony in the immediate vicinity of the ex-President. The name of this Secretary is Ely. What can be the object?

GETTYSBURG.

Unveiling of the Monument—A Large Attendance—Prayer by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Speech by General Meade—Oration by Senator Morton, of Indiana—Interesting Ceremonies.

GETTYSBURG, July 1, 1869.

The morning opened clear but sultry, and with every prospect for good weather. So thronged was the town that many had to walk the streets all night. Strangers were busily engaged in roaming around the battle field and listening to stories of the progress of the fight, or gazing upon trees shattered by artillery.

The monument in the cemetery is greatly admired. It has already been described by so many writers for the press that repetition is unnecessary. The object of the committee having the erection in charge has not been so much to commemorate the great and most important victory as to mark the place of the remains of those who fell in battle, to honor their memories, to sanctify their example; and in accomplishing this object the Board have endeavored to avoid everything in these memorials which might perpetuate the animosity which produced the rebellion.

The procession formed about ten o'clock and soon after commenced the march for the cemetery, headed by a military escort, under command of General Humphreys. The escort consisted of companies of infantry from York, Chambersburg, one from Utica, N. Y., and two companies from this (Adams) county, carriages containing General Meade, Governor Morton, orator of the day; Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. Schunne Schmucker and Bayard Taylor. Mayor Wills, of Gettysburg, was in a carriage with the orator of the day, and R. H. McCurdy, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Cemetery Commission, whose labors, in connection with Mayor Wills, in the construction of the cemetery and monument have been worthy of all praise.

On reaching the cemetery the military were stationed about the foot of the monument. Facing the front of the monument was a large covered platform, which was soon filled by the orator of the day, invited guests and ladies entitled to admission by tickets previously issued. Upon the platform was also seated the Arion Musical Association of Baltimore, which opened the proceedings by singing a hymn from the cantata of "Esther," entitled "Once Mord the Spot with Solemn Awe We Tread."

DAVID WILLS, President of the Commission, then called the meeting to order, and announced that Rev. Henry Ward Beecher would pronounce the opening prayer.

PRAYER BY MR. BEECHER.

Mr. BEECHER then appeared and said:—

Let us unite in prayer. Lord God of our fathers, we thank Thee that thou hast been God of this land; that Thou hast inspired our citizens to frame wise laws and lay the foundation of intelligence and of virtue and of piety. We thank Thee that Thou hast ordained among us institutions for the benefit of all, and that in all the history of their formation and amid all the struggles through which they have passed Thou hast been on the side of liberty and knowledge and hast befriended the poor and needy. We thank Thee, O Lord our God, that when times of struggle came on, when evil rushed in upon us like a flood, Thou didst at last raise up opposition and didst call from all places those that assert again the everlasting truths of human right and human liberty; and when aggression broke forth in battle Thou, O Lord God of our fathers, didst call forth from all our fields, from towns and from cities, multitudes innumerable, who stood especially to defend this nation and maintain its integrity unimpaired, and here upon this eminence Thou didst lead forth Thy people unto victory. We are gathered again to renew association and derive further instruction, and hand down to our posterity the lessons of patriotism and heroic devotion which were given. Grant, we beseech Thee, Thy blessing to rest upon all who are gathered here to-day. O Lord, we cannot ask Thy blessing upon those that rest in sleep—in death, round about us—whom Thou hast blessed, we humbly trust in Jesus Christ, in the immortality of another, better land. But, Lord, remember that all our hearts yet bleed for them; remember those whose homes are poorer since they died. May they be cheered in recollecting that their whole land is richer. O Lord, bless those fathers whose sons lie buried here and mothers into whose hearts the sword entered more deeply than into theirs who were slain thereby. Remember the orphan children of those that are silent here, and we beseech of Thee that wherever they are and under whatever circumstances surrounded that they may feel not only the sympathy and good will of their fellow citizens, but in an eminent degree Thy providence smile upon them. May soldiers' children never prove unworthy of their father's name. May they grow into true heroism and love of their native land as did their fathers. Let them be willing to shed their blood, to lay down life for the sake of their country. Let this blessing of the Lord rest upon Thy servant who commanded here in time of great trial, and whose life mercifully has been spared through intervening years since, to be here again under circumstances so different. Long may his life be spared and those of his household, and may the blessing by which Thou didst make him instrumental for the right, and for the good of the whole land, come back in a measure upon him and his. Remember all that were here associated with him in command, not only so many as are now present, but those that are detained from this ground, whoever they are, may the blessing of the Almighty God rest upon them and their families. Remember, O Lord, the soldiers who fought here. Everywhere we pray for them and theirs, that God's blessing may attend them to the end of life; save them from snares and temptations mightier than virtue, and grant that in all true manliness and noble endeavor they may achieve yet more than is contained in the record of the past. We beseech Thee, Lord God, to grant Thy blessing upon this whole nation. Be pleased to unite together the hearts of the once divided but now united people. Unite their hearts together, and with these new foundations of liberty, universal intelligence, and virtue and purity, may the union grow stronger than it was or could have been. And though we have been shaken with a mighty shaking; though with a red-hot ploughshare Thou hast passed through our fields, grant that the harvest may be more abundantly more, than it could have been without this Thy culture. We beseech Thee, O God, to pour Thy blessings upon the President of the United States and all that are associated with him in council and in administration. May their life and health be precious in Thy sight. May discretion be given to them from on high. May a prosperous issue be given to all the work of their hands undertaken in behalf of the land. Bless, O Lord, the army and navy of the United States. In all their labors and efforts may they still uphold the banner of their country; not in a spirit of pride or wanton aggression; but may they see in our flag justice, order and liberty for all; prosperity with virtue, until round and round the world, as every wind shall bear its folds, men may behold what liberty and true piety may do for a nation. Strengthen the weak with strength against the strong. Counsel with Thy counsel against oppression all through the earth. Overturn and overturn until the right is established. Grant Thy blessing to rest upon all that are here and upon the great body of citizens throughout the United States, and upon the whole family of man. Grant that need of war shall cease and that Jews and Gentiles shall be gathered in, and the whole earth see thy salvation. All which we ask humbly in the adorable name of the Lord Jesus, our Saviour, to whom, with the Father and the Holy Spirit, we will give praise forever. Amen.

At the conclusion of prayer the hymn "Tis Holy Ground," written by B. B. French, of Washington, for the dedication of the cemetery in 1863, was sung by the choir.

President WILLS then announced that General Meade would address the audience, preparatory to unveiling the monument, which would take place during the firing of a salute of one gun for each State having dead buried within its limits. General Meade then took his position on the platform and was received with cheers. When the cheering had subsided General MEADE said:—

REMARKS OF GENERAL MEADE.

MY FELLOW CITIZENS, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—Six years ago I stood upon this ground under circumstances very different from those which now surround us. These beautiful hills and valley, now teeming with luxuriant crops; these happy faces around me, are widely different from the tumultuous roar of war and terrible scenes enacted at that time. Four years ago I stood here, by invitation of some honorable gentlemen who have brought me here this time, and laid the corner stone of the monument which we are brought together to-day to dedicate; and now for the third time I appear before you, at the request of the managers of the Monument Association, to render my assistance, humble as it is, in paying respect to the memory of the brave men who fell here by dedicating this monument to them; and at the request of these gentlemen I am about to make to you a few, very few, remarks, which are incidental to the occasion and are suggested by it. When I look around and see, as I now see, so many brave men who were by my side in that memorable battle, among them his Excellency the present Governor of Pennsylvania, General Geary, and others who were with me at that time; when I look back and think upon the noble spirits who then fought so well and now sleep the sleep that knows no waking—gallant Reynolds, my bosom friend as well as my right hand officer—brave Vincent, and Zook, and Weed and others far more in numbers than I have time or words to mention—my feelings are those of mingled sadness and joy; sadness, my friends, to think that there ever was an occasion when such men should be arrayed in battle as they were here—that we should ever have been called upon, as we were upon this field, to defend the flag of our country and government, which has been handed down to us from our forefathers; sad to think of the mourning and desolation which prostrated our whole land, North and South; sad to contemplate the vast destruction of life which we here wrought in obedience to our highest duty. I am filled with sadness to think of the hosts of mourning widows and orphans left throughout the land by that struggle. Such thought naturally comes upon us. At the same time I feel gratitude and joy; gratitude to the Almighty who directed the event, and who selected me as a humble instrument, with those then around me upon this field, to obtain that decisive victory which turned the tide of that great war and settled forever, I trust, in this country, the principles of personal liberty and constitutional freedom. (Applause.) I feel gratitude, too, that our fellow countrymen have been moved to such respect and honor as we are now paying to the memory of those men who, in the discharge of their duty, laid down their lives, proving by the highest sacrifice man can render their devotion to the cause they were defending; gratitude to those present to-day, who by their presence contribute to render high honor justly due to the fallen braves. There is one subject, my friends, which I will mention now, and on this spot, where my attention has been called to it, and in which, I trust, my feeble voice will have some influence. When I contemplate this field I see here and there, marked with hastily dug trenches, the graves in which the dead with whom we fought are gathered. They are the work of my brothers in arms the day after the battle. Above them a bit of plank indicates simply that these remains of the fallen foe were hurriedly laid there by the soldiers who met them in battle. Why should we not collect them in some suitable place? I do not ask that a monument be erected over them. I do not ask that we should in any way endorse their cause or their conduct, or entertain other than feelings of condemnation for their course. But they are dead; they have gone before their Maker to be judged. In all civilized countries it is usage to bury the dead with decency and respect, and even to fallen enemies respectful burial is accorded in death. (Applause.) I earnestly hope this suggestion may have some influence throughout this broad land, for this is only one among a hundred crowded battle fields. Some persons may be designated by the government, if necessary, to collect these neglected bones and bury them without commemorative monuments, but simply indicate that below sleep the misguided men who fell in battle for a cause over which we triumphed. I shall detain you no longer, for you are about to listen to one of the most eloquent men in this country. My purpose was simply to comply with the kind invitation given to me to speak meet words of praise for the dead heroes sleeping around, and in the solemnities of this occasion I thank you for your attention, and will now unveil the statue.

At the conclusion of General Meade's remarks a passage was cleared in front of the platform leading to the base of the monument, and, assisted by Secretary of War Rawlins, the veil that shielded the front of the monument was dropped, and the first full view of all its beauties was met with enthusiastic applause from the thousands that were looking on at this interesting moment, mingled with the music of the band and the firing of a salute.

President WILLS then announced that Hon. O. P. Morton, Senator from Indiana, would pronounce the oration.

Mr. MORTON then made a lengthy oration, in which he gave a sketch of the battle of Gettysburg, the winning of which was the turning point in the contest. He referred feelingly to the Union soldiers who had offered up their lives on the field for the republic, and urged it as a sacred duty to their surviving countrymen to cherish their memories, fittingly commemorate the anniversaries of their deaths and emulate their heroism. He also referred to the great progress made by the country since the war ended and explained the reasons why the South failed to achieve her independence. He closed by saying that the purpose in assembling was not to commemorate the triumph of the North over her misguided countrymen, but to celebrate a cause that time would show as much theirs as ours.

The choir then sang "How Sleep the Brave Who Sink to Rest," with the addition of two stanzas composed by W. W. Carter, of Baltimore, for the occasion. Then followed a poem written for the occasion. The choir then sang the hymn "Rest, Hero, Rest," and Rev. Dr. Schmucker pronounced the benediction. The choir then sang the hymn "America," with which the ceremonies concluded. The number of persons present in the cemetery during the ceremonies is variously estimated at from 6,000 to 10,000, who dispersed at the conclusion of the programme. The town is slowly being cleared of its visitors by the starting of regular and special trains. The Gettysburg Spring and the adjacent capacious Spring Hotel have been attractive spots, as General Meade, Secretary Rawlins and most of the military visitors were located there, as well as the Governors and other politicians.

General Meade and most of the Philadelphia Council started on their return about four o'clock, and expect to reach Philadelphia before morning.

Reception of Mr. Seward in Sacramento—Arizona Indians Severely Punished—The Democratic State Convention Endorses the Postal Telegraph System.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30, 1869.

William H. Seward and party arrived in Sacramento to-day and received a salute of fifty guns. All the flags in the city were flying. The citizens generally, without reference to party, united in doing honor to the ex-Secretary. Many prominent democrats attending the State Convention called on Mr. Seward, and he and his travelling companions were the recipients of a grand dinner at the Orleans Hotel. The Seward party will reach this city to-morrow night.

The Chicago excursionists arrived at Truckee today, and will be here to-morrow.

The California Pioneer Fuse factory, in this city, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is $25,000; uninsured.

Arizona advices to the 8th of June state that Colonel Sanford's command had returned to Camp McDowell. They killed twenty-two Indians and captured four during the expedition. Colonel Price's command killed three Indians and destroyed a great amount of property during the late raid through the Wallapai country. The mining news from Arizona is encouraging.

The Democratic State Convention has adjourned sine die. It passed resolutions approving the adoption of the fifteenth amendment, approving the rejection by Congress of the Alabama treaty, and endorsing the State administration. A committee was appointed to prepare an address on Chinese labor in California. The Convention also unanimously adopted a resolution denouncing the unjust system of charges made by the Western Union Telegraph monopoly and strongly favoring the postal telegraph reform.

The steamship Constitution sailed for Panama today with $437,000 in treasure, of which $416,000 is for England, $11,000 for Guatemala and $10,000 for Panama.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Address of the Fenian Brotherhood of Pittsburg—Co-operation of Americans Invited.

PITTSBURG, July 1, 1869.

The Senate of the Fenian Brotherhood have issued an address to the American people, in which they ask their sympathy and assistance on the ground that fifteen millions of Americans have Irish blood in their veins, and that Ireland has been a national ally of America from the time of the Revolution to the present day, while England has been a persistent enemy of this republic, as is shown by her hostile action during the late rebellion. They declare the Irish people ready to unite with America—that such a union backed by a brave and devoted people, would give the United States the control of the commerce of Europe. They ask for the co-operation of every true American without distinction of party, as they declare the cause in which they are engaged too sacred to be made a battle ground of contending factions.

General O'Neil arrived this afternoon and the Senate has been in secret session ever since.

The fifteenth constitutional amendment passed the New Hampshire Senate yesterday.

*In this statement no mention is made of accrued interest, and the bonds issued to the Pacific Railroad Company are calculated as part of the public debt. According to the report of Treasurer Boutwell, who adds accrued interest and ignores the bonds issued to that road, the total debt exhibits a decrease during the past month amounting to $16,410,132.

Congress Refuses to Authorize a New Canal Contract—Mosquera's Banishment Not Rescinded—Uncertainty Regarding the Presidential Election—The United States Apologizes.

We have dates from Panama to the 23d and from Bogota to the 2d of June.

Congress adjourned at Bogota on the 24th May, prior to which it passed a resolution, by a majority of 17 against 7, refusing to give the Executive a basis upon which to frame a new treaty or contract for the excavation of an interoceanic canal through this isthmus. It also rejected the proposition for the same object made by Mr. Heap on behalf of a British company, so we are as far as ever from having a canal at Panama.

The resolution to grant an amnesty to General Mosquera was rejected by a vote of 14 against 18.

The official correspondence between Señor Santos Acosta, Colombian Minister at Washington, and Mr. Borie, Secretary of the Navy, relative to the landing of marines at Taboga and Panama from the ships Wateree and Suwanee in 1867 and 1868, for the purpose of capturing two of the crew of these ships, is published. Secretary Borie apologizes for the trespass on Colombian territory, and promises that such an act shall not occur again, assuring the Minister at the same time that there was no intention to violate the territory.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Suppression of Insurrection in Guatemala—Appropriation by Nicaragua to Improve the San Juan—Banishments in Costa Rica.

From Guatemala we have dates to the 8th of June. Don Vicente Cerna took formal possession of the Presidential chair, to which he was for the second time elected by the General Assembly on the 17th January last. On the 20th May an engagement took place between the government forces under Colonel Bateile and Serapio Cruz, which lasted an hour and a half, in which Cruz was completely routed.

Our dates from Nicaragua are to the 8th of June.

A commission composed of Dr. José Maria Sarrias and Señores Fermin Ferrer and Jesus Barca had been formed for the purpose of fixing the boundary limits between Nicaragua and Honduras.

Mr. Ran Runnels has received his exequatur as Consul General for the United States of Colombia in Nicaragua.

The government has authorized the Secretary of Public Works to raise the sum of $200,000 if necessary, by the issuing of Custom House bonds, for the improvement of the navigation of the river San Juan.

The Costa Rica Congress met on May 1. President Jesus Jimenez was inaugurated and took the oath of office under the constitution on May 8. Don Juan Rafael Mata has resigned as Secretary of State and Foreign Affairs, &c., and Don Agapito Jimenez was named in his stead.

President Jimenez, both in this administration and in the one which has just terminated, has ignored the military party, and has subordinated the military more than ever before to the control of the civil authorities. On May 29 Congress, following a clause in the constitution authorizing such action, conferred upon the President "extraordinary powers" to protect the public peace. In virtue of these powers the President has sent General Blanco and several other prominent citizens out of the country.

Congress adjourned on the 29th of May. Before adjourning it concluded the concession for a railroad from the Atlantic to the Pacific, made by the government last January to Edward Reilly and others, citizens of the United States, substantially as made.

PERU.

Cuban Meeting—Proposition to Cede the Monitors to Cuba—Reconstruction in Arequipa.

Our dates from Lima are to the 13th of June. A meeting apropos of the Cuban question was held at the theatre on the 30th of May, and Señor Valiente, the Cuban delegate, was present thereat. After the adoption of several resolutions, nem. con., one of which was no less than to call upon the government to cede the two monitors to the Cubans, the reunion sallied forth and startled Colonel Balta from his comfortable lunch, causing him to make his appearance in the balconies of the palace and address the multitude assembled in the plaza. He gave them the reply that he would do everything tending most to be worthy of Peru. The only practical result from all this display of enthusiasm amounted to a theatrical performance on the Thursday following for the benefit of the Cuban patriots, at which the gross receipts are stated to have amounted to $1,500.

Throughout the South the yellow fever has disappeared, and business is beginning gradually to look up and assume a brisk appearance. In Arequipa they are in good earnest now commencing to clear the streets of the ruins, and the "work of reconstruction is going on," but in a literal sense, although now and then some uncomfortable shocks are reported to occur.

On the 12th a sharp earthquake was felt in Lima and Callao. It lasted about twenty seconds, and brought the people to their street doors in "less than no time."

General Markbreit, United States Minister to Bolivia, arrived at Lima on the 9th inst., en route for his post.

CHILE.

The Spanish Question and the Mediation of the United States—Great Fire in Santiago—Railway Construction.

Our Valparaiso dates are to the 2d of June. The installation of the ordinary Congress of 1869 took place on the 1st. Respecting the Spanish question, the President in his message informs the Legislature that the Chilean government had given their sanction to the fact—adjusted by their allies at Lima on the 2d of January last—accepting the mediation of the United States government, and in which it was stipulated that an indefinite armistice (tregua indefinida) should be recognized and that hostilities were only to be resumed on a two years' notice being given by either party, adding, however, as a condition, sine qua non, that the Spanish government should previously be required to make reparations for the unjustifiable bombardment of Valparaiso, and this, it may fairly be surmised, the latter are not likely to agree to.

An extensive conflagration had occurred in Santiago. The fire originated in the ancient colonnade of Sierra Bella, which it completely destroyed, as also two warehouses in the streets Ahumada and Estado. The loss was calculated at above $400,000.

A government decree accepts the proposal of Mr. John Slater for the construction of a railroad between Chillan and Talcahuano. Working operations are to commence previous to the 1st of August next, and the contractor proposes to complete the road between Concepcion and Talcahuano within ten months, and at the end of two years as far as Malloa station.

The prolongation of the railway from Serena to Ovalle is being actively proceeded with, and a contract is likely to be entered into with the English engineer, Mr. Wheelwright, for the junction of a line between Copiapo and Cordova, in the Argentine provinces, which could connect the Atlantic Ocean with the Pacific by means of the iron horse.

VENEZUELA.

Closing the Ports—Particulars of the Decree.

St. Thomas, June 16, 1869.

Some infringements made on the part of the State governments recently caused the President, Monagas, to issue a decree, under date of June 8, whereby the port of Maracaibo was declared closed until further orders. All vessels loading in that port were allowed ten days to complete cargo and leave. All vessels attempting to enter after this decree becomes known will be confiscated. The Custom House of Maracaibo is not allowed to give permits to pass foreign goods to other localities. Copies of the decree were forwarded by the packet leaving Laguayra on June 1 to the various consuls in order to make it known.

CUBA.

The Anticipated Arrival of Rodas—Meekness of the Volunteers—Military Operations—Sickness Among the Troops—Insurgents in Colon—Arrest of the Cuban Junta—Communications from Two Highnesses—Seizure of the New York Herald.

Havana, June 26, 1869.

Havana is holding its breath in anticipation of the arrival of the new Captain General, now hourly expected. The continual anxiety in reference to his course has had a depressing effect upon the brave volunteers, and with much meekness and desire for conciliation they await his coming. The Cabañas and Morro Castle fortresses are no longer under their control, and the marines of Señor Molcompo, from their grim battlements, keep watch and ward over city and harbor. On the morning of Thursday the artillery battalion (volunteers), commanded by Señor Suarez Virgil, which had been on duty the previous twenty-four hours, surrendered their trust to the marines, and insomuch the volunteers ceased to be masters of Havana. The battalion which was to relieve the artillery marched as usual to the wharf, and on being informed that its services were not required, quietly returned to the plaza and was dismissed. It is known that it was aware of what was about to occur, and its march on the occasion was, therefore, a mere matter of form. This acquiescence in what deprives them of the greater part of their power results in part from the quiet persistence and sagacity of General Espinar, but much more from fears as to the action of General de Rodas. The Spanish Admiral went to sea on the 21st, in the Hernan Cortes, and though it was given out that he had gone for a short trip to one of the ports on the north side, and that his family was with him, it was well understood that he had gone to meet and have an interview with the new Captain General concerning the situation here. In the state of mind the volunteers found themselves it was not difficult to persuade them that Caballero de Rodas might land at Matanzas or Cardenas, declare the capital in a state of insurrection, withdraw the navy and so place them in a very critical position. They became docile under these representations and interposed no objection to the surrender of the fortresses, only, in order to relieve the others of the stigma, waiting until the artillery was on duty, a battalion regarded with no especial good will. This but confirms the prediction already made in these despatches that De Rodas would be received and permitted to enter upon his authority without any trouble. In view of his early arrival the Gazette contains a notice from the Secretary's office announcing the anticipated fact and inviting the authorities, corporations, grandees, consuls and others to be present at the Palace for the purpose of welcoming the new authority upon entering his position. The Diario, speaking of the matter, says:—"On Sunday, or, at the very latest, on Monday, his Excellency the Governor, Captain General elect, will be among us. He is a distinguished Spanish General, sent by the government of the nation to re-establish peace in Cuba and preserve, at all costs, the integrity of the national territory. We have already said that whoever dares attribute to him this or that project speaks from his imagination or in bad faith, but it is necessary to repeat it, because the enemies of Spain are gratified in circulating the most absurd rumors, with the pernicious intent of creating alarm, marked by the dark stain of calumny. We ought ever to be alert against our enemies, cloaked as they are, and rely on the purity of our intentions and the tranquillity of our conscience." Herein the Diario gives the Spaniards a gentle hint that General de Rodas comes out as the representative of the government, leaving the conclusion that he must be obeyed to be inferred, and at the same time assures them that they have nothing to fear from their little revolutionary proceeding in driving out Dulce. Whether it speaks by authority remains to be determined.

Another unsuccessful Spanish General arrived here this week, remained for a short time, furnished a card for the newspapers and left for the United States. This was no less a person than General Buceta, who has been in command in Santiago de Cuba and vicinity, and has several times been reported dead—murdered by his own soldiers. He left on the Beaufort for Key West, en route for New Orleans, at an early hour on the 23d. His card appeared on the same day. He stated that on sailing from Santiago de Cuba on the 18th for the capital, he was informed that certain individuals of the corps of volunteers were dissatisfied with his conduct during the campaign. He does not wonder at this for he is dissatisfied himself, but claims that he is not responsible for not being among those whom the armed enemies reserved for the glory of combat. He was under fire with the insurgents ten times, but on each occasion not more than twelve or fifteen shots were fired and those from the depths of the thickets. He intimates that, as others are doing, he might have reported these as great feats of arms only from a persistent habit he has of telling the truth. He refers to some reports of his operations, "herewith enclosed," not of interest, and closes by saying that any person desirous of further information would be well received by calling at the Hotel Europa. In answer to this invitation several ominous calls followed, but the General was on the sea and so disappointed his visitors. The proprietor of the hotel, fearing for his establishment, found it necessary to publish his card also, announcing that the General had left, and so the affair ended. While it is natural enough that an ignorant and badly informed mob should attribute the failure of military operations to the leaders, the fact is that there are other reasons than their incapacity or the prowess of the insurgents in this case for it. From reliable sources, from the Spanish officers themselves, the information reaches us that the cholera, vomito and other diseases incident to the climate, are making havoc among the troops, equal to the most sanguine expectations of the Cubans. Every attempt at operations is followed by a loss of so many from these causes as to create despair in the breasts of the commanders. An official connected with the sanitary department of the army says that, what with killing, wounding, sickness and desertion, there is a falling off of from sixty to eighty per cent among the troops; that the battalions need recruiting and reorganizing, but there are no men for the purpose. Meanwhile the demoralization among the Spaniards and the dissatisfaction with the commanders, communicating itself to the ranks, render ineffective those who remain.

The military operations, as reported, are of the same indeterminate character as heretofore. The appearance of a body of insurgents in Colon, between Palmillas and the city of that name, has created considerable alarm among the planters, as some of the most important plantations on the island are in that locality. Palmillas is but 126 miles from Havana and but six miles from Macagua, the present terminus of the railroad. The press here reports an engagement between the former two places, in which four or five insurgents were killed. "The Pole" is known to be in the vicinity with 1,500 well armed men. The Diario reports that a small column while marching in the jurisdiction of Colon captured two spies, who were immediately shot. A gentleman from that locality states that one of these was an innocent ploughman, taken from the field and slaughtered because he did not know where the insurgents were. A telegram from Lesca to the Captain General, dated the 23d, contains all the information furnished us through official sources of operations in the Cinco Villas. It says:—"The military commandant of Sagua informs me that Captain Iriate has beaten a numerous party of insurgents on the Gonzales cattle farm on the Santos road, causing them fourteen killed and capturing fifty-four horses, sundry arms and war materials." The fact that the line has been down for the past two days doubtless accounts for our having nothing more of the same stereotyped character.

The arrest of the Cuban Junta in New York has vied with the anticipated arrival of De Rodas as a subject for conversation in the city during the week. The more intelligent, who are few, give it the importance it deserves, while the mass were jubilant or depressed in accordance with their sympathies. Many of the Spaniards considered it a prelude to sending the entire body here for trial, and it was seriously stated that the flagship Gerona and the iron-clad Victoria were to be sent to New York to bring them hither. Indeed, it is reported that several Spaniards proffered the request to the Captain General that war vessels should be sent for that purpose. It is doubtful, however, if so great stupidity can dwell even in Spanish minds.

The Spaniards give Minister Roberts credit for, what they deem, this masterly stroke and it has given rise to the following telegrams which appear in the papers here:—

Havana, June 19, 1869.

To His Excellency the Minister of Spain in Washington:—

The Spanish residents in Havana congratulate your Excellency for your worthy and energetic conduct in favor of the national integrity of this island. In their name—Julian Zulueta, Jose L. Echaniz, Felipe Perez, Miguel Antonio Cabarga, &c.

REPLY.

Washington, June 20, 1869.

Senors—I beg of you in my name to make known to the Spanish residents there that I feel grateful from my soul for their patriotic felicitation, and to add that they will always find me ready to sustain the national integrity in the island of Cuba and to defend with dignity the flag of our dear Spain.

LOPEZ ROBERTS.

Evidently the Spaniards consider that Lopez Roberts holds your "let us have peace" administration by the nose, and perhaps he does.

The investigation in the murder of Mr. Robinson, of Matanzas, by the volunteers of Corral Falso, is progressing. A brother of the victim was recently taken on board the British iron-clad Defence at the former place, he fearing violence from the volunteers. A riot between some volunteers and the peasantry recently occurred in Wajay, a few leagues from this city. An affray took place, in which several were wounded. The affair would seem to have no political significance.

General Puello, late Commanding General of the forces operating in the jurisdictions of Santi Espiritu, Moron and Remedios, arrived here on the 20th, he having been relieved by General Lesca. He seems to have retained the good will of the Spaniards, as he was serenaded in Trinidad and has not been molested here. He had an interview with General Espinar soon after his arrival, in which he represented the imperative necessity for reinforcements. In conversation with a friend he stated that 5,000 additional troops were needed in the Cinco Villas.

The Captain General has received the following telegram, dated Madrid the 22d:—

His Highness, the serene Regent of the kingdom, orders me to manifest to your Excellency that he appreciates, in the most cordial manner, the felicitations your Excellency sends him on your own behalf and that of all classes in that island. He is gratified at the favorable news made known to him, and hopes from the patriotism of the troops, volunteers and others, that they will continue, with intrepidity, in their work of pacification, which he doubts not will be very soon attained in the whole territory.

Signed by the Secretary of the Regency.

On the other hand, his Highness José Morales Lemus, President of the Junta Cuba, doubtless equally serene, notwithstanding his recent arrest, has mailed circulars here addressed to "the Spanish residents in Cuba," exhorting them to give up the struggle and join the Cubans in throwing off the yoke of Spain. He says:—"You have just demonstrated your conviction that a metropolis, whose conditions of existence are essentially distinct, cannot govern with propriety a country 4,800 miles away." He reminds them of their supposition that independent Cuba would hurl them from her bosom and strip them of their property, adding, "The Cubans, your sons and brothers, whose sentiments are but too well known to you, are too far advanced in civilization not to comprehend that such an act would in the present age amount to a moral suicide."

There are reports of several landings on the south side, but nothing definite concerning them can be obtained.

Lieutenant Colonel Ramon Haliday Columna, commandant of cavalry, has been appointed Governor of Santi Espiritu.

Mr. Ferguson, a Scotchman, who was formerly engineer on the estate of Aguilera and was imprisoned about three months ago, has been released by Governor Ampudia, of Manzanillo, on condition that he do not leave the place.

William Stedman has been authorized to act as United States Consul at Santiago de Cuba until the government extends to him the usual exequatur.

On the arrival of the Columbia on the 23d the Herald was suppressed by order of the censor and the copies for the news depots were seized. Naturally everybody was desirous of finding out what was in it, and of course succeeded in doing so. The stupidity of the authorities in this matter touches the sublime. Copies of the paper were sold for a dollar each as a consequence of it.

The government is exercising the greatest care that no transactions of a commercial nature shall be had between residents of the island and the "disloyal" abroad. As an example of this, upon the writs for moneys sent the notary is required to endorse that the document is of no effect in foreign countries, which is made "known in fulfilment of the orders of the City Governor as president of the administrative council of properties embargoed of sundry individuals."

The Landing of the Grapeshot—Capture and Shooting of Americans—Another Extermination of the Mayari Expeditionists.

Santiago de Cuba, June 19, 1869.

The landing from the schooner Grapeshot took place in Ballequiri Bay on the 1st inst. The adventurers did not number more than forty. The Spanish official account says that this small party has been completely exterminated and all its arms, including two cannon and ammunition, captured. The following particulars, gleaned on the spot and of a reliable character, have been furnished me. As stated, the landing took place on the 1st and the news thereof reached Guantanamo on the 3d. Immediately a force of 200 left by land and another of 160 by water, with a view of surrounding the filibusters. The land force, it seems, was surprised by them and a sharp contest followed, in which the Spaniards lost several killed and wounded, among the former a lieutenant. The others lost one man killed, named George Smith, a native of London, England, and late sergeant of a New York engineer corps. What followed is hard to get at. The adventurers would seem to have been scattered, at least a portion of them, as several have been captured and two or three killed. The Spaniards say they must all sooner or later be captured or die of hunger and thirst, as they are shut in a barren and desolate region, covered with cactus, where there is but one spring within a circuit of eight leagues, and that is closely guarded. The Cubans, however, insist that the main body has made good its escape inland, having united with a party which landed near Baracoa, and together marched to join the insurgents. As the adventurers are known to be guided by a noted character named Policarpio, a native of Guantanamo, who has been under the ban of the Spanish authorities and escaped their vigilance for years, and is thoroughly conversant with all that section of country, they have probably escaped. Among the former are a Swiss, named Jacob Meyer, and an Italian, name not given, both naturalized American citizens. They were brought here on the 9th, simultaneously with a prisoner captured at Mayari, calling himself Juan de Dios Palma, from New Orleans. The three were publicly shot on the morning following their arrival. It was made a gala day by the Catalonian element, who seemed delighted to have a number of Americans to vary the executions of late so frequent here. The shooting took place at eight A. M., instead of the usual hour of six, in order to give all an opportunity to witness the spectacle, which had a great advantage over a bull fight, insomuch as three men were certain to be killed. Crowds of Spaniards repaired to the slaughter-pen, to see what they humorously styled "the fresh meat." The victims walked firmly to the place of execution, and all died like heroes. Palma made a speech, expressing regret for his conduct, accusing the Cubans of cowardice and eulogizing the Spanish soldiers for their bravery and humanity. He also wrote a letter, which has been published, expressing the same ideas. In consequence of this the Bandera Española (government organ), lauds him to the skies and calls him a talented, noble and generous-minded man, and expresses surprise that such a person should be shot like a dog, without trial. The Cubans say Palma was induced to speak as he did by promises of pardon. Following the execution was a triumphal parade over the four cannons captured at Mayari. Two are of steel and the others of brass. The latter are exactly like those used by the Spaniards here, which has given "disloyal" people occasion for ill-natured remarks. One of the steel guns has been placed in the Plaza de Armas, in the position heretofore occupied by the famous Monte Cristo cannon, brought from the St. Domingo war, which venerable piece was turned off its perch to make room for the new comer—an awful instance of the instability of popular favor. On Saturday, the 12th, another prisoner was brought from Gauntanamo. He was a young Cuban of good family in Havana. On Monday he followed the others, dying with the same serenity. On Wednesday, the 16th, was brought here an American, a native of Indiana, named Speekman, a sailor. He stated that he shipped on the Grapeshot for a voyage to Jamaica, knowing nothing about the real nature of the venture until a tugboat brought the filibusters aboard. Against his protest he was obliged to assist in discharging the cargo on the Cuban coast and was forcibly detained by the expeditionists. When he gave himself up he had a gun in his hand. Mr. Phillips, the American Consul, obtained permission to visit him, and afterwards, I am told, waited upon the Governor. If for the purpose of seeking for mercy it was useless, as yesterday morning Speekman was taken out and shot, going through the ordeal with great bravery. On the 11th the steamer Moctezuma arrived here, having been detained to carry troops from Nuevitas to Puerto Padre. She brought no news of importance, but soon after twelve o'clock M. flags began to appear over the catalan residences, bands to parade the streets and in the morning the Plaza and Palace were illuminated. In explanation the indefatigable Bandera appeared in an extra, announcing that "it was reported" that Colonel Benegasi had defeated the 600 Americans from Mayari, utterly exterminating them and taking from them all they had. This is the third extermination this unfortunate party has suffered. Subsequent arrivals fail to confirm the report.

NASSAU.

The Salvador—Arrival of W. S. Ashby—Movement of War Vessels—An Expedition Soon to Leave.

Nassau, N. P., June 21, 1869.

The steamer Salvador still remains in the hands of the authorities, the investigation concerning her being postponed on account of the illness of the Attorney General. Her case has been brought before the court, and the very general opinion is that she will be released soon.

On the 31st ult. arrived here, per schooner Excel, from Key West, W. S. Ashby, who served in the Confederate army as commander of the independent detachment of scouts attached to General Wade Hampton's command. He will take the first opportunity for Cuba, intending to try his hand with the Spaniards. He is about forty years of age, stoutly built, and looks like a man of energy and capacity.

It is becoming very evident that the movements of British men-of-war in these waters are to watch the Cuban blockade runners, rather than protect these islands and British subjects against the piratical acts of Spaniards.

The people here are very much disgusted with the quiet manner in which the home government receive the insults of the Spanish navy, and conclude she is determined to support Spain, no matter what course she may pursue. There are very few Cubans here, and all are anxious to get away. An expedition will leave here very soon, and I think it will be the last one. There is still some little ammunition here.

THE BUNKER MURDER.

On Wednesday evening intelligence was received at the Central Police Office that Daniel Hastings, the party who is supposed to have inflicted the wound on Frank Bunker, of No. 65 West Houston street, on Friday night last, and from the effect of which he died on Tuesday, had been arrested in Boston on the charge of burglary committed there some time ago. Detective Keogh left yesterday to identify Hastings, and, if he prove to be the party wanted, bring him on here.

ST. DOMINGO.

REVOLUTION AFLOAT.

The Steamer Telegrafo as a War Power.

The steamship Tybee, pioneer ship of the new line from this city to St. Domingo, returned to this port yesterday, having made a successful trip, with the exception of touching at Samaná bay, which she was prevented from entering by the crusading steamer Telegrafo, belonging to the Cabral insurgents. An intereresting account of the movements of this steamer will be found in the letter of our correspondent below.

Departure for Samana Bay—Prevented from Entering by the Pirate Telegrafo—Engagement Between Two Dominican War Schooners and the Telegrafo—The New York Steamer Hero Detained.

Samana Bay, St. Domingo, June 24, 1869.

The departure of the Tybee from St. Domingo yesterday morning was the occasion of a large turnout of citizens, who assembled on the wharf and city walls. The garrison band also performed an appropriate air as the vessel passed the fort. Waving of handkerchiefs and other parting salutations were exchanged with the shore.

As the government had received intelligence overland of the blockade of Samaná bay by the pirate Telegrafo, commanded by a Dominican refugee, our steamer bound to that point took on board for transportation about forty soldiers designed to reinforce the patriotic inhabitants who had already defended themselves against the pirate, and had driven him back from their town.

Gregorio Luperon is an outlaw from St. Domingo, in consequence of his turbulent conduct and repeated and fruitless attempts at raising an insurrection. Under any other than the humane administration of Baez the renegade would have been executed, and a quietus put upon his mischief making before this. Going to St. Thomas, with the assistance of parties leagued with him through large promises of lands and other advantages, he secured a steamer, in which he succeeded in reaching Samaná bay. Without any shadow of belligerent rights, under various flags, he assumed the privilege of attacking a legitimate government and interfering with rightful trade. The most disgraceful part of the affair, as far as the United States is concerned, is the fact that the Telegrafo bore the American flag when she set out on her piratical cruise. The following correspondence gives an idea of her early movements:—

After passing over the bar at the mouth of the Ozama the Tybee took in tow the Alta Gracia, eighty tons, an armed schooner belonging to the Dominican republic. The Capotilla, eighty tons, also an armed sister schooner, had been sent ahead the night before. Both had in view an attack upon the pirate at Samaná. Yesterday afternoon we overtook the Capotilla and fastened her on behind the Alta Gracia, and resumed our journey, towing both vessels. It was one o'clock this afternoon when the steamer arrived off Samaná bay. It was, fortunately, exceedingly misty, which enabled us with both schooners in tow to pass to the windward of the entrance. Under cover of a high promontory the soldiers on the steamer were transferred to the schooners. The steamer, still keeping them in tow, now started for the bay. By this time the rain had subsided, and in the clear atmosphere objects were visible at a long distance. Rounding Sloop Rock, which brought us fairly within the heads of the bay, the pirate was visible about eight miles off, anchored under cover of an island. The pirate was painted black, had two funnels, sidewheels and stood high out of the water. Anchored near by was a large steamer, painted white and flying the American colors; also a schooner without colors, probably a prize of the Telegrafo.

Everybody was in a state of anxiety as to the probable results of the anticipated conflict. The Tybee towed the schooners six miles down the bay, when they were set adrift. The schooners each mounted a brass 18-pounder, used as a pivot gun. All sails were set and the little fleet boldly pushed out for their formidable antagonist. The Tybee laid to, to await the issue of the fight.

As soon as the schooners were seen approaching the Telegrafo began getting up steam. The schooners moved off on the starboard tack until within fair range. The Telegrafo fired the first gun, the shot flying high. She repeated her act of illegal warfare, displaying two guns to a broadside. The schooners did not respond until after the eighth shot from the Telegrafo. The engagement now became quite lively, and was visible from the deck of the Tybee. The pirate fired rapidly, but wildly. One ball tore the after sail of the Capotilla, penetrating it about a foot above the boom. The Capotilla replied by putting a ball into the bow of the pirate.

After the action had lasted about twenty minutes the pirate, having steam up, hoisted anchor and headed for the schooners. It was a tight race. The schooners, heading the way by a close shave, made the cover of the land under the guns of the fortifications of the town of Samaná. The pirate was evidently afraid to pursue up the main channel, but sheered off, taking position off a reef.

The conflict now opened with more vigor than ever. The pirate fired a few guns quite vigorously and then ceased almost entirely. The schooners, under the point of a promontory which formed a small side bay, kept up a regular fire. The guns of the schooners were well manned, and soon made it too hot for the pirate, who drew off, well peppered and considerably disabled. In moving away from the scene of the fight the pirate could barely make headway.

The action began about half-past four and lasted until sunset.

While the engagement was going on the mate of the steamer carrying the American colors came aboard. He wanted coal. He stated that the steamer was the Hero, from New York, which had run into Samaná bay, being out of fuel. He said that the pirate had compelled them to anchor where they were, and that they were in a "bad fix." He also mentioned that the pirate carried four guns, that she was out of fuel and had thirty prisoners on shore cutting fuel.

Notwithstanding her crippled condition the pirate headed for the Tybee, with what object in view was not known; but it was considered time to leave, which was forthwith done.

The spirit of the Dominicans was plainly shown in the daring attack made under sail upon so formidable a craft propelled by steam. Had the force been anything like even there could have been no doubt of the result.

General Hungria, Minister of War, who came on the steamer with us, landed on the beach at the entrance of the bay with a small escort, proposing to reach Samana by land and direct the operations of the forces there against the pirate. The people of Samana—mostly blacks and colored persons from the United States—are loyal to a man to the government of Baez, and unaided have had already the satisfaction of proving their loyalty by driving a landing party of Luperon's men back upon the pirate.

There is every prospect of the capture of the Telegrafo. Without coals and without ammunition it is not probable she will be able to hold out long. The Dominicans are determined, and, encouraged by the discomfiture of the pirate this afternoon, will doubtless try their hand again. I hope before leaving the island to chronicle the downfall of the pirate Luperon and the capture or destruction of his craft.

Our own government, if it does not immediately send a vessel out after the Telegrafo, must be held responsible for all damage that she may do. Although she did not sail from an American port, she started on her piratical career under the American colors and through the aid of the representative of the American government. The glaring outrage thus committed upon a friendly and recognized republic is a disgrace and a breach of faith only to be effaced by at once despatching a vessel-of-war in pursuit of the renegade. It is true the American Consul, who was party to the act, as is alleged by authority, has been removed, and it is to be hoped will never be entrusted with another position of honor and profit under the government. From the same cause the Danish Governor General of St. Thomas and the Spanish Consul were removed. These official acts evidently show what is thought of the character of the Telegrafo. She carries an assortment of flags, which she uses as circumstances may suit. She is without proper papers. It is to be hoped the Navy Department will take the matter in hand and at once order a suitable vessel to punish the pirate for his temerity.

Owing to the interposition of the pirate I was prevented from making a detailed examination of the Bay of Samaná. But, judging from its appearance at the entrance, it is a beautiful expanse of water, well protected and far exceeding New York harbor in accommodation. The entrance is between two promontories, the passage being nearly a mile in width. The bay itself is thirty miles in length and expands considerably within. The shores on either side are overgrown with forests of mahogany, cocoanut and palm. It is said that coal abounds. Of this I am unable to speak from observation, but have been so informed by the negro who conveyed the news across the island to Baez of the presence of the pirate. From all that I could see with the naked eye and the assistance of a powerful spy-glass I do not hesitate to pronounce the Bay of Samaná, for commercial and naval purposes, one of the finest sheets of water in the world, and just what the United States government requires in the American tropics.

Affairs in the republic, with the exception of the pseudo American pirate Telegrafo, are in a very satisfactory condition. The latest news from the Haytien frontier announces a signal victory over Cabral and his Cacos, assisted by the Haytien rebels near St. John. One rebel general and captain were killed and thirty horses, twenty cattle and a considerable amount of ammunition were captured. The government troops, it is stated, were commanded by Oloria Regia. Cabral fled, with the remnants of his outlaws, to the neutral ground on the Haytien frontier.

Baez exhibits wonderful energy in pursuing the traitors and renegades who are constantly disturbing the peace and quiet of his people.

Puerto Plata, St. Domingo, June 25, 1869.

The steamer Tybee, having been prevented from entering the Bay of Samaná on an exploring cruise by the American pirate Telegrafo, put into this port this morning. She will lie here to-day, taking in cargo, and will depart for New York direct tomorrow.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Thursday, July 1—6 P. M.

The money market still continued extremely active to-day, but the rate on call loans was more uniform, ranging from one-eighth exceptionally to three-eighths exceptionally, the majority of transactions taking place at a quarter per cent "flat" and a quarter per cent plus seven per cent. The operations of the clique were more definitely traced to-day, and large loans were known to go to a firm which was also lending at high rates, thus keeping up the apparent stringency and suffering little loss. There was less irregularity at the Clearing House this morning, showing that some of the banks were afraid to persevere in helping the cliques. Commercial paper is hardly quotable, the best names being offered at nine to twelve per cent. Foreign exchange opened strong, but the lower price of bonds and the early advance in gold led to large purchases of governments on foreign account, against which new bills were drawn. There is also a free supply of produce and petroleum bills on the market. One large cable transfer was offering at 110½. For sterling the prime bankers at the close were asking 109⅝ a 109¾ for sixty days and 110⅜ a 110½ for sight. Exchange on England was weak: continental bills were firm. Governments opened weak, but rallied about a half per cent at the noon board, but thence declined again to the opening prices. In the following, which were the closing street quotations this evening, the July bonds are quoted ex coupon:—United States sixes, 1881, registered, 116¾ a 117; do. do., coupon, 117 a 117¼; do., five-twenties, registered, 116¾ a 117¼; do. do., coupon, 1862, 121¼ a 121½; do. do., coupon, 1864, 116½ a 117; do. do., coupon, 1865, 118 a 118¼; do. do., coupon, 1865, new, 115⅜ a 115⅝; do. do., coupon, 1867, 115½ a 115⅝; do. do., coupon, 1868, 115¾ a 115⅞; do., ten-forties, registered, 107⅞ a 108; do. do., coupon, 107⅞ a 108; currency bonds, 106 a 106¼.

General Butterfield, who assumed the place of Assistant Treasurer this morning, in place of Mr. Van Dyck, resigned, began his administration with the sale of one million of government bonds. The total amount offered was about three and a half millions. The lots accepted were as follows, at the accompanying prices:—$25,000 1867, registered, 115.83; $50,000 1867, coupon, 115.83; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.85; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.87; $28,000 1867, coupon, 115.90; $125,000 1865, registered, 115.85; $50,000 1865, registered, 115.62; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.80; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.85; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.88; $27,000 1867, coupon, 115.90; $40,000 1862, registered, 115.48; $20,000 1864, registered, 115.49; $35,000 1867, registered, 115.62½; $100,000 1865, registered, 115.85.

Gold sympathized with exchange, opening firmly with it, advancing to 137⅛ and receding later to 136⅞. The course of the market is shown in the table:—

10 A. M.	137⅛	2 P. M.	137⅛
10:30 A. M.	137⅛	3 P. M.	137⅛
11 A. M.	137⅛	3:30 P. M.	137
12 M.	137⅛	3:45 P. M.	136⅞
12:15 P. M.	137⅛	4 P. M.	137
1 P. M.	137⅛	5 P. M.	136⅞ a 137

The carrying rate for cash gold also contributed to the reaction late in the afternoon, the prospect of an easier market seeming remote as long as the general money market continues so stringent. The range of the carrying rate was from one-eighth to one-quarter. The disbursements of gold interest by the Sub-Treasury were $4,644,000. The steamer Union for Europe to-day took out $6,000 in specie, and the Havana steamer $13,000. The Alaska, from Aspinwall, brought $67,539. The following is the report of the Gold Exchange Bank:—

Gold cleared	$71,280,000
Gold balances	3,002,101
Currency balances	4,251,259

Southern securities at the morning board were stronger in sympathy with an advance in new Tennessees to 59¾. These bonds being quite active and first on the call, are operative upon the general list. In the afternoon the whole market broke down with the general tendency of the hour, and prices fell off one to one and a half per cent. The Alabamas were weak in consequence of the very liberal extension of State aid to railroads. The following were the final street prices of the Southern list:—Tennessee, ex coupon, 62 a 63; do., new, 58 a 58½; Virginia, ex coupon, 58 a 58½; do., new, 62 a 62½; Georgia sixes, ex interest, 80 a 82; do. sevens, 96 a 97; North Carolina, ex coupon, 58 a 58½; do., new, 53 a 53½; Missouri sixes, 87 a 88; Louisiana sixes, 69 a 70; do. levee sixes, 67 a 68; do. do., eights, 86 a 88; Alabama eights, 95 a 97; do. fives, 61 a 62; South Carolina sixes, 80 a 82; do. new, 67 a 68.

The stock market was strong and buoyant until midday when a decline set in and the whole list fell "off" one-half to two and a half per cent. The early upward tendency was due to an impression that the worst of the monetary stringency had been seen inasmuch as the heavy disbursements of the gold by the government would fortify the banks and enable them to increase their accommodation. The market at the morning board was cheerful, the feeling continuing during the noon transactions in the Long Room, when New York Central sold at 196½, and Hudson River at 165¾. The Northwestern stocks rose to 82½ for the common and 96½ for the preferred. Michigan Southern touched 110¼. The strongest stock, the one which most stoutly resisted the decline and the most reactionary after it, was Pittsburg, which advanced to 102½. Pacific Mail sold at 90¼, but receded to 89. In the decline Central touched 194¾ and Michigan Southern 108. The Express stocks were heavy and lower, Adams selling down to 60¼. The market, after the adjournment of the Long Room, was better, and final street prices showed a decided improvement. The closing quotations at the last board were as follows:—Canton, 60 bid; Boston Water Power, 15½ a 17; Cumberland, 31 bid; Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, 31½ a 32; Adams Express, 61 a 61¼; American Express, 42 bid; United States Express, 74¼ asked; Quicksilver, 16 a 16½; Pacific Mail, 90 a 90¼; Western Union Telegraph, 38⅜ a 38⅝; New York Central, 196 a 196¼; Mariposa, 8 a 9½; do. preferred, 15 a 16½; Hudson River, 164⅞ asked; Harlem, 144½ a 145½; Reading, 98½ a 98¾; Alton and Terre Haute, 35 a 37½; do. preferred, 59¾ a 60; Toledo and Wabash, 72½ a 73¼; do. preferred, 78 a 81; Milwaukee and St. Paul, 75¼ a 75½; do. preferred, 86 a 86¾; Chicago and Alton, 159 bid; Ohio and Mississippi, 32⅞ a 33½; Fort Wayne, 156½ bid; Michigan Central, 130 asked; Michigan Southern, 109½ a 109¾; Illinois Central, 143 a 144; Cleveland and Pittsburg, 101½ a 101¾; Rock Island, 118⅜ a 118⅝; Northwestern, 82⅛ a 82¼; do. preferred, 96 a 96⅛; New Jersey Central, 104¼ a 104½; Hannibal and St. Joseph, 118 bid; Columbus, Chicago and Indiana Central, 39 a 39½.

THE COURTS.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Sentences—McHenry and Davis Sent to the Penitentiary.

Before Judge Benedict.

SENTENCE OF DAVIS.

George B. Davis, convicted of making a false affidavit against Collector Bailey, and John D. McHenry, convicted of making false affidavits and giving false testimony against Messrs. Rollins, Harland and others, were brought up for sentence in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Benedict, yesterday.

Davis was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor in the Kings County Penitentiary and was fined one dollar.

M'HENRY ASSERTS HIS INNOCENCE.

When McHenry was arraigned Judge Benedict told him that he had been found guilty of the crime of perjury and asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced.

McHenry said there was much that he could say, but he did not believe it would avail him anything to say it. He was bound to accept the verdict of the jury. His previous character was unimpeached, except by political enemies. His life had been an honorable one. He had yet to know wherein he had wronged any man. He trusted he could, depending upon his Maker, bear any punishment that the Court could inflict, believing that what he had sworn to was true, and, if he was about to meet his Maker, he would still assert such belief.

Judge Benedict, then addressing McHenry, said he had been found guilty of one of the most heinous crimes, committed under the most aggravating circumstances. The fact that within a short time five persons had been sentenced for making false affidavits against public officers showed how widely spread were such offences. The circumstances of McHenry's case were of such a nature as to leave no room to suppose that his sworn statements were made by mistake. It had been clearly shown that those statements were sheer fabrications. Under all the circumstances it was the duty of the Court to inflict the severest punishment the law permitted.

McHenry was then sentenced to pay a fine of $2,000 and to five years' imprisonment at hard labor in the Kings County Penitentiary.

Mr. Lapaugh, the counsel of Davis, entered a protest, both as Davis' counsel and as a citizen of the United States, against the proceedings in the trial of Davis, saying that the faith of the government was violated in having Davis enticed from the British dominions under the pledge of protection, and then trying him for perjury.

Judge Benedict said such a protest could not be entertained by the Court, but should be made to the proper authorities.

The United States Grand Jury on Notary Publics.

The Grand Jury for the United States Circuit Court, in appearing before Judge Benedict for the last time before being discharged, made the following special presentment:—

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES:—

SIR—The Grand Jury feel that they would be derelict in their duty did they not, before being discharged, call your Honor's attention to a matter which, while perhaps not coming within their immediate jurisdiction, seems to require a positive and radical reform, namely, the culpably loose and careless manner in which the office of notary public has come to be administered in this city, whereby the very plain intent of the law creating said office is entirely defeated, the statute requiring that certain documents shall be acknowledged or sworn to before a notary public, that the party therein named shall personally appear, shall be to the notary well known, and shall acknowledge the act to be his, or shall make oath to the truth of the contents subscribed to by him, having become an expense and hindrance without the supposed security; for we find in sundry cases that have come before us that the signatures to certain documents were fictitious, the parties purporting to have signed them myths; that these documents have, a dozen or more at a time, been left at different notaries by a messenger, and that repeatedly these have been duly attested by the notary and returned to the parties who have fraudulently used them. The evidence before us goes to show, however, that the notaries were not designedly accessory to the fraud.

JOHN W. GRAYDON, Foreman.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon Eugene Rosenwick, aged three years, was run over by a baker's wagon, in the Tenth ward, and was fatally injured.

THE REUNION AND BANQUET of the Army of the Potomac promises to be a great success. Telegraphic despatches have been received from General Sheridan, General Meade, Secretary Rawlins, Governor Hoffman and others announcing their intention to be present. The President and Cabinet, General Sherman, Admiral Farragut and other distinguished officials have been invited and are also expected to attend.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.—On Wednesday last the Sanitary Superintendent of the Metropolitan Board of Health submitted to the Board a very lengthy and elaborate report relative to the fat-rendering, gut-cleaning and tripe-boiling establishments, and their effects upon the sanitary condition of the various parts of the city in which they are located, and recommending the adoption of certain rules and restrictions for the government and regulation of the traffic.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL.—At a meeting of the Philharmonic Society held yesterday at the Germania Assembly Rooms it was unanimously resolved that a grand festival, entitled "The Empire State Musical Festival," shall be given next summer, on which occasion it is decided to secure the services of the most celebrated talent available of the two hemispheres in all departments the object being to make it essentially artistic and unapproachable in a musical point of view.

BODIES FOUND IN THE WATER.—The remains of an unknown woman, about twenty-one years of age, and somewhat advanced in decomposition, were found floating beside a schooner in the bay by Sergeant Kelly, of the Harbor Police, and towed to Castle Garden. Coroner Rollins was notified to hold an inquest.

The body of a child was washed ashore on Governor's Island, of which fact Lieutenant Belger, of Fort Columbus, notified Coroner Rollins. An inquest will be held.

FIRE IN SIXTH AVENUE.—A fire broke out in the grocery store of Henry F. Sifke, Jr., northeast corner of Sixth avenue and Amity street, last night, at a quarter to twelve o'clock. The fire first appeared behind the counter of the store, and from thence spread through the building. The house was owned by the father of the proprietor of the store. The house was insured for $3,000 and the stock in the store for $3,000 more. The loss from the fire is estimated at $400, all the stock having been destroyed. The house was insured in the Stuyvesant and the store in the Bowery Insurance Company.

FERRYBOAT COLLISION.—Considerable excitement was occasioned at half-past ten o'clock yesterday morning by a collision between the ferry boats Columbia and America at the Fulton ferry. The ferry boat America was lying in the east slip on this side of the river, and the Columbia attempted to enter the west slip. The tide, however, carried her over to the opposite slip, and before her speed could be checked she ran into the America, her deck going beneath the latter, and tearing away the iron pin and chains. Several planks were torn from the deck of the Columbia. The passengers escaped without injury.

THE POLICE BOARD.—A lengthy session of the Board of Police Commissioners was held yesterday, when a report was received from the Board of Surgeons, nominating two physicians for duty at the Central Office. The Board took no action upon it beyond instructing the clerk to draft a set of rules for the government of the Board of Surgeons. The Board then proceeded to effect the long-talked of transfers of captains and sergeants. Sergeant John Murphy, Eleventh precinct, was transferred to the Twentieth, in place of McCullough, sent to the Eleventh; J. E. Haley, Eighteenth, was sent to the Fourteenth, in lieu of James Loonie, assigned to the Eighteenth; S. V. Halbour, Forty-seventh, was assigned to the Fifteenth, in place of Lucien S. Field, sent to the Forty-seventh. Mr. Smith being called away at this stage of the session, the further transfers were deferred until a future meeting.

EXTENSIVE FIRE IN WHITE STREET.—An extensive fire broke out in the large building of Messrs. William J. Peake & Co., dry goods merchants, 48 and 50 White street, this morning, at half-past one o'clock. It originated in the packing room on the fifth story, and catching in a lot of light material packed on the stairway communicated to the store below. It was discovered by officer Banker, of the Fifth precinct, who gave the alarm. The firemen were promptly on the ground, and every effort was made to reach the seat of the fire, which was supposed to be in the centre of a quantity of dry goods in the packing room. When our reporter left (at forty-five minutes past one) the stock had suffered an estimated damage of $10,000, which was fully insured. When the fire broke out Mr. C. T. Banard, the bookkeeper of the establishment, was asleep on the first floor. The building is not much damaged, and the loss in dry goods will be principally by water, which was plentifully applied.

THE REPUBLICAN IMBROGLIO.

Meeting of the Republican General Committee Last Night—Denunciation of United States Marshal Barlow.

The Twenty-second Street Republican General Committee met last night at their headquarters, the President, Mr. J. V. Gridley, in the chair. The principal business which called the members together was to hear and take action on the report of a special committee appointed at their last meeting in reference to the alleged anti-republican course pursued by United States Marshal Barlow in not according a full meed of patronage to the republicans of this city.

Mr. CHARLES SPENCER read the majority report of the committee, which, after animadverting on the defiant position that General Barlow had assumed towards the republican party, set forth the following resolutions:—

Resolved That the working republicans of this country in the late Presidential election won the fight; that they are entitled to a legitimate part of the victory; that any public man who owes his position to their efforts and who ignores them commits political suicide; that Francis C. Barlow, as a public officer, occupying a position from the results of a republican political victory, is a representative of the republican party and in honor is bound, upon the recommendations of reliable and trusted republicans, to appoint men honest and capable (as well as republicans) to the offices in his gift, and that his refusal to take this course of action, in the judgment of the committee, is a gross error.

Resolved, That this committee respectfully and earnestly asks the President of the United States to remove from the office he holds Francis C. Barlow, and that such action will meet with the grateful approval of 45,000 republicans by this committee represented; That, aside from a bravery in the field shared with thousands of common soldiers, Mr. Barlow never has had any claim upon the republican party; and that his attempt to do an exclusively political business upon his own personal account ought to result in political bankruptcy.

Resolved, That a copy of the above report and resolutions, duly attested by the officers of this committee and signed by each member voting for their adoption, be sent to the President of the United States, to each member of his Cabinet and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Mr. LAWSON presented a minority report from the same committee to the effect that there was nothing in the political conduct of General Barlow that demanded such action as the majority report suggested.

Some debate here arose on the two reports, Mr. Sinclair Tonsey, ex-Judge J. C. White and others speaking in favor of General Barlow. The upshot of the whole thing was that the majority report was adopted, and the meeting broke up amid the smiles of the supporters of the measure and the chagrin of its opposers.

BOAT RACE IN THE NORTH RIVER.

Bell and Hayes the Contestants—The Former Breaks an Oar and the Latter Wins the Race.

A boat race of five miles, for $200 a side, between Frank Bell and W. H. Hayes, came off yesterday afternoon between the Elysian Fields and Wehawken. There was the usual delay in starting the boats, those in charge of the arrangement appearing to find that in the meantime a good deal of profit and interest might be derived from a lively and prolonged course of betting and a large and rapid consumption of lager beer. Anyhow, the race, which should have taken place at three o'clock, did not come off until after five. The attendance of spectators was large, especially on the Erie Railroad pier, where every pile of rubbish was seized upon as a vantage ground from which to have a good view of the contest.

A good many small boats kept moving around the starting point all the afternoon, but when the two men made their appearance in their light, frail skiffs, ready for the struggle, the mosquito fleet of punts, dugouts, outriggers, &c., cleared away and gave a tolerable clear field to the contestants. Both got away evenly at the signal, but Bell, who held the outside course, had hardly proceeded twenty feet when he broke his left oar and wobbled considerably in the effort to recover himself. Undeterred by this disaster, he struck out with the broken blade, and having, after half a dozen pulls, reached his guide boat, he was supplied with a new oar, but one not quite corresponding with the right oar, which he retained. In the meantime Hayes had shot ahead over 300 feet, but when Bell got his pair of blades, unmatched as they were, fairly in the water, he crept rapidly up to his opponent amid the wild cheers of a rough and ready mob on board the steamer Virginia Seymour. Hayes had the smooth still water by the shore, the other, badly fixed as he was, took the current of the tide against him. Hayes worked along without a flaw in his rowing. He pulled from beginning to end with unflagging spirit, and after he had once fairly distanced his rival maintained his advantage with increasing odds to the end. The mile and a half stake was passed by Hayes in thirteen minutes, by Bell in thirteen minutes and seventeen seconds. The steamers Virginia and Wilbur accompanied the boats all along, the crowd on one cheering boisterously for Bell, the crowd on the other for Hayes. Hayes turned the stakeboat, two miles and a half from the start, in twenty-five minutes and thirty seconds, Bell in twenty-six minutes and fifteen seconds. On the return it was thought that Bell would make up for lost time and finally outstrip Hayes, but his guide boat advised him, unfortunately, to take the still water near the shore, while Hayes, on the contrary, took the open river and the favoring tide, the result being that the latter left his rival hundreds of yards behind and reached the winning point in forty-five minutes and fifty-five seconds, the other in forty-six minutes and forty-two seconds. Judges for Hayes, John Blue, William Maguire. For Bell, Charles McClenna, J. Stevens. Referee, Peter O'Brien.

THE BROOKLYN PARK BANK ROBBERY.

The examination in the matter of the Park Savings Bank robbery was resumed before Justice Walsh yesterday afternoon.

Mr. W. C. Kingsley testified that he saw Edward Hanitzsch on Saturday last at the office of Mr. Gill and saw the bonds; after looking at the bonds and seeing that they were a portion of the stolen bonds he asked him where he got them; after some little delay he answered that he "got them from a man;" prisoner said he resided in New Jersey; asked him if he knew the bonds were stolen, and he said he did not; told him they were, and considered it his duty to take the bonds and have him arrested; asked him again where he got the bonds and he replied from Mr. Frink; asked witness not to have him arrested and taken through the streets, and said he would remain until his employer (Mr. Le Baron) could be sent for, from whom he said he got the bonds.

William H. Rogers testified that he was in court on Tuesday during the first examination of the case; conversed with the prisoner at Grogan's saloon; prisoner asked him if he was a reporter, and he told him he was not; told him he thought he was and wanted him to write as favorable a report as possible; asked him if he did not think the testimony of the principal witness was very damaging; he answered that he did not know, but that most of it was true; he asked if it was not mean for the witness to repeat what he had told him in confidence.

Cross-examined—Was not introduced to prisoner; met him again at Grogan's, but not by appointment or request; asked me then if it was not mean to expose him after making a confidant of the witness; told him it was.

District Attorney said he did not propose to examine any more witnesses.

Mr. Wood, counsel for the prisoner, thought he ought to be discharged; but from the testimony elicited, and as the District Attorney was desirous of getting on the track of some $30,000 worth of bonds which had been stolen, it was not reasonable to suppose his discharge could be effected at the present time. He was satisfied from the examination that the prisoner was innocent, and he moved that he be admitted to bail. He said he would waive further examination. The prisoner was then called to the stand and his voluntary examination taken. He said he was twenty years of age; was born in Germany; lived at Elizabeth, N. J.; was a clerk and was not guilty of the charge preferred against him. Mr. Wood then examined the prisoner as a witness. He testified that he was a clerk in the employ of Mr. Le Baron, No. 25 Pine street; offered the bonds for sale by Mr. Le Baron; offered six for sale; Mr. Le Baron told him that Mr. French was a dealer in Brooklyn securities; that he might go to him and try and get the money for them; saw Mr. French the next day and he said he would find a purchaser for those bonds, and he appointed twelve o'clock the following day to call again; accompanied Mr. French to Brooklyn, was introduced to Mr. Gill, and was arrested at his office; Mr. Le Baron came over in the evening and tried to have him released on bail; had been in Mr. Le Baron's employ since October last at a salary of eight dollars per week; his father and mother lived in Saxony; conversed with Mr. Rogers and told him, thinking that he was a reporter, that he wanted as much publicity given to his acquittal as to arrest, said that what Latourette had told was mostly false.

Mr. Wood then renewed his motion to admit the prisoner to bail. The Judge denied the motion, and committed the prisoner to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

Commander D. L. Braine has been detached from ordnance duty at the New York Navy Yard and ordered to report to Admiral Godon as equipment officer of the Navy Yard. Commander C. H. Cushman, who formerly occupied this place, has been ordered to Washington, D. C., on duty at the Bureau of Equipment.

Admiral Turner has assumed the command of the consolidated squadrons of the North and South Pacific. Admiral Craven will remain in command of the Mare Island station, California.

THE CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.

Completion of the Capture—All the Vessels and Two Hundred Additional Prisoners Seized—Affairs at the Navy Yard—England the Future Base of Operations.

At last the finale of the great Cuban filibustering expedition has been reached, and its failure is as absolute as its results are disastrous. When Marshal Barlow directed all his energies to the detection and detention of the Catharine Whiting as the transport ship of the entire force, he effected an easy victory by a piece of clean strategy, as positive in its result as though he had seized each of the auxiliary vessels at their piers of debarkation. The capture of the tugboats Cool, Mabie and Webb, with 112 prisoners on board, has been already fully detailed by the HERALD correspondent who accompanied the expedition, who also stated that Colonel Ryan, with about 300 men, the steamer Chase and two schooners laden with ammunition and war materiel, had remained at Gardiner's Island, at the head of Long Island Sound.

On Wednesday evening, acting under instructions from Marshal Barlow, Deputy Marshal Crowley proceeded by rail to Milford, Conn., information having been received that the two schooners were unloading their cargoes at that place. The revenue cutter Mahoning also steamed up the Sound to the same destination. The two schooners, the Fancy and the Winona, were found at an abandoned pier a short distance from Milford, and an armed crew from the cutter was sent on board each vessel. The Fancy had already discharged the greater part of her cargo; but the Winona had not yet done so—in fact, being heavily laden, she could not get near the dock. The portion of the Fancy's cargo which was on the pier comprised about 150 cases, containing sabres, rifles, fixed ammunition, saddles, bridles, clothing, shoes, medical stores and other material necessary for the purposes of the troops, and in quantity sufficient to equip 1,000 men more completely than are any similar number now in the ranks of the revolutionists. Several pieces of field artillery are also embraced in the seizure.

The tugboat Chase was pursued and captured with about 200 of Colonel Ryan's men on board, but it was unknown whether Colonel Ryan was among the number, as no one of the officials present could identify him. One of the deputy marshals, who is known also, in addition to that position, to hold the very enviable post of a Spanish spy, has "laid himself out" for the capture of Colonel Ryan especially with the eagerness of a bloodhound, and should the colonel be among the captives, his pursuer, although baffled in his frantic efforts to capture, will no doubt gloat like a savage over the pleasure of identifying him. The deputy referred to has made himself the personal foe of Colonel Ryan and the mutual feelings of each toward the other are of a deadly description.

All the vessels captured started yesterday on their way down the Sound and were expected to arrive at the Navy Yard late last night, when the prisoners from the Chase would be placed with the captives who arrived on Wednesday, and the vessels will be also detained there with the steamers already seized.

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Yesterday afternoon, in conformity with instructions received from Washington by Admiral Godon, all the prisoners who arrived on Wednesday and who had been transferred to the receiving ship Vermont, were taken from the latter vessel and "put on board their own vessel, the Whiting," as Captain Strong, the gentlemanly executive officer of the Navy Yard, expressed it. The instructions received directed that the prisoners should be placed in the custody of Marshal Barlow, and be subsisted by him, the United States authorities to furnish the necessary guard. During the time they have been at the Navy Yard they have been victualled by the naval authorities. The prisoners generally express themselves as satisfied at the treatment shown them by the authorities, from the Admiral down to the marines and seamen. Numbers of officers and seamen have expressed openly at the Navy Yard, while on duty over the prisoners, the disgust they feel at being required to interfere with them, and openly avow their sympathy with the patriot cause. Señor Alfaro, the reputed Secretary of War of the Cuban Junta, is among the number, and has been promoted to the position of "cook of prisoners' mess No. 11," which duty he discharges as well as his limited culinary experience will allow, but with the best possible humor and kindness to his fellow messmen. It is rather strange, however, to see a fine-looking and wealthy Señor handling pots and pans, serving out spoons and soup dishes and issuing to the men their doses of broth.

FORFEITED AS A PRIZE.

Mr. Franklin, part owner of the tug Mabie, which was seized with the Cool at Gardiner's Island, called on the Marshal yesterday morning to learn the fate of his boat. He was informed that she is forfeited to the government on account of her implication with a violation of the neutrality laws, and that she will be sold and the proceeds of the sale divided among the crew of the cutter Hugh McCulloch. On application he was given a permit to go on board of her, and got a recommendation from the Marshal to the Admiral of the Navy Yard to be allowed to place a man on board of her to look after the machinery.

THE TREASON

of some of the men connected with the enterprise is slowly developing itself, and there is little doubt that their conduct had much to do with the frustration of the object of the expedition. Besides this it is asserted that a Spanish spy on board the Cool disembarked at New London when the vessel arrived there on Monday and telegraphed information of the whereabouts of the squadron to New York.

The result of this matter is such as to deter any future attempts of a like character; but the leaders of the enterprise are still undaunted at their reverse, and it is probable that parties will in a few days leave New York for England to make arrangements for the fitting out of an expedition from that country, and to tender the protectorate of Cuba to Great Britain. Another expedition is about completed and will start from a part of the coast remote from New York, where there is no chance of detection or interference.

THE WARD FORGERY CASE.

Revival of the Velocipede Mania—A Swell on His Travels.

The arrest of Joseph Ward alias James Martin alias Dr. Hunter, and an indefinite number of other aliases, which took place on Tuesday, reveals an interesting character of sharp and successful financial operations. As thus far developed the operations of the prisoner have been exclusively confined to alleged operations in fraudulent checks, which, through forged certificates, he has had no difficulty in converting into the more solidified and substantial form of current greenbacks. The prisoner was yesterday morning brought before Judge Hogan at the Tombs. He was dressed in a stylish suit of Scotch gray, and altogether was very neatly and unexceptionably gotten up; but both in his apparel and the cut of his whiskers such a complete transmogrification has he undergone that it was with difficulty some of his victims, of whom about a dozen were present, were able to identify him.

The proceedings in court were long. First an affidavit was made against the prisoner by Mr. George Plumridge, in the employ of Calvin Witty. In his affidavit it was stated that the accused on the 1st of last month came to Mr. Witty's establishment, and, the velocipede mania being then at its height, purchased one of the "fiery untamed" bicycles. In payment for the purchase he gave a check for $253 on the National Shoe and Leather Bank, drawn to the order of James Martin, signed Frank Bird, and duly endorsed and certified. Everything seemed all right. His check was taken, and to Mr. Martin, the name he thus assumed as his own, counted out $113 in greenbacks, the difference between the amount of the check and the velocipede. In the usual order of business the check found its way into the Shoe and Leather Bank and was returned as worthless. As to the check, Mr. John M. Crom, cashier of the bank, made an affidavit that no such man as Frank Bird kept an account there, and that the certification was a forgery.

Upon the above affidavits the prisoner was remanded to prison, he not being able to furnish the $2,500 bail required for his formal examination. He gave his age as thirty, and his business that of a physician. As to the charge, he pleaded not guilty. Those claiming to have been victimized by him form quite a host. Among them are Broshaw Brothers and Knox the hatter, who for once in his life knocks under at being taken in and done for. When the present complaint is disposed of the affidavit of these parties will be taken. The aggregate of his forgeries is said to amount to several thousand dollars. His prepossessing appearance, gentlemanly manners, liberal purchases, which he invariably made after banking hours, and the skilfully forged certifications of the checks he presented were his capital in trade, and, according to the allegations made against him, he made use of this capital to most brilliant advantage.

ACADEMY OF MOUNT ST. VINCENT.

The twenty-third annual commencement of this renowned institution was held yesterday at the Academy at Mount St. Vincent, and as a matter of course there was present during the exercises an exceedingly large and fashionable audience; for, as everybody knows, commencement day on the Mount, at Fonthill Castle, is an event of no ordinary importance in the eyes of New Yorkers. Special trains were run on the Hudson River Railroad for the benefit of the friends and admirers of the institution during the entire forenoon, but they barely sufficed to accommodate the numbers who left this city and the intermediate stations, to witness the exercises. The ladies were—as they generally are whenever there is anything worth seeing or hearing about a commencement—vastly in the majority, and the result was an assemblage of beauty in the hall where the commencement was had that was perfectly bewildering—a result which was, after all, inevitable, inasmuch as there are no ugly women nowadays, at least in New York. Besides, the old graduates of the institution and the relatives and friends of the present pupils were numbered by the hundred, while the clergy presented a formidable array, Vicar General Starrs, Fathers McNierny, Mooney, Brean and Quinn, of this city, and Gokeln, of Fordham College, and Caro, of West Point, being of the number.

The exercises were had in the large hall of the Academy, the stage portion of which was tastefully decorated with evergreens, and were opened by a Rondo Militaire, which was performed on eight pianos by Misses Wilson, Walsh, McGlynn, Robbins, M. E. Connolly, M. Garrett, Perkins, Devlin, Bennett, M. Smith, Bachia, A. Smith, Lamb, Donahue, K. Robbins, Crean. It is almost needless to state that the effect of this thirty-two-hand combination was very grand, and was loudly applauded by the audience, as were an overture by Auber and a concordantia by Ascher, which were also performed by sixteen of the pupils. A dialogue in French and a melodrama, in which the Academy figured most [illegible] attractive features of the [illegible], were also quite attractive entertainment. The following young ladies, at the close of the overture, were crowned and awarded the "academic honors:"—Miss Mary A. Reilly, of Jersey City, N. J.; Mary A. Walsh, Brooklyn, L. I.; Margaret E. Wilson, Baltimore, Md.; Kate V. St. John Noyes, New Haven, Conn.; Mary E. Loughran, Westchester, N. Y.; Margaret Kearney, New York; Kate K. Boyd, New Orleans, La.; Amanda Bussing, Westchester, N. Y.; Maria L. Konvalinka, Brooklyn, L. I.; Louise Bruguiere, New York; Mary Hughes, St. Louis, Mo., and Caroline C. Connolly, New York. The gold medal donated by the archbishop for the best original essay was awarded to Kate V. St. John Noyes, of New Haven, Conn. The salutatory, composed by Miss K. Noyes, was delivered by Miss Kent, and the valedictory, composed by Miss Konvalinka, by Miss Bruguière. After the distribution of premiums Archbishop McCloskey addressed the graduates in his usually felicitous manner and was followed by Bishop Lynch, of Charleston.

THE NEWS.

Europe.

The cable despatches are dated July 1.

The London journals publish that something is wrong with the new French cable, and that it has been cut and buoyed. The Great Eastern is returning probably to discover the fault that was noticed on the 25 h ult.

The Lord Mayor of London entertained the Ministers at the Mansion House last evening at a banquet, during which Mr. Gladstone spoke on the Irish Church question.

A fearful nitro-glycerine explosion has occurred in Wales, killing four men.

The bullion in the Bank of England has increased £156,000 since last week.

The Buckingham mission is about to leave Paris for Stockholm.

In the Cortes yesterday General Prim denied any intention to attempt a coup d'etat.

Cuba.

An American engineer, recently from Puerto Principe, says the condition of the garrison in that town is dreadful, there being ten deaths a day in the hospitals. The insurgents were conducting the siege with great activity. An American named Speckman, one of the crew of the Grapeshot, had been executed at Santiago.

South America.

We have dates and letters from Panama to the 23d, Lima, Peru, to the 15th and Valparaiso to the 26 of June. The new canal projects have been rejected by the Colombian Congress. Secretary Borie's apology for the landing of marines on Colombian territory in order to capture deserters is published. President Balta, of Peru, in reply to a request of a mass meeting that the monitors be tendered the Cuban insurgents, replied that he would do what tended most to the honor of Peru. A fire had occurred at Santiago, Chile, involving a loss of $400,000.

West Indies.

Advices from St. Thomas to the 16th ult. announce that Sir Arthur Rumbold, Bart., Governor of the Virgin Islands, died suddenly there on the 12th ult. An immense crowd of people of all ranks and positions attended the funeral. It is the general opinion that slow poison was administered to Sir Arthur by some of his political enemies in Tortola.

We learn from St. Domingo that General Cabral had succeeded in landing with a strong force at Azua. General Luperon sailed from St. Marc in the steamer Telegrafo for St. Domingo to blockade that port, and Cabral proposes to invest the city by land and so cut off all communication. The Telegrafo had been in to Puerto Plata and attempted to bombard the town, but her guns would not reach. She was driven off by the guns of the fort. The Senate has declared her a pirate. A correspondent states that Baez had left his capital and gone to Monte Christo.

Advices from Porto Rico state that the Captain General had ordered four of the ringleaders of the recent military emeute to be tried by court martial and immediately shot; but the officers composing the court disagreeing as to the punishment proper to be inflicted, the affair remains unsettled. In Ponce and Mayaguez the feeling against the Spaniards is becoming more bitter daily. The people have received the news of the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents by Peru and Chile with great rejoicing.

Miscellaneous.

The public debt statement just issued shows a decrease in the debt during June of $16,410,132.

President Grant delivered the diplomas to the graduates at Georgetown College yesterday. A seat next his own was reserved for ex-President Johnson, but he did not arrive until the exercises were closing.

The Democratic State Convention in California has adjourned. It passed resolutions favoring the fifteenth amendment and the adoption of the postal telegraph system.

The Richmond (Va.) police force is to be increased on election day and armed with muskets and bayonets.

The floods have been very destructive in the neighborhood of Junction City, Kan. Thirteen lives are known to have been lost and more probably were.

The City.

General Butterfield was regularly installed in the Sub-Treasury yesterday.

The yacht Dauntless was seen on the 29th, 250 miles east of Sandy Hook.

Hastings, who killed Frank Bunker, it is reported, has been arrested in Boston.

There are still $200,000 or more of the Ocean Bank money in the hands of the thieves. The bank officials have offered $25,000 for the arrest of the thieves, although they claim that the bank did not lose over that amount.

The stock market yesterday was irregular, opening strong and buoyant and then undergoing a sharp decline on the leading speculative shares. Gold advanced to 137½ but thence declined to 136¾.

Prominent Arrivals in the City.

Sir John Barrington, of Dublin, Ireland, and General Parker, of Washington, are at the Brevoort House.

General Craig W. Wadsworth, of New York, and General W. Dwight, of Boston, are at the Albemarle Hotel.

Ezra Cornell is at the Coleman House.

Colonel B. C. Whitely, of Washington, is at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Thomas Coffin and P. Power, members of Parliament for Nova Scotia, are at Sweeny's Hotel.

Ex-Governor Fletcher, of Missouri, is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

General W. Q. Gresham, of Indiana, is at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Prominent Departures.

Count Zwitzwiski, Secretary to the Russian Legation at Washington, and Nathaniel McKay, for Boston; Major General Heintzelman for Englewood.

Captain Abner Mellen, of General Varian's staff, and party, start to-day on an equestrian tour through the White Mountains.

General Sickles, Minister to Spain, and his family, and George Wilkes, Editor of The Spirit of the Times, sailed yesterday for Europe in the steamship Union.

The New Labor Movement—The Chinese in the South.

Progress is the watchword of the grand movements which are now spreading throughout all the ramifications of society in the Old World and the New. In peace and war, in sunshine and storm, in the midst of physical, political and religious convulsions, progress is the irresistible law of civilization. It is at once the motive and the object of the strange restlessness which is agitating vast populations in Europe and in Asia and driving them to seek in the two Americas, that now form the new centre of the world, incalculable resources of sustenance, wealth and power for at least thirty-six hundred million inhabitants.

We seem to have reached a period in many respects similar to these diverse epochs in the history of the distribution of human races over the surface of the globe when great migrations have taken place and the inhabitants of one climate have been visited, if not overwhelmed, by a mysterious influx of inhabitants of some other climate. As at the creation the spirit of God moved over the face of the waters, so at these epochs the spirit of man has moved over the face of the earth. It has impelled numerous tribes and whole nations across plains, mountains, rivers and even oceans, and deposited them in regions far remote from their original birth place. We lately referred to the extraordinary statistics of European immigration to the United States during the past fifty years, and particularly to the recent startling increase of Swedish emigration to this country, as forcibly illustrating this point.

It is likely to be illustrated still more forcibly and on a grander scale by Chinese immigration, which within a very few years has brought to our shores at least two hundred thousand Mongolians. Notwithstanding the restraints to which it has been subjected—in the first place by the Chinese government, and in the next place by the absurd and cruel legislation of California—this immigration is daily increasing. An intelligent writer in the July number of the Galaxy says that, with an emigration from China standing in the same ratio to the home population that the drain from Germany holds to the population of that country, we should have an influx of more than one million Chinese yearly. "Ten years of this rate would place upon our soil a preponderance of male adults of Mongolian blood over those of all the other families of man among us." This is surely an astounding prospect.

Aside from all other problems suggested by it, Chinese immigration is manifestly inaugurating a new labor movement of immense importance. The single fact that the Pacific Railroad has been built by Asiatic labor is pregnant with significance. By this fact the Chinese have earned their title to recognition as a necessary element for the development of the resources of the far West. California is beginning to repent of her suicidal policy towards them. As this policy is gradually modified her material prosperity is advanced. The Chinese, we are informed, are found now in woollen, paper and powder mills; in the borax works, in the hop plantations, fruit orchards and vineyards; following the reaping machines on farms and working the salt pits on the coast; doing almost universally the cooking, and engaged in hundreds of branches of industry that would be impossible without their cheap labor.

But even if California should persistently enforce her inhuman laws against the Chinese, what would be her inevitable loss might prove a great gain to the rest of the country. Asiatic labor might extend more rapidly along the line of the Pacific Railroad until by its unsurpassed perseverance, ingenuity and thrift it should irrigate and fertilize even our great American desert, make our mountain wildernesses blossom like the rose, drain malarious districts, build up such dykes to prevent the overflow of the Mississippi as their earliest ancestors built to control their own more unmanageable Yellow river; develop to a degree now undreamed of the productiveness of the entire valley of the Mississippi; find their way into every branch of industry and trade, even in our Middle and Northern States; and especially solve the problem of elevating the Southern States to higher prosperity than was ever attained before the war.

The Chinese alone retain their innate energy beneath tropical suns. Their ultimate destiny may be to reclaim all the vast areas of tropical lands, insular and continental, which have hitherto been, comparatively speaking, a closed world. Meanwhile plenty of land and plenty of work can be found for them in our Southern States. We hail, therefore, with satisfaction the welcome which the Southern planters are about to offer to Chinese immigrants. A convention has been called, to meet at Memphis on the 13th of July, for the special encouragement of Chinese immigration. It will be composed of delegates from all parts of the South, particularly from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee. It is expected, moreover, that Koopmanshaaf, one of the principal Chinese contractors at San Francisco, who has already brought fifty thousand of his countrymen to America, will be present at the convention, and will unfold his plans for organizing a mighty scheme of direct immigration to the South. We shall look upon the presence of Koopmanshaaf at such a convention as an event of historical moment. If Sambo will insist on turning office-seeker, and will not work, the sooner John Chinaman takes his place the better.

"PEACE HATH HER VICTORIES NO LESS RENOWNED THAN WAR."—New cantata by Jubilee Gilmore. His benefit concert realized over twenty thousand dollars, which, with his twenty-five thousand dollar gift house, will do pretty well.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF A COMMON MISFORTUNE.—The grain dealers in Chicago and other Western grain marts have taken advantage of the recent deluge in some of the Western States and the supposed prospective injury to the wheat crop to send up the price of grain, and, of course, the price of flour must be enhanced in a still greater ratio. The rise, however, must only be temporary, for the Southern wheat crop is not only beyond danger, but a good deal of it is already in market. The bulls in the grain markets are straining every nerve to appreciate prices in view of the extraordinary yield of wheat and corn betokened in every part of the country.

The News from Cuba and the Cuban Question.

We publish to-day very interesting advices from Cuba by letter and telegram. The course of the revolution runs on without any remarkable event to hasten the result, and disease among the troops and volunteers is beginning to play the same part with the Spanish forces in the field which it did a few years since during the Spanish invasion of St. Domingo, when thirty thousand men were sacrificed for an idea that, after all, was never vindicated. Our letters from Havana bear date previous to the recent arrival of General Rodas, and besides bearing witness to the taming of the rebellious spirit of the volunteers they make mention of two very important points—the admitted need at every point under insurrection of large reinforcements to the troops, and the approach of an insurgent body to Colon, the centre of the great slave district of the island, and distant but little over one hundred miles from Havana.

Our telegraphic advices give the report of an American engineer from Puerto Principe, near which place General Quesada is operating. He reports that the operations of both sides are trivial in results, but the patriots are becoming bolder and more active—a fact which the Spaniards attribute to the presence of Americans among them. Disease is doing its work among the Spanish troops in garrisons there, while the feeling of terror among the people was inducing many to flee the island. According to this report the Spanish officers in the field state that reinforcements to the extent of forty thousand men are required to put down the revolution. This number Spain is ill able to send, with her exhausted exchequer and her own troubles at home with the democratic past of Tortosa, the Carlists and the numerous opponents of the new régime. At Santiago an American sailor named Speckman, who had formed one of the crew of the schooner Grapeshot, had been captured and shot. The matter has been represented to the government at Washington.

Thus we see that the Cuban question grows in complication and importance, while the administration is likely to have its hands full with the proceedings against the Cuban Junta and the filibusters here. In view of the trouble these are giving the government, and the fizzle of their late attempt to circumvent the law, probably the best thing they can do is to take a new departure with fresh men at the lead. Señor Morales Lemus, with Goicouria, Ryan & Co., are likely to keep the officers of Spain and our own pretty busy, and a new organization here, leading off quietly in another direction, would be able to do much good to their cause. At the same time they could assist the new negotiations which it is whispered Spain is willing to enter upon. The progress that Cespedes and Quesada are making in Cuba, with disease as their ally against Spain, and a few hundred experienced Americans to inspire their movements, indicate that the Cuban republic will soon need new men here for diplomatic purposes.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—The report of the Treasury Department for the month of June exhibits a still further decrease of the debt of the nation, the reduction during the thirty days amounting to $16,410,132; making the aggregate decrease since the 1st of March, three months inclusive, foot up $36,610,799. This is very gratifying.

THE FRENCH TRANSATLANTIC CABLE.—Communication by signal through the French Atlantic cable from on board the Great Eastern to the shore end station at Minou, near Brest, and vice versa, was interrupted about nine o'clock Wednesday morning, and has not, so far as we have heard to the present hour, been restored. The electricians in charge of the wire report that there is no reason for alarm, the delay in signalling being, as supposed, caused merely by the occurrence of one of those "kinks" or rope snarls which produced so many alternations of feeling between hope and dread of failure during the progress of the work of submerging the cable now in use. The French cable has been, it is thought, cut and buoyed in shoal water, so as to effect the removal of the faulty part, if there be any, or to straighten it out if necessary. Sir Wm. Thomson telegraphs from France that the exact reason of the interruption was not known. We sincerely hope that it may prove to be only trivial and temporary, and that the great undertaking will proceed to a successful completion.

THE NUISANCES OF THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—On every side our ears are saluted with the preliminary poppings of the glorious Fourth of July. We do not know that any amendment has been made to the constitution by which these nuisances have been extended over the preceding week, and we think they should be stopped. If the police cannot control the boys they can control the innumerable itinerant sellers on the streets, who not only supply the boys with torpedoes, Chinese crackers and other appliances to make the community uncomfortable and delight the sneak thieves with hopes of fire, but who also keep up a continual noise by way of announcing their dangerous wares. They should be stopped, and we look to the police to compress the Fourth of July into that portion of the almanac that legitimately belongs to it.

A NEAT BIT OF DIPLOMACY.—General Sickles, at his public reception on Wednesday evening, in the course of "a few remarks," said in reference to his mission to Spain:—"I shall try to do my duty. That duty will be to obey the orders of my government and to faithfully represent its policy in Spain, our oldest ally, our earliest friend, who has honored herself by her noble efforts during the past year to place her government upon the sure and safe foundations of constitutional liberty." Surely after this Marshal Serrano will dismiss all apprehensions touching the mission of General Sickles, for even in this little speech he doubtless spoke by authority.

POSTAL TELEGRAPHS.—The California Democratic State Convention, in session in Sacramento, adopted a resolution condemnatory of the present tariff charge rates for telegraphing made by one of the large corporations, as well as of monopolies in general in such direction. They advocate a reform by the legalizing of a postal telegraph system. California is on the right track. She has the Pacific Railroad, and wants an efficient, well regulated telegraph.

The New Irish-American Movement.

The president of the Irish Republican Association of Pennsylvania (Mr. Moriarty) is out with a card cautioning the members against an apprehended packing of their general convention, which is to assemble at Chicago on the 4th inst., with Irish democrats, and says that the objects of the convention are universal suffrage, protection to American industry, attachment to the Union and the social and political elevation of the Irish race. This is a republican movement for the Irish vote; but why is it feared that the democrats will attempt to pack the convention? It is because of this protection of American industry. The democratic party is coming out for free trade; and free trade will open our markets to English manufacturers at cheaper rates than our own factories can produce the same articles. "Very well," says the democrat, "shall the masses of the people be forever taxed to keep up our home manufactures and to enrich these monopolies?" But what will be the retort of the republican to the Irish-American? "Will you, Irishmen, go for free trade when its sure effects will be at the expense of American industry, to enrich the manufacturers of England, and so from this country to strengthen the British despotism over Ireland?" This Irish republican movement, then, on protection to American industry, is a shrewd device, and will be apt to make a sensation in the general reorganization of our political issues and parties for 1872.

The Close of the Fiscal Year—The Government Finances.

Yesterday was the government New Year's, the previous day, June 30, being the close of the fiscal year. The vast array of clerks at the various departments at Washington are busily at work closing up accounts and striking the balances of the business of the government for the past twelve months. Some of the results are already arrived at. The total receipts from revenue and customs were over three hundred and forty million dollars—a sum much larger than predicted—showing the success which has attended the reforming of the odious features of the tax laws. The expenses of the government during the same period will not be known for a few days, as the arithmetical labor connected with their preparation enforces delay; but they are estimated at three hundred and twenty-five million dollars, so that Secretary Boutwell will have a large surplus with which to carry out the Sinking Fund law. With this flattering intelligence comes the monthly statement of the national debt, showing a reduction of over sixteen million dollars for the month of June.

The following table shows the receipts of the government in each of the following fiscal years, ending on the 30th of June:—

	Internal Revenue.	Customs.	Total.
1869.....	$309,226,813	$179,046,651	$488,273,464
1868.....	266,027,677	176,417,810	442,445,487
1867.....	191,087,739	161,164,599	352,252 188
1866.....	253,257,176	182,300,000	310,257 176

GENERAL PRIM assures the Spaniards that the government will "never attempt a coup d'etat." Why mention such a contingency?

THE COTTON CROP.—While the cotton spinners of England are holding meetings and passing resolutions to the effect that the cotton fields of America cannot fully supply the demand for the raw material, and in consequence are urging the encouragement of the growth of the staple in the East Indies, our Southern planters are indulging the hope that the present season will prove the most remarkable one as regards cotton production that has ever occurred in this country. The Southern States are capable of raising cotton enough to supply the markets of the world, and as soon as the labor problem is definitely settled, either by the blacks going voluntarily and vigorously to work or by the substitution of European and Asiatic labor, this will be demonstrated to the satisfaction of every cotton spinner in Europe or America.

BRIGHT AND FOSTER.—What is the matter? John Bright is a Quaker. So is W. E. Foster. In spite of their Quakerism they have both forced themselves into prominent positions in connection with the Gladstone administration. They were both members of the Reform Club. They have retired from that club, says the cable, because the club refuses to elect as honorary member a gentleman whose name they had proposed. Was this gentleman a Quaker? We are not told. If our suspicions are well grounded Quakerism has had nothing to do with this matter. Bright and Foster are advanced liberals—a little too far advanced for the Reform Club. The Reform Club is a whiggish concern, and the whigs are nearly as conservative as the tories. If liberalism be the source and cause of this trouble we may rest assured John Bright will have his revenge. It is not wise of the landowners to provoke the wrath of the great tribune of the people. This little affair is interesting from its probable results.

THE LORDS AND THE IRISH CHURCH BILL.—After all this Irish Church bill seems safe in the House of Lords. The amendments offered by Lord Lifford, Earl Russell, Lord Redesdale and Baron Westbury, taken in connection with the previous feeling on the subject, seemed to indicate a terrific storm and very stubborn resistance. The storm does not appear to have been so alarming nor the resistance so stubborn after all. An insignificant amendment was carried on Wednesday night—an amendment which in no way affects the character of the bill; but the clauses from number two to twelve were afterwards agreed to without discussion. The preamble of the bill has been reserved for future discussion; but unless something quite unforeseen transpires the bill will be read a third time and passed before the present session comes to a close. If such proves to be the fact Mr. Gladstone will have gained a victory which will be without precedent in the annals of parliamentary government. It is the first time that so grand and sweeping a reform has been achieved without revolution.

NITRO-GLYCERINE AGAIN.—An explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred in Wales yesterday. It was produced by concussion incident to the cartage of the material towards quarries near Carnarvon. Four men, with the horses employed, were blown to atoms, a railway station building was torn down and a village distant one-fourth of a mile much shaken. Is such an agent worth the risks incurred by its use?

THE NEW ASSISTANT UNITED STATES TREASURER.

Installation of General Butterfield—Valedictory of Mr. Van Dyck—Remarks of His Successor.

At a little after nine o'clock yesterday morning the force of employés in the Sub-Treasury to the number of sixty-seven, including heads and assistant heads of division, assembled in the rotunda of the building on Pine street to hear the valedictory remarks of the retiring Assistant Treasurer, Mr. Van Dyck, and to open acquaintance with his successor, General Butterfield.

Mr. Van Dyck said:—Gentlemen, I have come to bid you farewell and to express how grateful I feel to all of you here present for the faithful and generous aid you have invariably rendered to my administration of the affairs of this department. My connection with you has been of some considerable length, but marked throughout by recollections of a pleasant and satisfactory nature. Your duties in many instances were of an arduous and important character, but I fail to remember that I ever had occasion to remark a case of neglect or inattention to duty. In bidding my final leave, however, the emotion of regret at parting with so many familiar faces is blessedly qualified by the thought that I hand over the affairs of this department to one in whom you will find all those qualities of mind and heart that combine to secure an honorable appreciation and an accommodating esteem among men. I have now the very great pleasure of introducing to you General Butterfield, whose services in the field in the cause of the Union neither history nor his country will soon forget. In the duties upon which he now enters I have no doubt whatever that the same high amount which marked his military career will be less fully illustrated in less more peaceful scene of labor.

General Butterfield here came forward and said:—I feel highly complimented by the remarks of my worthy and respected friend and predecessor, and I trust that you will have no reason to find that I am a very greatly below the standard he has erected for me. The compliments my remarks be has made in reference to yourselves is an ample guarantee and encouragement for me to the same assiduity and generous assistance that have characterized your connection with him will enable me to discharge to the best of my humble ability the duties of this position. Mutual aid, freely and unstintingly rendered, makes the relations between those who have a common business to perform agreeable and happy. My aim shall be, while seasonal, performing the duty I have been assigned to discharge, to cultivate none but feelings of courtesy and kindness with those who are here united with me in the Sub-Treasury of the United States.

Mr. Van Dyck then introduced the following heads of divisions:—W. H. Ferris, E. H. Ingraham, C. H. Patterson, C. C. Field, C. H. Cady, H. A. Bowne, H. Wilson, W. Sacker; assistant heads of division, C. P. Gulick, A. L. Weaver, W. J. Brethen; and also the General was made acquainted with the rest of the employés, after which, in company with Mr. Van Dyck, he proceeded to his private office and entered upon the duties of the department.

At ten o'clock the doors were opened to admit the crowd outside waiting to get their coupons cashed. The rush was something like a holiday night at a theatre; but the officials in the building were numerous and skilful enough to prevent any awkward jams or bruises.

THE OCEAN BANK ROBBERY.

Fully $200,000 Still Missing.

No new revelations in the Ocean Bank robbery were made yesterday calculated to fix the offence upon any particular parties.

In addition to the $265,000 recovered by the police, it is known that fully $200,000 are still unaccounted for by persons who have made their losses known. A number of sufferers who had deposits in the institution have carefully abstained from reporting the amount to the bank, and consequently the exact value of the property carried off cannot be stated, but it will not likely fall short of half a million. In the newspapers of yesterday advertisements appeared offering rewards of twenty-five per cent for four different lots of securities, amounting in the aggregate to $125,000. It is understood that $75,000 of this sum was lost by Mr. Libbendall, $50,000 by Harrison Reed, and $25,000 by a gentleman of wealth who has taken care to keep his name from the public in the transactions of the bank. The statement having been made that the Irving National Bank was a heavy sufferer the officers have published a denial of any such losses.

The Board of Directors of the bank have offered a reward of $25,000 for the arrest of the guilty parties. As they propose to have gradated to the extent of from $20,000 to $27,000 only, this liberal reward has excited considerable comment and is generally looked upon as indicating that either the bank has sustained losses that the officers have feared to discharge by doing very a few that they will never be called upon to pay the amount offered, they put forth the card to impress the public with their sympathy for depositors.

There are very few persons who believe that the Superintendent of Police has given to the public a faithful and full statement of the manner in which the restoration was made. That the box was sent to Captain Jourdan is certain, and that it contained the sum named is equally certain; but the general impression is that but half the story has been told; that if the facts were known the box was deposited on Elizabeth street in accordance with a previous agreement entered into between the thieves and some person having sufficient influence to guarantee them protection from punishment. Nobody connects Captain Jourdan with any such compromise; but the air is filled with strange whispers of ugly compromises, and the Superintendent of Police is believed to be in a position to throw some light on the case if he choose so to do. His action in the entire case is severely criticised. When called upon by the bank officials it is known that he recommended them to employ private detectives, naming a party, promising them at the same time the assistance of his detectives. In this action he has seriously annoyed the Board of Police, who look upon it as an admission by the Superintendent that his officers are unequal to accomplish the arrest and conviction of the thieves, or that he does not desire their arrest.

The chief of detectives, Mr. Kelso, and his assistants, notwithstanding the singular recommendation of their Superintendent, are exerting themselves to unravel the mystery of the burglary, and for once they have been put upon their mettle. They say but little; but enough has leaked out to show that the force do not appreciate the compliment the Superintendent has paid them for energy and sagacity, and are not likely soon to forget it. The recommendation of the Superintendent to employ private parties has so scandalized the force that the Commissioners yesterday contemplation taking action to rebuke him had not one of their number been suddenly called away.

THE LATE REVOLT AT SING SING PRISON.

In connection with the seizure of a sloop by convicts last Wednesday morning—the particulars of which appeared in the HERALD of yesterday—it is asserted that had the keeper who was in charge of the revolters performed his duty promptly the vessel could not have been removed from her dock. When the preconcerted moment for action had arrived, and while five of the convicts were in the hold of the sloop, the apparent ringleader, a notorious fellow named Watson, unhesitatingly proceeded, in full view of his keeper, to cut the hawser with a shockknife. The last named party drew his revolver and ordered him to desist or he would blow his brains out. To this Watson replied, "You go to h—ll," and in a moment afterwards the rope was severed. As an excuse for stopping ashore and abandoning the men over whom he was placed, on seeing the vessel move off from the dock, the third keeper pleaded that the convicts drove him ashore under penalty of death if he remained; but this did not save him from immediate discharge. This brave (?) man, who, according to his own statement, was threatened with bodily harm, turned his back to the unarmed fugitives while the chambers of his revolver contained a bullet for every convict on board. The man Watson, who held the helm of the sloop, after directing her a few hundred yards from the dock, and while surrounded with flying bullets, defied and abused the guards and keepers, who were each endeavoring to bring him down. Drake, the convict, who was shot while trying single-handed to hoist a sail on the sloop, felt somewhat easier yesterday; but the prison physician believes that his wound is mortal. Although four of the convicts found in the hold of the vessel deny having had any participation in her seizure, Drake has since stated that all were alike guilty.

EXTENSIVE FIRE AT TARRYTOWN.

Shortly after ten o'clock last Wednesday evening, a fire broke out in the block of three story buildings on the corner of Main and Water streets, in this village, which in a few hours consumed the entire block, with two houses on Water street, in all valued at not less than $30,000. The origin of the fire is at present unknown. Some five or six families lived in the upper portion of the building, and it is thought that a kerosene lamp exploded in one of the rooms. As there is no fire engine in the village little or nothing could be done to stay the progress of the flames, which licked up the buildings so rapidly that their occupants had barely time to escape in their night-clothing. The principal losses are as follows:—J. L. Wigant, baker, loss on stock $1,200, insured in the Putnam Insurance Company for $1,000; William Vighoni, upholsterer, entire stock destroyed, loss $2,000, no insurance; Mrs. E. L. Freeland, milliner, damage to stock $2,000, fully insured in the Cleveland Insurance Company; B. Dauman, cigar maker, loss on house and stock $4,500, insured for $3,000, principally in the Yonkers and New York Insurance Company; Benjamin Meeker, house on Water street, $3,000, no insurance. Of the Main street block four houses were owned by Mrs. J. Q. Fowler, valued at about $10,000, on which there was $7,000 insurance in the Yonkers and New York Insurance Company. The other building was owned by Mrs. A. Foster, and was valued at $8,000, on which there was an insurance of $5,000 in the Yonkers and New York Insurance Company. It is believed that had the wind changed during the fire the entire lower portion of the village must have been destroyed.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 1, 1869.

Georgetown College Commencement.

The fifty-second annual commencement of the Georgetown College took place to-day. During the delivery of an oration by S. R. Mallory, Jr., on the subject of the French Revolution, President Grant, accompanied by his Assistant Private Secretary, R. M. Douglas, appeared at the door and was welcomed by the President of the College, who conducted him to a front seat, while the band played "Hail to the Chief" and a portion of the audience rose to do him honor. The President subsequently handed their diplomas to the graduates and the medals, &c., to the prize students of the other classes.

The degree of Master in Arts, in course, was conferred on Luis de Puebla, of Mexico. The honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred on Johnson Eliot, M. D., of the District of Columbia; Theodore H. Franklin, of Virginia; George A. Fitch, M. D., of West Virginia; Ernest Legardy, of Louisiana; Don José Antonio de Antonio, of Spain; Valentine McNally, M. D., of Connecticut; Frank Neale, of Texas. The degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred:—First, Henry M. Russell, of West Virginia; second, Walter R. Abell, of Maryland; third, Harry Walters, of Maryland; fourth, Sands W. Foreman, of California; fifth, Stephen R. Mallory, Jr., of Florida; sixth, James V. Coleman, of New York. After the distribution of the prizes President Bernard A. Maguire, S. J. S., made a brief address, at the conclusion of which he announced that a chair of English literature would be established in this college at the opening of the fall term.

It was expected that ex-President Johnson, one of whose sons is a pupil of the preparatory school, would be present, and a seat was accordingly reserved for him next that of President Grant. Owing to a detention Mr. Johnson did not reach the grounds, however, until the exercises were just closing.

Improved System of Mail Service.

To-day the mails on two thousand routes, directly under charge of the Contract Bureau of the Post Office Department, were started on a new term of service. Postmaster General Creswell has introduced an entire new system of surveillance, which this morning, the first day of the fiscal year, went into operation, over States by divisions and districts, embracing every post office and every mail route in the land, and so connected that in a short space of time the efforts and energies of two or three divisions can be combined in the suppression of wrong doing, or in promoting the interests of the department under any emergency.

Purchase of Government Bonds.

The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the Assistant Treasurer at New York to receive proposals till twelve o'clock, noon, on Saturday next for the sale to the government of not exceeding three millions of United States bonds, the same to be held by the Treasury Department subject to the future action of Congress.

Sixth Collection District of New York.

General Cochrane has accepted temporarily the position of Collector for the Sixth Collection district of New York, and duly qualified.

Discharge of Pension Office Clerks.

About thirty clerks of the Pension Office received notice of their discharge to-day. Many of their places will be filled by temporary clerks, suspended some time since, who have remained in the city for that purpose.

Personal.

Minister Thornton and family left here to-night for Newburyport, Mass., for a summer vacation.

Blacque Bey, the Turkish Minister, returned here to-day from the Virginia White Sulphur Springs, on a brief visit.

THE YACHT DAUNTLESS AT SEA.

Pilot Charles Cumisky, of pilot boat W. H. Aspinwall, reports having seen the yacht Dauntless at nine A. M. on the 29th ult., 240 miles east of Sandy Hook; wind at the time moderate, about seven knot breeze, and the yacht was going under all available canvas and moving through the water very fast.

MOVEMENTS OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.

Yesterday afternoon Vice President Colfax and wife arrived by rail at Irvington on the Hudson, where they were met by Moses H. Grinnell, at whose residence it is understood, they will remain for a short time.

DEPARTURE OF GENERAL SICKLES.

Major General Daniel E. Sickles, administration appointee as Minister to Spain, sailed yesterday afternoon in the Union, of the New York and Bremen line, and will proceed directly to Madrid. The party en voyage consists of the distinguished Minister, Mrs. Sickles, his mother; Miss Sickles, daughter of the General; Major Raphael and Major De Peyster, and Mr. A. A. Adee, the Minister's private secretary. Colonel John Hay, regularly appointed Secretary of Legation, is not of the party, and will not sail until the 10th inst., joining the legation at Madrid.

There was no demonstration, demonstration having been already exhausted and having gone to bed in the morning after a night of it. The party was escorted to the steamer by the members of the General's staff and a few military friends, with a select few political friends and a host of civilians, though, perhaps, it is not worth while to say that the latter escorted the party exactly. They simply put in an appearance to see the distinguished gentleman on board, those who were acquainted indulging in the luxury of a parting hand-shake; those who were not looking as if they would like to have done so. George Wilkes, Mr. Andrews (one of the earlier in the Grant movement as a Republican movement in this city) and other prominent republicans were present, and took leave of the General on board, with the exception of Mr. Wilkes, who accompanies him to Europe, though not as one of the party. For the rest—the hoi polloi, as the Greeks used to call them; the vermin, as Mousseigneur of France called them before the days of the revolution—for their benefit a sort of informal reception was improvised on deck; and thus were they afforded a parting look at the once distinguished hero, now distinguished diplomatic appointee.

PROSPECT PARK FAIR GROUNDS.

The racing on Saturday promises to be good from present indications. There will be five races run, the first a handicap hurdle race, with four starters. Harry Booth will carry 160 lbs., Lobelia 148 lbs., Bohannon 134 lbs. and Mitchell 115 lbs. Lobelia should win the race. This race will be followed by the Park Handicap, a dash of two miles, and the probable starters will be Sleety with 112 lbs. up, Gas with 114 lbs., Botepur with 109 lbs., General Yorke with 116 lbs. and General Duke with 114 lbs. This race will lay between the two Generals. The third race will be for the Sequel Stakes, two miles, for three year olds, and the probable starters will be Pompey Payne and Vespucius, with 117 lbs. each on their backs. Pompey ought to win. The extra seven pounds are penalties for being winners. The fourth race will be a dash of three-quarters of a mile, and the probable starters will be Lady Petry, Stamps and a gray filly by imported Eclipse, dam Fidelity. The meeting will close with the Consolation Premium, the entries for which will be made this evening.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE SINKING FUND.

A Nut for the Excise Board to Crack.

At the meeting of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund held yesterday at the Comptroller's office a large amount of routine business was transacted, after which came up a discussion in relation to the amount received for license fees by the Board of Excise. After a short conversational discussion the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Excise Board be notified that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, after a full investigation of the legal questions involved by the appropriation made for the various purposes by the Legislature out of the excise license fees, have unanimously arrived at the conclusion that the entire excise fees are pledged to the revenues of the city and county of New York for the redemption of the city debt, and that therefore the said Treasurer is respectfully advised that for any diversions of any part of said fund from said revenues, he will be held responsible, and that he be requested to account for all of said fees to the City Chamberlain.

The Commissioners then adjourned.

SIEGE OF PUERTO PRINCIPE.

Execution of American Filibusters in Santiago.

ACCIDENT TO THE FRENCH CABLE

Departure of the Burlingame Mission from Paris.

CUBA.

Report of an American Engineer—Condition of Affairs in Principe—Disease Among the Troops—Forty Thousand Recruits Wanted—Attempt on the Town—An American Sailor Shot at Santiago.

HAVANA, June 30, via KEY WEST, July 1, 1869.

An American engineer from Puerto Principe has arrived here via Nuevitas, which place he left on the 24th, and makes the following statement of affairs in and around the former city. He left Puerto Principe on the 17th.

At that time trivial results had been attained by the operations in that vicinity. The condition of the troops in garrison was dreadful, and their numbers were subject to constant depletion from casualties and disease. The hospitals were full, with an average of ten deaths a day.

On the 14th a foraging party had left the city, 150 strong, but were driven in and forty of them were sent to the hospital sick.

On the 18th a few patriots entered the city in disguise and tried to capture a sentinel, but were discovered and retreated with a loss of two.

On the 22d the patriots captured a detachment of 105 regulars at the first stat on from Principe.

The regiment of Catalan volunteers had lost 200 from sickness.

General Quesada, commander-in-chief of the patriots, was in the vicinity, and had become more active and bolder in his operations. The Spaniards attribute the recent successes of the patriots to the presence of Americans among them.

They admit that 40,000 more troops are required, and they expected large reinforcements to arrive with General Rodas.

The garrison in Principe are disheartened, while the Cubans are in terror and fleeing to the United States.

Advices from Santiago to the 23d states that an American named Speckman who was one of the crew of the Grapeshot and was captured on shore, had been shot. He claimed that he had been deceived when he shipped, was forcibly detained when landing, and surrendered to the troops after skirmishing. When he was taken to Santiago the Consul endeavored to save him and asked for a delay of the execution to enable him to present proofs, which was refused. The matter has been represented to our government.

The Lord Mayor's Banquet to the Ministers—The Premier on the Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The Lord Mayor gave a banquet to her Majesty's Ministers last night at the Mansion House. Mr. Gladstone was present and made a speech, in which he alluded to the Irish Church bill. He said the government had bestowed its best endeavors on the conduct of the measure, which formed a vital and essential portion of its work for the peace of Ireland and the security of the empire. Since the bill passed the House of Commons there had been great excitement, rumors of reaction and threatenings of its speedy doom. During this excitement he and his colleagues remained in a state of great tranquillity; for they felt that the review of their work was not a matter to arouse their jealousy, but was rather calculated to create satisfaction. Although great care had been bestowed on the bill, no doubt it still had many faults. The Premier concluded as follows:—"We shall be grateful for every improvement, and all changes shall be respectfully considered, subject to the position in which we stand—to words spoken and pledges given, and to the commission we have received. We tendered the terms of the covenant when in opposition, and shall not forget them when in power."

Amendments to the Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

In the House of Lords, to-night, the consideration of the Irish Church bill was resumed in committee. Clauses 11, 12, 13 and 14 were agreed to without amendment, except as to the date when the property of the Church shall pass into the hands of the commissioners, which was changed from January 1, 1871, to January 1, 1872.

It was promised, on the part of the government, that an additional clause should be framed, providing that the Irish bishops may retain their seats in the House of Lords.

The Bishop of Peterborough's amendment, that all compensation be paid without deduction therefrom of the income tax, was adopted by a vote of 95 to 50.

Clauses fifteen, sixteen, seventeen and eighteen were then agreed to, and the consideration of clauses nineteen, twenty, twenty-one and twenty-two was postponed.

Lord Carnarvon's amendment, fixing the commutation of life interests at fourteen years' purchase, was adopted.

The visit of the Viceroy of Egypt has terminated. His Highness left this morning for the Continent.

Meeting of Confederate Bondholders.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

Another meeting of the holders of Confederate bonds was held this evening. Admiral Warren, who presided, said he considered the position of the bondholders better even than if the late convention between England and America had been ratified, for their claims were now to be adjudicated upon.

The deputy chairman read a report, detailing what had been done in prosecuting the claims and explaining the present aspect of the case. He said they were not fighting their own but the battles of all those whose interests might be affected by changes of government, the principle involved being the inviolability of contracts made by de facto governments. The decision of Baron Hatherley, the Lord Chancellor, was in their favor, and he believed a court of equity would adjudicate the amount of cotton claimed, which would make the bonds valuable.

Resolutions protesting against Mr. Sumner's speech and authorizing a petition to Parliament were read, but were not put to a vote, and without taking action the meeting adjourned.

Weekly Statement of the Bank of England.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The regular weekly statement of the Bank of England, published to-day, shows that the amount of bullion in vault has increased £185,000 sterling since last week.

The Liverpool Races—The Winner of the Liverpool Cup.

LIVERPOOL, July 1, 1869.

The races were continued to-day. The Liverpool Cup of 200 sovereigns, in specie, added to a subscription of twenty-five sovereigns each, was won by Mr. Bowes' b. c. The Spy, four years old, by three-quarters of a length, from Mr. Sheldon's br. h. Fortunio, five years, second, who finished a length and a half ahead of Mr. T. Bussey's bl. g. Sportsman, six years, third. Two others were not placed. The betting was even on The Spy, three to one against Fortunio, and eight to one against Sportsman.

The Stamford Plate (handicap) of eighty sovereigns, for all ages, was won by Mr. Fey's Patrician, four years, beating Mr. Barber's Pantaloon, aged, second, and Mr. J. Johnstone's Good Hope, three years, third. No others ran. The betting was 3 to 1 on Patrician, 4 to 1 against Pantaloon, and 10 to 1 against Good Hope.

Fearful Explosion in Wales—Several Lives Lost—A New Telegraph to Norway.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

A fearful disaster occurred at Carnarvon, Wales, to-day. During the cartage of some packages of nitro-glycerine from the harbor to the quarries, the material exploded on the way, and the cart, horses and men attending them were blown to atoms. A railway station near the scene of the explosion was torn to pieces. A village about a quarter of a mile distant was much damaged by the shock, which caused great consternation among the inhabitants. Four men were killed by the explosion.

A telegraph cable has been successfully laid between Peterhead, Scotland, and the coast of Norway.

THE FRENCH ATLANTIC CABLE.

Some Serious Interruption.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The papers of this city publish the following intelligence to-day:—

The following despatches have been received from Captain Sherard Osborn, who is at Minou, the shore end of the new French cable, near Brest:—

BREST, June 30, 1869.

This morning, at nine o'clock, Greenwich time, the Great Eastern telegraphed to us:—

"We are going to cut the cable and buoy."

This has evidently been done, for no signals have passed since. A careful watch is being kept for a renewal of the signals. The first sign of something being wrong in the electrical condition of the cable occurred early this morning, but nothing of a definite character until the above message reached us. We had a very long message at thirty-four minutes past eleven, Greenwich time, last night from the Great Eastern, at which time the signals were reported by Mr. May to be most perfect. I see no reason for the slightest alarm at what the Great Eastern is doing. It was evident from the resistance of the gutta percha reported last night that the slight fault of the 25th was improving. Mr. May agrees with me in thinking that they have buoyed the cable in shoal water, and are returning to remove the fault. The delay is the only inconvenience.

The following has been received from Sir W. Thomson:—

MINOU, June 30, 1869.

I arrived here from Brest with Captain Osborn at noon. A telegram from Mr. Gooch, dated at nine o'clock this morning, Greenwich time, awaited him, saying that they intended to cut and buoy the cable. This has probably been done, as no signals have come since then. We do not know the reason. The tests here up to half-past six o'clock, Greenwich time, gave no cause for suspicion.

The validity of seventy elections has been confirmed by the Corps without discussion.

Señor Zorilla declared that the political revolution was an accomplished fact, but the economical revolution remained to be achieved.

AFRICA.

Landing of Cuban Political Prisoners at Fernando Po.

LONDON, July 1, 1869.

The mail steamer Mandingo has arrived from the west coast of Africa.

She reports the arrival of the Spanish steamer Borja at Fernando Po with 250 political prisoners from Havana. The prisoners complained that they were badly treated on the voyage, especially by the volunteers on guard over them. They also complained of the high price of provisions at the settlement. As soon as they landed the island was placed under martial law, and while the steamer Mandingo was there communication with the shore, unless by special permission of the Governor, was prohibited.

KANSAS.

Destructive Freshets—Great Loss of Life and Property—Continued Rush of Immigrants.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 1, 1869.

Advices from Kansas in regard to the late storm and freshets in that State say that in the neighborhood of Junction City and west of there the flood is reported greater than any other since the settlement of the State. Bridges have been carried away, houses destroyed and many lives lost. The greatest disaster occurred at Chapman's creek, thirteen miles west of Junction City, where several houses were washed away and thirteen persons known to be drowned. It is supposed that a number of others have perished. The rising of the streams was so sudden and unexpected that before the residents in the valleys were aware of the danger their dwellings were surrounded with water and all chance of escape cut off. It was reported that numbers had escaped by climbing trees, and in that situation were awaiting the decline of the flood. At Manhattan fourteen dead bodies had been seen to pass floating down the Blue river.

A despatch from Topeka, Kansas, says $210,500 worth of Pottawatamie lands have been sold during the past month, mostly to actual settlers. The run of immigration continues as great as ever and property is constantly advancing. A careful estimate shows at least 1,000 new settlers coming into Kansas daily.

Receipt of Immense Herds of Texas Cattle—Loss of Life by the Freshet.

ELLSWORTH, July 1, 1869.

Two thousand head of Texas cattle arrived here yesterday. Drovers report that 50,000 head are now north of the Arkansas river, en route to this point for sale and shipment. It is estimated that 70,000 head will come here during the season.

No mails or trains from the East have arrived here since Friday last. There has been great destruction by the freshet to the bridges and track of the Kansas Pacific Railroad from the Solomon river to Manhattan, and thirty lives are reported to have been lost.

The Indians are going to their reservations and submitting to the new policy of the government.

EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

Serenade of the Ex-President—A Speech of Characteristic Spiciness—Congress, Grant and the Radicals Raked—The Constitution Again—Enthusiasm of a Large Assemblage.

WASHINGTON, July 1, 1869.

A large crowd assembled before the Metropolitan Hotel to-night on the occasion of a serenade to ex-President Johnson. The band having played a tune Mr. Johnson appeared on the balcony and was received with applause. Mr. John E. Norris, of Washington, introduced him as having been known for many years as the great champion of democracy of the United States, and as having fought many battles and won many a victory in behalf of constitutional freedom.

Ex-President Johnson then climbed over a rail and took his stand near the reporters' table on the balcony. He was again greeted with applause.

He said it was not his purpose to make a speech, but merely to tender his thanks for this cordial welcome on his return to Washington. It was not necessary for him on this occasion to recapitulate or rehearse the arguments he had heretofore made in behalf of the people and in behalf of these great principles which should be maintained and preserved by those calling themselves free, patriotic and intelligent. In taking the stand he did he believed he was doing his duty. (Applause.) He had tried to act on principle and in vindication of principle. He had collected facts and arguments which in times gone by were considered unanswerable and irresistible. They had been presented for the consideration of Congress and the country, but it appeared they did not avail much during the time he had presented them. However, in his politics, as in his religion, when his facts gave out and his reasons failed him, he drew pretty largely on his faith, and his faith was yet strong and unbroken. The time would come, and that ere long, when the American people will be aroused to the importance and high sense of preserving the great principles which have been overshadowed and trampled under foot so long. He would say, let us have faith. He believed the gleam of the morning of redemption could now be seen. He thought it was coming, when the constitution of our fathers would be restored. It was not necessary for him to call the attention of this intelligent audience to the struggles and contest transpiring within the last four years. It was not necessary for him to point their attention to the judicial department of the government to show that under the domination of an usurping Congress that even the judiciary of the country was made to quail and shrink before it. (Applause.) It was not necessary to turn attention to the other end of the avenue—(cries of "Hear, hear")—nor was it necessary to do more than point to the tyrannical body called "Congress," which attempted to absorb every single power of the President. He had called them "tyrants" standing with the mailed heel of power on all the necks of the freemen of the United States, endeavoring to blot out the lines which separated the States, to wipe out the other two co-ordinate branches of the government, and in this Congress stood omnipotent. I tell you here, my countrymen, he said, that if I were compelled to make a choice (and thank God I am not so compelled as yet) I would take one individual who was honest, wise, patriotic and just as my ruler or master in preference to a Congress so usurping, capricious and corrupt. (A voice—"That's so," and applause.) Let us talk about these things as they are. We even find a difference among them as to whether they would take such a government as an omnipotent Congress would impose or an imperial government. Some feelers have been sent out. The wish to develop what sentiment there is in the country. Take a paper, especially in New York, in which, no doubt, is the emanation and reflection of a certain combination of individuals, some of them perhaps, residing in Washington and when we turn to the title page what do we see? On one side "The Empire is peace," and on the other side the quotation "Let us have peace." (Laughter.) The meaning of this is, "Let us have the Empire, with Grant at its head, and we shall have peace." (Laughter and applause.) But you find sticking behind this a debt of twenty-five or twenty-eight hundred millions of dollars. The great fear is the people are not to be trusted, and will not pay it, and hence we must have a strong government with an army at our backs, and when the people become restive as to the payment of taxes they are to be compelled to do so at the point of the bayonet. I know what I say, and, not to be egotistical, I know what is being prepared for the American people. We find the single item of $150,000,000 to be collected for payment of interest on bonds, and what is it? Interest to be paid in one half year's time. You run your hands into your pockets and pull out something so dim and worn that you cannot tell what it is, but see what it calls for on its face. As compared with the currency of the world, acknowledged by both Christian and barbarous nations, we find this paper to be thirty or forty cents below par. But what about the men who have so many millions in bonds? I must here tell a little story. It has been so long since any of the people in my section saw a five, two and a half, or ten or twenty dollar gold piece that I made it a special point to carry home a few pieces with me in order that they might see them. It had been stated in a paper that in a conversation he had remarked to somebody that "no nation had ever yet paid a national debt created in war except by repudiation." If I stated a fact is there any harm in it? (Cries of "No, no.") What political economist dare deny the proposition? I also state there is not a nation on earth that made a debt interminable or permanent that is free. Is there any harm in stating such facts and great truths? (Responses of "No, no.") Then how does the matter stand? Because I have uttered truths which cannot be controverted it is said I favor repudiation. But go to Congress. What has it done? You will find that in the inaugural address it is stated that if anybody is in favor of repudiation to the extent of a single farthing he cannot hold an office under the government. (Laughter.) But when you go to this Congress, so conscious were they of the great fraud practiced in various atrocious ways they came forward and proposed to repudiate one-third of the whole debt. "It is nominated in the bond" to say six per cent, and yet Congress, in face of this solemn contract, proposed to reduce it to five, four and three per cent. But this interest is to be paid in gold and silver. Go to the department. A man comes in with coupons, and at one counter gets gold and silver for them; another man comes in and goes to another counter with claims for some widow or orphans of him who fell in the country's cause—who was buried with no winding sheet around his body but the blanket stained with his blood—and this man, acting for the widow or orphans, is handed depreciated paper, while the bondholder receives gold and silver. When the rebellion commenced I was one of those who opposed it. My property was imperilled. I raised thirty-seven thousand men for the struggle. I am out of office now and ask for no place, therefore I can talk plain on the subject. The war commenced and was called on our part, as was solemnly declared in Congress, for the purpose of preserving the Union and restoring the States to their proper relations. The rebellion progressed, and what was the effect? There was an institution in the South to which there was great prejudice. It was estimated, when considered in its character and shape as property, to be worth three thousand millions of dollars. I was no advocate of slavery. The negro walked off, and just as this property disappeared in one section it appeared in the shape of government stocks and bonds at the other end of the line, instead of existing in an institution which was productive to the nation and to the world. I can tell you where it is. Go look into the vaults and see the great stacks of government bonds. How many fields does it plough? How many ships does it build? How much wealth does it add to the nation? Can anybody tell me? (A voice—"None.") It there remains corroding and eating out the government vitals. The query comes up, Are the American people going to tolerate these things? Instead of such a vast amount of credit and capital being locked up in the strong boxes, it should be forced out of the hands of the bondholders and forced to seek investments in such enterprises as would add to the wealth of the country in the development of its resources and in works of public improvement. After further remarks on this and kindred subjects he said, we once had a Washington in this country, and thank God for it. (Applause.) I have heard it said we have a second Washington. (A voice—"We have got him yet.") I should like to look at him. (Applause and laughter.) I should like to see what kind of an animal he is. I suspect the second Washington is about as much like the first Washington as—let me illustrate. You remember the old story of the prank or satire that Diogenes practised on Plato, who was very learned, and who instructed the young men in the academy, and defined man to be an animal with two legs and without feathers. Diogenes, who was a cynic and well of satire, concluded he would ridicule the idea out of existence, and therefore he would catch a goose and strip it of its plumage and hang it by the head, and as the students were turned out he pointed at the goose with the feathers stripped off, saying, "This is Plato's man." (Applause and general laughter, with cries of "Good," "You're right on the goose.") I think the comparison near about complete. Carrying out the idea, Washington was inaugurated on the 13th of April. He referred in his speech to Congress to his great want of experience and his diffidence in assuming a responsibility so great, and also spoke of the importance of private morals as the foundation of public virtue. (Applause.) He furthermore recommended that in sustaining the Executive Department no more money should be appropriated than was barely sufficient to defray the expenses. He approached the Presidency almost with awe and trembling. He did not say, "I feel the responsibility, but I accept the office without fear." That is your second Washington. (Laughter.) But I have not seen your second Washington yet. Imagine Washington sitting at the council board, looking at the Secretary of the Treasury and saying, "I've got your draft for sixty-five thousand dollars, "and seeking for a book from which to derive a little information, saying to the Secretary of the Navy, "I've got your library at a cost of fifteen thousand dollars." Then look around at the furniture, house and lots. How would Washington have sat in Cabinet meeting, surrounded by such men as these? (Laughter and cries of "Good.") You see how the government is moving along. The cry comes up, my countrymen, whether we shall not meet the issue when we shall rally round the ballot box to the support of the constitution as the palladium of our religious and civil liberty, and cling to it as the shipwrecked mariner clings to the last plank when the night is closing around him. Give me the constitution of my country. You may take your petty tyrants, but give me the constitution of my country. I repeat here what I said on the 22d of February, with reference to the Freedmen's Bureau:—"You may erect your altar and lay your constitution upon it, and, if necessary, as an evidence of devotion to my country, lay me also upon it; and the blood that now warms and animates my existence shall be poured out as a last libation." The speaker then gave a brief account of the condition of things in Tennessee under radical rule, and said the first thing he had to do when he went home, in order to obtain possession of his property there, was to go before an officer and give evidence by proper vouchers that he was a loyal man. (Laughter.) He also spoke of the tyranny existing in Tennessee. The men called militia, go into a court house, send out the judge and jury into the woods or the street, and, placing therein a court martial, try a man one day and hang him the next. "Let us have peace."

Mr. Johnson said, in conclusion of his remarks:—You are now approaching the point when your government is vibrating between a military dictator here and a military dictator there. If we go on at this rate every little military man who can claim a battle will seek to be made dictator and rule the nation. But the character of an American citizen is above all other characters. In my mind we have high and noble duties to perform. Let us not falter. This mighty nation is determined to preserve its unity. Bodies of men and munitions of war started in a certain direction. Those columns never turned until they conquered. And because some little fellow walked with a supply train he is a "Second Washington." (Laughter.) It might as well be said that as some of these intelligent reporters followed the army for the purpose of narrating events, they conducted the army operations. (A voice—"How about the hazel nut?") I have consumed more of your time than I intended and I wish to say, in conclusion, I have no favors to ask and you none to bestow. You know that when in office here I did all in my power to promote your local interests. I have heretofore said, and now repeat, that you ought to have representation in Congress; one knowing your wants, the same right as freemen have. In coming among you on business—having a son at school and some private matters to transact—to receive such a cordial welcome by the people of this district is a source of heartfelt gratification to me. (Applause.) I trust the day is not distant when we shall meet under more auspicious circumstances than we now do. I again thank you for this cordial welcome.

The band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the ex-President was vociferously cheered as he retired. Many of those who had listened to his remarks entered the hotel to pay their respects. He spoke an hour and a quarter.

During Andy Johnson's speech to-night he said:—I have been called a repudiator because in a late conversation here with a gentleman I remarked that no nation ever yet got rid of its great national war debt without repudiation, and no nation ever made such a debt interminable or permanent without the loss of its freedom. Well, what of it? Is it not true? Did I not state the plain, naked fact? Is there any political economist who will dare deny the Does not history sustain my assertion? I challenge anybody to deny it. Why, because I spoke right out without concealment I am abused and called a "repudiator."

This is a complete vindication of the accuracy of my reported conversation with Andrew Johnson last Sunday night, which has created such a sensation all over the country. During another part of his speech somebody in the crowd shouted out, "What about that?" three or four times in succession, but Andy, having drawn near to the close of his speech, preferred to decline expatiating on that subject. Many of the points made in his speech produced quite a sensation. When he told the anecdote of Plato, and his definition of a man as being an animal with two legs, without feathers, and the clever hit of Diogenes in obtaining a goose and stripping it of its feathers and then calling it Plato's man, and comparing that illustration with the comparing of Grant with Washington, he produced an effect rarely witnessed at a public meeting. His entire audience cheered and roared lustily, some of them shouting: "Bully for you, Old Andy," and other similar expressions.

At the meeting to-night, taking short-hand notes, was one of the private secretaries of the President. His presence and industrious efforts to take down every word of Andy Johnson led to considerable comment to-night among the people on the balcony, in the immediate vicinity of the ex-President. The name of this secretary is Ely. What can be the object?

GETTYSBURG.

Unveiling of the Monument—A Large Attendance—Prayer by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Speech by General Meade—Oration by Senator Morton, of Indiana—Interesting Ceremonies.

GETTYSBURG, July 1, 1869.

The morning opened clear but sultry, and with every prospect for good weather. So thronged was the town that many had to walk the streets all night. Strangers were busily engaged in roaming around the battle field and listening to stories of the progress of the fight, or gazing upon trees shattered by artillery.

The monument in the cemetery is greatly admired. It has already been described by so many writers for the press that repetition is unnecessary. The object of the committee having the erection in charge has not been so much to commemorate the great and most important victory as to mark the place of the remains of those who fell in battle, to honor their memories, to sanctify their example; and in accomplishing this object the Board have endeavored to avoid everything in these memorials which might perpetuate the animosity which produced the rebellion.

The procession formed about ten o'clock and soon after commenced the march for the cemetery, headed by a military escort, under command of General Humphreys. The escort consisted of companies of infantry from York, Chambersburg, one from Utica, N. Y., and two companies from this (Adams) county, carriages containing General Meade, Governor Morton, orator of the day; Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. Schunne Schmucker and Bayard Taylor. Mayor Wills, of Gettysburg, was in a carriage with the orator of the day, and R. H. McCurdy, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Cemetery Commission, whose labors, in connection with Mayor Wills, in the construction of the cemetery and monument have been worthy of all praise.

On reaching the cemetery the military were stationed about the foot of the monument. Facing the front of the monument was a large covered platform, which was soon filled by the orator of the day, invited guests and ladies entitled to admission by tickets previously issued. Upon the platform was also seated the Arion Musical Association of Baltimore, which opened the proceedings by singing a hymn from the cantata of "Esther," entitled "Once Mord the Spot with Solemn Awe We Tread."

DAVID WILLS, President of the Commission, then called the meeting to order, and announced that Rev. Henry Ward Beecher would pronounce the opening prayer.

PRAYER BY MR. BEECHER.

Mr. BEECHER then appeared and said:—

Let us unite in prayer. Lord God of our fathers, we thank Thee that Thou hast been God of this land; that Thou hast inspired our citizens to frame wise laws and lay the foundation of intelligence and of virtue and of piety. We thank Thee that Thou hast ordained among us institutions for the benefit of all, and that in all the history of their formation and amid all the struggles through which they have passed Thou hast been on the side of liberty and knowledge and hast befriended the poor and needy. We thank Thee, O Lord our God, that when times of struggle came on, when evil rushed in upon us like a flood, Thou didst at last raise up opposition and didst call from all places those that assert again the everlasting truths of human right and human liberty; and when aggression broke forth in battle Thou, O Lord God of our fathers, didst call forth from all our fields, from towns and from cities, multitudes innumerable, who stood especially to defend this nation and maintain its integrity unimpaired, and here upon this eminence Thou didst lead forth Thy people unto victory. We are gathered again to renew association and derive further instruction, and hand down to our posterity the lessons of patriotism and heroic devotion which were given. Grant, we beseech Thee, Thy blessing to rest upon all who are gathered here to-day. O Lord, we cannot ask Thy blessing upon those that rest in sleep—in death, round about us—whom Thou hast blessed, we humbly trust in Jesus Christ, in the immortality of another, better land. But, Lord, remember that all our hearts yet bleed for them; remember those whose homes are poorer since they died. May they be cheered in recollecting that their whole land is richer. O Lord, bless those fathers whose sons lie buried here and mothers into whose hearts the sword entered more deeply than into theirs who were slain thereby. Remember the orphan children of those that are silent here, and we beseech of Thee that wherever they are and under whatever circumstances surrounded that they may feel not only the sympathy and good will of their fellow citizens, but in an eminent degree Thy providence smile upon them. May soldiers' children never prove unworthy of their father's name. May they grow into true heroism and love of their native land as did their fathers. Let them be willing to shed their blood, to lay down life for the sake of their country. Let this blessing of the Lord rest upon Thy servant who commanded here in time of great trial, and whose life mercifully has been spared through intervening years since, to be here again under circumstances so different. Long may his life be spared and those of his household, and may the blessing by which Thou didst make him instrumental for the right, and for the good of the whole land, come back in a measure upon him and his. Remember all that were here associated with him in command, not only so many as are now present, but those that are detained from this ground, wherever they are, may the blessing of the Almighty God rest upon them and their families. Remember, O Lord, the soldiers who fought here. Everywhere we pray for them and theirs, that God's blessing may attend them to the end of life; save them from snares and temptations mightier than virtue, and grant that in all true manliness and noble endeavor they may achieve yet more than is contained in the record of the past. We beseech Thee, Lord God, to grant Thy blessing upon this whole nation. Be pleased to unite together the hearts of the once divided but now united people. Unite their hearts together, and with these new foundations of liberty, universal intelligence, and virtue and purity, may the union grow stronger than it was or could have been. And though we have been shaken with a mighty shaking; though with a red-hot ploughshare Thou hast passed through our fields, grant that the harvest may be more, abundantly more, than it could have been without this Thy culture. We beseech Thee, O God, to pour Thy blessings upon the President of the United States and all that are associated with him in council and in administration. May their life and health be precious in Thy sight. May discretion be given to them from on high. May a prosperous issue be given to all the work of their hands undertaken in behalf of the land. Bless, O Lord, the army and navy of the United States. In all their labors and efforts may they still uphold the banner of their country; not in a spirit of pride or wanton aggression; but may they see in our flag justice, order and liberty for all; prosperity with virtue, until round and round the world, as every wind shall bear its folds, men may behold what liberty and true piety may do for a nation. Strengthen the weak with strength against the strong. Counsel with Thy counsel against oppression all through the earth. Overturn and overturn until the right is established. Grant Thy blessing to rest upon all that are here and upon the great body of citizens throughout the United States, and upon the whole family of man. Grant that need of war shall cease and that Jews and Gentiles shall be gathered in, and the whole earth see thy salvation. All which we ask humbly in the adorable name of the Lord Jesus, our Saviour, to whom, with the Father and the Holy Spirit, we will give praise forever. Amen.

At the conclusion of prayer the hymn "Tis Holy Ground," written by B. B. French, of Washington, for the dedication of the cemetery in 1863, was sung by the choir.

President WILLS then announced that General Meade would address the audience, preparatory to unveiling the monument, which would take place during the firing of a salute of one gun for each State having dead buried within its limits. General Meade then took his position on the platform and was received with cheers. When the cheering had subsided General MEADE said:—

REMARKS OF GENERAL MEADE.

MY FELLOW CITIZENS, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—Six years ago I stood upon this ground under circumstances very different from those which now surround us. These beautiful hills and valley, now teeming with luxuriant crops; these happy faces around me, are widely different from the tumultuous roar of war and terrible scenes enacted at that time. Four years ago I stood here, by invitation of some honorable gentlemen who have brought me here this time, and laid the corner stone of the monument which we are brought together to-day to dedicate; and now for the third time I appear before you, at the request of the managers of the Monument Association, to render my assistance, humble as it is, in paying respect to the memory of the brave men who fell here by dedicating this monument to them; and at the request of these gentlemen I am about to make to you a few, very few, remarks, which are incidental to the occasion and are suggested by it. When I look around and see, as I now see, so many brave men who were by my side in that memorable battle, among them his Excellency the present Governor of Pennsylvania, General Geary, and others who were with me at that time; when I look back and think upon the noble spirits who then fought so well and now sleep the sleep that knows no waking—gallant Reynolds, my bosom friend as well as my right hand officer—brave Vincent, and Zook, and Weed and others far more in number than I have time or words to mention—my feelings are those of mingled sadness and joy; sadness, my friends, to think that there ever was an occasion when such men should be arrayed in battle as they were here—that we should ever have been called upon, as we were upon this field, to defend the flag of our country and government, which has been handed down to us from our forefathers; sad to think of the mourning and desolation which prostrated our whole land, North and South; sad to contemplate the vast destruction of life which we here wrought in obedience to our highest duty. I am filled with sadness to think of the hosts of mourning widows and orphans left throughout the land by that struggle. Such thought naturally comes upon us. At the same time I feel gratitude and joy; gratitude to the Almighty who directed the event, and who selected me as a humble instrument, with those then around me upon this field, to obtain that decisive victory which turned the tide of that great war and settled forever, I trust, in this country, the principles of personal liberty and constitutional freedom. (Applause.) I feel gratitude, too, that our fellow countrymen have been moved to such respect and honor as we are now paying to the memory of those men who, in the discharge of their duty, laid down their lives, proving by the highest sacrifice man can render their devotion to the cause they were defending; gratitude to those present to-day, who by their presence contribute to render high honor justly due to the fallen braves. There is one subject, my friends, which I will mention now, and on this spot, where my attention has been called to it and in which, I trust, my feeble voice will have some influence. When I contemplate this field I see here and there, marked with hastily dug trenches, the graves in which the dead with whom we fought are gathered. They are the work of my brothers in arms the day after the battle. Above them a bit of plank indicates simply that these remains of the fallen foe were hurriedly laid there by the soldiers who met them in battle. Why should we not collect them in some suitable place? I do not ask that a monument be erected over them. I do not ask that we should in any way endorse their cause or their conduct, or entertain other than feelings of condemnation for their course. But they are dead; they have gone before their Maker to be judged. In all civilized countries it is usage to bury the dead with decency and respect, and even to fallen enemies respectful burial is accorded in death. (Applause.) I earnestly hope this suggestion may have some influence throughout this broad land, for this is only one among a hundred crowded battle fields. Some persons may be designated by the government, if necessary, to collect these neglected bones and bury them without commemorative monuments, but simply indicate that below sleep the misguided men who fell in battle for a cause over which we triumphed. I shall detain you no longer, for you are about to listen to one of the most eloquent men in this country. My purpose was simply to comply with the kind invitation given to me to speak most words of praise for the dead heroes sleeping around, and in the solemnities of this occasion I thank you for your attention, and will now unveil the statue.

At the conclusion of General Meade's remarks a passage was cleared in front of the platform leading to the base of the monument, and, assisted by Secretary of War Rawlins, the veil that shielded the front of the monument was dropped, and the first full view of all its beauties was met with enthusiastic applause from the thousands that were looking on at this interesting moment, mingled with the music of the band and the firing of a salute.

President WILLS then announced that Hon. O. P. Morton, Senator from Indiana, would pronounce the oration.

Mr. MORTON then made a lengthy oration, in which he gave a sketch of the battle of Gettysburg, the winning of which was the turning point in the contest. He referred feelingly to the Union soldiers who had offered up their lives on the field for the republic, and urged it as a sacred duty to their surviving countrymen to cherish their memories, fittingly commemorate the anniversaries of their deaths and emulate their heroism. He also referred to the great progress made by the country since the war ended and explained the reasons why the South failed to achieve her independence. He closed by saying that the purpose in assembling was not to commemorate the triumph of the North over her misguided countrymen, but to celebrate a cause that time would show as much theirs as ours.

The choir then sang "How Sleep the Brave Who Sink to Rest," with the addition of two stanzas composed by W. W. Carter, of Baltimore, for the occasion. Then followed a poem written for the occasion. The choir then sang the hymn "Rest, Hero, Rest," and Rev. Dr. Schmucker pronounced the benediction. The choir then sang the hymn "America," with which the ceremonies concluded. The number of persons present in the cemetery during the ceremonies is variously estimated at from 6,000 to 10,000, who dispersed at the conclusion of the programme. The town is slowly being cleared of its visitors by the starting of regular and special trains. The Gettysburg Spring and the adjacent capacious Spring Hotel have been attractive spots, as General Meade, Secretary Rawlins and most of the military visitors were located there, as well as the Governors and other politicians.

General Meade and most of the Philadelphia Council started on their return about four o'clock, and expect to reach Philadelphia before morning.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

Reception of Mr. Seward in Sacramento—Arizona Indians Severely Punished—The Democratic State Convention Endorses the Postal Telegraph System.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30, 1869.

William H. Seward and party arrived in Sacramento to-day and received a salute of fifty guns. All the flags in the city were flying. The citizens generally, without reference to party, united in doing honor to the ex-Secretary. Many prominent democrats attending the State Convention called on Mr. Seward, and he and his travelling companions were the recipients of a grand dinner at the Orleans Hotel. The Seward party will reach this city to-morrow night.

The Chicago excursionists arrived at Truckee to-day, and will be here to-morrow.

The California Pioneer Fuse factory, in this city, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is $25,000; uninsured.

Arizona advices to the 8th of June state that Colonel Sanford's command had returned to Camp McDowell. They killed twenty-two Indians and captured four during the expedition. Colonel Price's command killed three Indians and destroyed a great amount of property during the late raid through the Wallapai country. The mining news from Arizona is encouraging.

The Democratic State Convention has adjourned sine die. It passed resolutions approving the adoption of the fifteenth amendment, approving the rejection by Congress of the Alabama treaty, and endorsing the State administration. A committee was appointed to prepare an address on Chinese labor in California. The Convention also unanimously adopted a resolution denouncing the unjust system of charges made by the Western Union Telegraph monopoly and strongly favoring the postal telegraph reform.

The steamship Constitution sailed for Panama to-day with $437,000 in treasure, of which $416,000 is for England, $11,000 for Guatemala and $10,000 for Panama.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Address of the Fenian Brotherhood of Pittsburg—Co-operation of Americans Invited.

PITTSBURG, July 1, 1869.

The Senate of the Fenian Brotherhood have issued an address to the American people, in which they ask their sympathy and assistance on the ground that fifteen millions of Americans have Irish blood in their veins, and that Ireland has been a national ally of America from the time of the Revolution to the present day, while England has been a persistent enemy of this republic, as is shown by her hostile action during the late rebellion. They declare the Irish people ready to unite with America—that such a union backed by a brave and devoted people, would give the United States the control of the commerce of Europe. They ask for the co-operation of every true American without distinction of party, as they declare the cause in which they are engaged too sacred to be made a battle ground of contending factions.

General O'Neil arrived this afternoon and the Senate has been in secret session ever since.

The fifteenth constitutional amendment passed the New Hampshire Senate yesterday.

Congress Refuses to Authorize a New Canal Contract—Mosquera's Banishment Not Rescinded—Uncertainty Regarding the Presidential Election—The United States Apologizes.

We have dates from Panama to the 23d and from Bogota to the 2d of June.

Congress adjourned at Bogota on the 24th May, prior to which it passed a resolution, by a majority of 17 against 7, refusing to give the Executive a basis upon which to frame a new treaty or contract for the excavation of an interoceanic canal through this isthmus. It also rejected the proposition for the same object made by Mr. Heap on behalf of a British company, so we are as far as ever from having a canal at Panama.

The resolution to grant an amnesty to General Mosquera was rejected by a vote of 14 against 13.

The official correspondence between Señor Santos Acosta, Colombian Minister at Washington and Mr. Borie, Secretary of the Navy, relative to the landing of marines at Taboga and Panama from the ships Wateree and Suwanee in 1867 and 1868, for the purpose of capturing two of the crew of these ships, is published. Secretary Borie apologizes for the trespass on Colombian territory, and promises that such an act shall not occur again, assuring the Minister at the same time that there was no intention to violate the territory.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Suppression of Insurrection in Guatemala—Appropriation by Nicaragua to Improve the San Juan—Banishments in Costa Rica.

From Guatemala we have dates to the 5th of June. Don Vicente Cerna took formal possession of the Presidential chair, to which he was for the second time elected by the General Assembly on the 17th January last. On the 20th May an engagement took place between the government forces under Colonel Batere and Serapio Cruz, which lasted an hour and a half, in which Cruz was completely routed.

Our dates from Nicaragua are to the 6th of June.

A commission composed of Dr. José María Sarrias and Señores Fermin Ferrer and Jesus Barca had been formed for the purpose of fixing the boundary limits between Nicaragua and Honduras.

Mr. Ran Runnels has received his exequatur as Consul General for the United States of Colombia in Nicaragua.

The government has authorized the Secretary of Public Works to raise the sum of $200,000 if necessary, by the issuing of Custom House bonds, for the improvement of the navigation of the river San Juan.

The Costa Rica Congress met on May 1. President Jesus Jimenez was inaugurated and took the oath of office under the constitution on May 8. Don Juan Rafael Mata has resigned as Secretary of State and Foreign Affairs, &c., and Don Agapito Jimenez was named in his stead.

President Jimenez, both in this administration and in the one which has just terminated, has ignored the military party, and has subordinated the military more than ever before to the control of the civil authorities. On May 29 Congress, following a clause in the constitution authorizing such action, conferred upon the President "extraordinary powers" to protect the public peace. In virtue of these powers the President has sent General Blanco and several other prominent citizens out of the country.

Congress adjourned on the 29th of May. Before adjourning it concluded the concession for a railroad from the Atlantic to the Pacific, made by the government last January to Edward Reilly and others, citizens of the United States, substantially as made.

PERU.

Cuban Meeting—Proposition to Cede the Monitors to Cuba—Reconstruction in Arequipa.

Our dates from Lima are to the 13th of June. A meeting apropos of the Cuban question was held at the theatre on the 30th of May, and Señor Valiente, the Cuban delegate, was present thereat. After the adoption of several resolutions, nem. con., one of which was no less than to call upon the government to cede the two monitors to the Cubans, the reunion sallied forth and startled Colonel Balta from his comfortable lunch, causing him to make his appearance in the balconies of the palace and address the multitude assembled in the plaza. He gave them the reply that he would do everything tending most to be worthy of Peru. The only practical result from all this display of enthusiasm amounted to a theatrical performance on the Thursday following for the benefit of the Cuban patriots, at which the gross receipts are stated to have amounted to $1,500.

Throughout the South the yellow fever has disappeared, and business is beginning gradually to look up and assume a brisk appearance. In Arequipa they are in good earnest now commencing to clear the streets of the ruins, and the "work of reconstruction is going on," but in a literal sense, although now and then some uncomfortable shocks are reported to occur.

On the 15th a sharp earthquake was felt in Lima and Callao. It lasted about twenty seconds, and brought the people to their street doors in "less than no time."

General Markbreit, United States Minister to Bolivia, arrived at Lima on the 9th inst., en route for his post.

CHILE.

The Spanish Question and the Mediation of the United States—Great Fire in Santiago—Railway Construction.

Our Valparaiso dates are to the 2d of June. The installation of the ordinary Congress of 1869 took place on the 1st. Respecting the Spanish question, the President in his message informs the Legislature that the Chilean government had given their sanction to the fact—adjusted by their allies at Lima on the 2d of January last—accepting the mediation of the United States government, and in which it was stipulated that an indefinite armistice (tregua indefinida) should be recognized and that hostilities were only to be resumed on a two years' notice being given by either party, adding, however, as a condition, sine qua non, that the Spanish government should previously be required to make reparations for the unjustifiable bombardment of Valparaiso, and this, it may fairly be surmised, the latter are not likely to agree to.

An extensive conflagration had occurred in Santiago. The fire originated in the ancient colonnade of Sierra Bella, which it completely destroyed, as also two warehouses in the streets Ahumada and Estado. The loss was calculated at above $400,000.

A government decree accepts the proposal of Mr. John Slater for the construction of a railroad between Chillan and Talcahuano. Working operations are to commence previous to the 1st of August next, and the contractor proposes to complete the road between Concepcion and Talcahuano within ten months, and at the end of two years as far as Malloa station.

The prolongation of the railway from Serena to Ovalle is being actively proceeded with, and a contract is likely to be entered into with the English engineer, Mr. Wheelwright, for the junction of a line between Copiapó and Cordova, in the Argentine provinces, which could connect the Atlantic Ocean with the Pacific by means of the iron horse.

VENEZUELA.

Closing the Ports—Particulars of the Decree.

St. Thomas, June 16, 1869.

Some infringements made on the part of the State governments recently caused the President, Monagas, to issue a decree, under date of June 8, whereby the port of Maracaibo was declared closed until further orders. All vessels loading in that port were allowed ten days to complete cargo and leave. All vessels attempting to enter after this decree becomes known will be confiscated. The Custom House of Maracaibo is not allowed to give permits to pass foreign goods to other localities. Copies of the decree were forwarded by the packet leaving Laguayra on June 9 to the various consuls in order to make it known.

The Anticipated Arrival of Rodas—Meekness of the Volunteers—Military Operations—Sickness Among the Troops—Insurgents in Colon—Arrest of the Cuban Junta—Communications from Two Highnesses—Seizure of the New York Herald.

Havana, June 26, 1869.

Havana is holding its breath in anticipation of the arrival of the new Captain General, now hourly expected. The continual anxiety in reference to his course has had a depressing effect upon the brave volunteers, and with much meekness and desire for conciliation they await his coming. The Cabañas and Morro Castle fortresses are no longer under their control, and the marines of Señor Malcampo, from their grim battlements, keep watch and ward over city and harbor. On the morning of Thursday the artillery battalion (volunteers), commanded by Señor Suarez Virgil, which had been on duty the previous twenty-four hours, surrendered their trust to the marines, and insomuch the volunteers ceased to be masters of Havana. The battalion which was to relieve the artillery marched as usual to the wharf, and on being informed that its services were not required, quietly returned to the plaza and was dismissed. It is known that it was aware of what was about to occur, and its march on the occasion was, therefore, a mere matter of form. This acquiescence in what deprives them of the greater part of their power results in part from the quiet persistence and sagacity of General Espinar, but much more from fears as to the action of General de Rodas. The Spanish Admiral went to sea on the 21st, in the Hernan Cortes, and though it was given out that he had gone for a short trip to one of the ports on the north side, and that his family was with him, it was well understood that he had gone to meet and have an interview with the new Captain General concerning the situation here. In the state of mind the volunteers found themselves it was not difficult to persuade them that Caballero de Rodas might land at Matanzas or Cardenas, declare the capital in a state of insurrection, withdraw the navy and so place them in a very critical position. They became docile under these representations and interposed no objection to the surrender of the fortresses, only, in order to relieve the others of the stigma, waiting until the artillery was on duty, a battalion regarded with no especial good will. This but confirms the prediction already made in these despatches that De Rodas would be received and permitted to enter upon his authority without any trouble. In view of his early arrival the Diario contains a notice from the Secretary's office announcing the anticipated fact and inviting the authorities, corporations, grandees, consuls and others to be present at the Palace for the purpose of welcoming the new authority upon entering his position. The Diario, speaking of the matter, says:—"On Sunday, or, at the very latest, on Monday, his Excellency the Governor, Captain General elect, will be among us. He is a distinguished Spanish General, sent by the government of the nation to reestablish peace in Cuba and preserve, at all costs, the integrity of the national territory. We have already said that whoever dares attribute to him this or that project speaks from his imagination or in bad faith, but it is necessary to repeat it, because the enemies of Spain are gratified in circulating the most absurd rumors, with the pernicious intent of creating alarm, marked by the dark stain of calumny. We ought ever to be alert against our enemies, changed as they are, and rely on the purity of our intentions and the tranquility of our conscience." Herein the Diario gives the Spaniards a gentle hint that General de Rodas comes out as the representative of the government, leaving the conclusion that he must be obeyed to be inferred, and at the same time assures them that they have nothing to fear from their little revolutionary proceeding in driving out Dulce. Whether it speaks by authority remains to be determined.

Another unsuccessful Spanish General arrived here this week, remained for a short time, furnished a card for the newspapers and left for the United States. This was no less a person than General Buceta, who has been in command in Santiago de Cuba and vicinity and has several times been reported dead—murdered by his own soldiers. He left on the Beaufort for Key West, en route for New Orleans, at an early hour on the 23d. His card appeared on the same day. He stated that on sailing from Santiago de Cuba on the 15th for the capital he was informed that certain individuals of the corps of volunteers were dissatisfied with his conduct during the campaign. He does not wonder at this for he is dissatisfied himself, but claims that he is not responsible for not being among those whom the armed enemies reserved for the glory of combat. He was under fire with the insurgents ten times, but on each occasion not more than twelve or fifteen shots were fired and those from the depths of the thickets. He intimates that, as others are doing, he might have reported these as great feats of arms only from a persistent habit he has of telling the truth. He refers to some reports of his operations, "herewith enclosed," not of interest, and closes by saying that any person desirous of further information would be well received by calling at the Hotel Europa. In answer to this invitation several ominous calls followed, but the General was on the sea and so disappointed his visitors. The proprietor of the hotel, fearing for his establishment, found it necessary to publish his card also, announcing that the General had left, and so the affair ended. While it is natural enough that an ignorant and badly informed mob should attribute the failure of military operations to the leaders, the fact is that there are other reasons than their incapacity or the prowess of the insurgents in this case for it. From reliable sources, from the Spanish officers themselves, the information reaches us that the cholera, vomito and other diseases incident to the climate, are making havoc among the troops, equal to the most sanguine expectations of the Cubans. Every attempt at operations is followed by a loss of so many from these causes as to create despair in the breasts of the commanders. An official connected with the sanitary department of the army says that, what with killing, wounding, sickness and desertion, there is a falling off of from sixty to eighty per cent among the troops; that the battalions need recruiting and reorganizing, but there are no men for the purpose. Meanwhile the demoralization among the Spaniards and the dissatisfaction with the commanders, communicating itself to the ranks, render ineffective those who remain.

The military operations, as reported, are of the same indeterminate character as heretofore. The appearance of a body of insurgents in Colon, between Palmillas and the city of that name, has created considerable alarm among the planters, as some of the most important plantations on the island are in that locality. Palmillas is but 126 miles from Havana and but six miles from Macagua, the present terminus of the railroad. The press here reports an engagement between the former two places, in which four or five insurgents were killed. "The Pole" is known to be in the vicinity with 1,500 well armed men. The Diario reports that a small column while marching in the jurisdiction of Colon captured two spies, who were immediately shot. A gentleman from that locality states that one of these was an innocent ploughman, taken from the field and slaughtered because he did not know where the insurgents were. A telegram from Lesca to the Captain General, dated the 23d, contains all the information furnished us through official sources of operations in the Cinco Villas. It says:—"The military commandant of Sagua informs me that Captain Iriate has beaten a numerous party of insurgents on the Gonzales cattle farm on the Santos road, causing them fourteen killed and capturing fifty-four horses, sundry arms and war materials." The fact that the line has been down for the past two days doubtless accounts for our having nothing more of the same stereotyped character.

The arrest of the Cuban Junta in New York has vied with the anticipated arrival of De Rodas as a subject for conversation in the city during the week. The more intelligent, who are few, give it the importance it deserves, while the mass were jubilant or depressed in accordance with their sympathies. Many of the Spaniards considered it a prelude to sending the entire body here for trial, and it was seriously stated that the flagship Gerona and the iron-clad Victoria were to be sent to New York to bring them hither. Indeed, it is reported that several Spaniards proffered the request to the Captain General that war vessels should be sent for that purpose. It is doubtful, however, if so great stupidity can dwell even in Spanish minds.

The Spaniards give Minister Roberts credit for, what they deem, this masterly stroke and it has given rise to the following telegrams which appear in the papers here:—

Havana, June 19, 1869.

To His Excellency the Minister of Spain in Washington:—

The Spanish residents in Havana congratulate your Excellency for your worthy and energetic conduct in favor of the national integrity of this island. In their name—Julian Zulueta, Jose L. Echaniz, Felipe Perez, Miguel Antonio Cabarga, &c.

REPLY.

Washington, June 20, 1869.

Señors—I beg of you in my name to make known to the Spanish residents there that I feel grateful from my soul for their patriotic felicitation, and to add that they will always find me ready to sustain the national integrity in the island of Cuba and to defend with dignity the flag of our dear Spain.

LOPEZ ROBERTS.

Evidently the Spaniards consider that Lopez Roberts holds your "let us have peace" administration by the nose, and perhaps he does.

The investigation in the murder of Mr. Robinson, of Matanzas, by the volunteers of Corral Falso, is progressing. A brother of the victim was recently taken on board the British iron-clad Defence at the former place, he fearing violence from the volunteers. A riot between some volunteers and the peasantry recently occurred in Wajay, a few leagues from this city. An affray took place, in which several were wounded. The affair would seem to have no political significance.

General Puello, late Commanding General of the forces operating in the jurisdictions of Santi Espiritu, Moron and Remedios, arrived here on the 20th, he having been relieved by General Lesca. He seems to have retained the good will of the Spaniards, as he was serenaded in Trinidad and has not been molested here. He had an interview with General Espinar soon after his arrival, in which he represented the imperative necessity for reinforcements. In conversation with a friend he stated that 5,000 additional troops were needed in the Cinco Villas.

The Captain General has received the following telegram, dated Madrid the 22d:—

His Highness, the Serene Regent of the kingdom, orders me to manifest to your Excellency that he appreciates, in the most cordial manner, the felicitations your Excellency sends him on your own behalf and that of all classes in that island. He is gratified at the favorable news made known to him, and hopes from the patriotism of the troops, volunteers and others, that they will continue, with intrepidity, in their work of pacification, which he doubts not will be very soon attained in the whole territory. Signed by the Secretary of the Regency.

On the other hand, his Highness José Morales Lemus, President of the Junta Cuba, doubtless equally serene, notwithstanding his recent arrest, has mailed circulars here addressed to "the Spanish residents in Cuba," exhorting them to give up the struggle and join the Cubans in throwing off the yoke of Spain. He says:—"You have just demonstrated your conviction that a metropolis, whose conditions of existence are essentially distinct, cannot govern with propriety a country 4,800 miles away." He reminds them of their supposition that independent Cuba would hurt them from her bosom and strip them of their property, adding, "The Cubans, your sons and brothers, whose sentiments are but too well known to you, are too far advanced in civilization not to comprehend that such an act would in the present age amount to a moral suicide."

There are reports of several landings on the south side, but nothing definite concerning them can be obtained.

Lieutenant Colonel Ramon Halliday Columna, commandant of cavalry, has been appointed Governor of Santi Espiritu.

Mr. Ferguson, a Scotchman, who was formerly engineer on the estate of Aguilera and was imprisoned about three months ago, has been released by Governor Ampudia, of Manzanillo, on condition that he do not leave the place.

William Stedman has been authorized to act as United States Consul at Santiago de Cuba until the government extends to him the usual exequatur.

On the arrival of the Columbia on the 23d the Herald was suppressed by order of the censor and the copies for the news depots were seized. Naturally everybody was desirous of finding out what was in it, and of course succeeded in doing so. The stupidity of the authorities in this matter touches the sublime. Copies of the paper were sold for a dollar each as a consequence of it.

The government is exercising the greatest care that no transactions of a commercial nature shall be had between residents of the island and the "disloyal" abroad. As an example of this, upon the writs for moneys sent the notary is required to endorse that the document is of no effect in foreign countries, which is made known in fulfilment of the orders of the City Governor as president of the administrative council of properties embargoed of sundry individuals."

The Landing of the Grapeshot—Capture and Shooting of Americans—Another Extermination of the Mayari Expeditionists.

Santiago de Cuba, June 19, 1869.

The landing from the schooner Grapeshot took place in Baitiquiri Bay on the 1st inst. The adventurers did not number more than forty. The Spanish official account says that this small party has been completely exterminated and all its arms, including two cannon and ammunition, captured. The following particulars, gleaned on the spot and of a reliable character, have been furnished me. As stated, the landing took place on the 1st and the news thereof reached Guantanamo on the 3d. Immediately a force of 200 left by land and another of 100 by water, with a view of surrounding the filibusters. The land force, it seems, was surprised by them and a sharp contest followed, in which the Spaniards lost several killed and wounded, among the former a lieutenant. The others lost one man killed, named George Smith, a native of London, England, and late sergeant of a New York engineer corps. What followed is hard to get at. The adventurers would seem to have been scattered, at least a portion of them, as several have been captured and two or three killed. The Spaniards say they must all sooner or later be captured or die of hunger and thirst, as they are shut in a barren and desolate region, covered with cactus, where there is but one spring within a circuit of eight leagues, and that is closely guarded. The Cubans, however, insist that the main body has made good its escape inland, having united with a party which landed near Baracoa, and together marched to join the insurgents. As the adventurers are known to be guided by a noted character named Policarpio, a native of Guantanamo, who has been under the ban of the Spanish authorities and escaped their vigilance for years, and is thoroughly conversant with all that section of country, they have probably escaped. Among the former are a Swiss, named Jacob Meyer, and an Italian, name not given, both naturalized American citizens. They were brought here on the 5th, simultaneously with a prisoner captured at Mayari, calling himself Juan de Dios Palma, from New Orleans. The three were publicly shot on the morning following their arrival. It was made a gala day by the Catalonian element, who seemed delighted to have a number of Americans to vary the executions of late so frequent here. The shooting took place at eight A. M., instead of the usual hour of six in order to give all an opportunity to witness the spectacle, which had a great advantage over a bull fight, inasmuch as three men were certain to be killed. Crowds of Spaniards repaired to the slaughter-pen, to see what they humorously styled "the fresh meat." The victims walked firmly to the place of execution, and all died like heroes. Palma made a speech, expressing regret for his conduct, accusing the Cubans of cowardice and eulogizing the Spanish soldiers for their bravery and humanity. He also wrote a letter, which has been published, expressing the same ideas. In consequence of this the Bandera Española (government organ), lauds him to the skies and calls him a talented, noble and generous-minded man, and expresses surprise that such a person should be shot like a dog, without trial. The Cubans say Palma was induced to speak as he did by promises of pardon. Following the execution was a triumphal parade over the four cannons captured at Mayari. Two are of steel and the others of brass. The latter are exactly like those used by the Spaniards here, which has given "disloyal" people occasion for ill-natured remarks. One of the steel guns has been placed in the Plaza de Armas, in the position heretofore occupied by the famous Monte Cristo cannon, brought from the St. Domingo war, which venerable piece was turned off its perch to make room for the new comer—an awful instance of the instability of popular favor. On Saturday, the 12th, another prisoner was brought from Guantanamo. He was a young Cuban of good family in Havana. On Monday he followed the others, dying with the same serenity. On Wednesday, the 16th, was brought here an American, a native of Indiana, named Speckman, a sailor. He stated that he shipped on the Grapeshot for a voyage to Jamaica, knowing nothing about the real nature of the venture until a tugboat brought the filibusters aboard. Against his protest he was obliged to assist in discharging the cargo on the Cuban coast and was forcibly detained by the expeditionists. When he gave himself up he had a gun in his hand. Mr. Phillips, the American Consul, obtained permission to visit him, and afterwards, I am told, waited upon the Governor. If for the purpose of seeking for mercy it was useless, as yesterday morning Speckman was taken out and shot, going through the ordeal with great bravery. On the 11th the steamer Moctezuma arrived here, having been detained to carry troops from Nuevitas to Puerto Padre. She brought no news of importance, but soon after twelve o'clock M. flags began to appear over the Catalan residences, bands to parade the streets and in the morning the Plaza and Palace were illuminated. In explanation the indefatigable Bandera appeared in an extra, announcing that "it was reported" that Colonel Benegasi had defeated the 600 Americans from Mayari, utterly exterminating them and taking from them all they had. This is the third extermination this unfortunate party has suffered. Subsequent arrivals fail to confirm the report.

NASSAU.

The Salvador—Arrival of W. S. Ashby—Movement of War Vessels—An Expedition Soon to Leave.

Nassau, N. P., June 21, 1869.

The steamer Salvador still remains in the hands of the authorities, the investigation concerning her being postponed on account of the illness of the Attorney General. Her case has been brought before the court, and the very general opinion is that she will be released soon.

On the 21st ult. arrived here, per schooner Excel, from Key West, W. S. Ashby, who served in the Confederate army as commander of the independent detachment of scouts attached to General Wade Hampton's command. He will take the first opportunity for Cuba, intending to try his hand with the Spaniards. He is about forty years of age, stoutly built, and looks like a man of energy and capacity.

It is becoming very evident that the movements of British men-of-war in these waters are to watch the Cuban blockade runners, rather than protect these islands and British subjects against the piratical acts of Spaniards.

The people here are very much disgusted with the quiet manner in which the home government receive the insults of the Spanish navy, and conclude she is determined to support Spain, no matter what course she may pursue. There are very few Cubans here, and all are anxious to get away. An expedition will leave here very soon, and I think it will be the last one. There is still some little ammunition here.

THE BUNKER MURDER.

On Wednesday evening intelligence was received at the Central Police Office that Daniel Hastings, the party who is supposed to have inflicted the wound on Frank Bunker, of No. 55 West Houston street, on Friday night last, and from the effect of which he died on Tuesday, had been arrested in Boston on the charge of burglary committed there some time ago. Detective Keogh left yesterday to identify Hastings, and, if he prove to be the party wanted, bring him on here.

The only sales of real estate at auction yesterday were Supreme Court sales of improved property on Third avenue, near Thirty-third street, and one lot on Third avenue, near 118th street, by Mr. Joseph McGuire. The following are the particulars:—

ST. DOMINGO.

REVOLUTION AFLOAT.

The Steamer Telegrafo as a War Power.

The steamship Tybee, pioneer ship of the new line from this city to St. Domingo, returned to this port yesterday having made a successful trip, with the exception of touching at Samana bay, which she was prevented from entering by the crusading steamer Telegrafo, belonging to the Cabral insurgents. An interesting account of the movements of this steamer will be found in the letter of our correspondent below.

Departure for Samana Bay—Prevented from Entering by the Pirate Telegrafo—Engagement Between Two Dominican War Schooners and the Telegrafo—The New York Steamer Hero Detained.

Samana Bay, St. Domingo, June 24, 1869.

The departure of the Tybee from St. Domingo yesterday morning was the occasion of a large turnout of citizens, who assembled on the wharf and city walls. The garrison band also performed an appropriate air as the vessel passed the fort. Waving of handkerchiefs and other parting salutations were exchanged with the shore.

As the government had received intelligence overland of the blockade of Samana bay by the pirate Telegrafo, commanded by a Dominican refugee, our steamer bound to that point took on board for transportation about forty soldiers designed to reinforce the patriotic inhabitants who had already defended themselves against the pirate, and had driven him back from their town.

Gregorio Luperon is an outlaw from St. Domingo, in consequence of his turbulent conduct and repeated and fruitless attempts at raising an insurrection. Under any other than the humane administration of Baez the renegade would have been executed, and a quietus put upon his mischief making before this. Going to St. Thomas with the assistance of parties leagued with him through fair promises of lands and other advantages, he secured a steamer, in which he succeeded in reaching Samana bay. Without any shadow of belligerent rights, under various flags, he assumed the privilege of attacking a legitimate government and interfering with rightful trade. The most disgraceful part of the affair, as far as the United States is concerned, is the fact that the Telegrafo bore the American flag when she set out on her piratical cruise. The following correspondence gives an idea of her early movements:—

After passing over the bar at the mouth of the Ozama the Tybee took in tow the Alta Gracia, eighty tons, an armed schooner belonging to the Dominican republic. The Capotila, eighty tons, also an armed sister schooner, had been sent ahead the night before. Both had in view an attack upon the pirate at Samana. Yesterday afternoon we overtook the Capotila and lashed her on behind the Alta Gracia, and resumed our journey, towing both vessels. It was one o'clock this afternoon when the steamer arrived off Samana bay. It was, fortunately, exceedingly misty, which enabled us with both schooners in tow to pass to the windward of the entrance. Under cover of a high promontory the soldiers on the steamer were transferred to the schooners. The steamer, still keeping them in tow, now steered for the bay. By this time the rain had subsided, and in the clear atmosphere objects were visible at a long distance. Rounding Sloop Rock which brought us fairly within the heads of the bay, the pirate was visible about eight miles off, anchored under cover of an island. The pirate was painted black, had two funnels, sidewheels and stood high out of the water. Anchored near by was a large steamer, painted white and flying the American colors; also a schooner without colors, probably a prize of the Telegrafo.

Everybody was in a state of anxiety as to the probable results of the anticipated conflict. The Tybee towed the schooners six miles down the bay, when they were set adrift. The schooners each mounted a brass 18-pounder, used as a pivot gun. All sails were set and the little fleet boldly pressed out for their formidable antagonist. The Tybee had to lie to await the issue of the fight.

As soon as the schooners were seen approaching the Telegrafo began getting up steam. The schooners moved off on the starboard tack until within gun range. The Telegrafo fired the first gun, the shot going high. She repeated a set of illegal warfare, displaying two guns to a broadside. The schooners did not respond until after the eighth shot from the Telegrafo. The engagement now became quite lively, as I was visible from the deck of the Tybee. The pirate fired rapidly, but wildly. One ball tore the after sail of the Capotila, penetrating it about a foot above the boom. The Capotila replied by putting a ball into the bow of the pirate.

After the action had lasted about twenty minutes the pirate, having steam up, hoisted anchor and headed for the schooners. It was a tight race. The schooners, leading the way by a close shave, made the cover of the land under the guns of the fortifications of the town of Samana. The pirate was evidently afraid to pursue up the main channel, but sheered off, taking position off a reef.

The conflict now opened with more vigor than ever. The pirate fired a few guns quite vigorously and then ceased almost entirely. The schooners, under the point of a promontory which formed a small side bay, kept up a regular fire. The guns of the schooners were well manned, and soon made it too hot for the pirate, who drew off, well peppered and considerably disabled. In moving away from the scene of the fight the pirate could barely make headway.

The action began about half-past four and lasted until sunset.

While the engagement was going on the mate of the steamer carrying the American colors came aboard. He wanted coal. He stated that the steamer was the Hero, from New York, which had run into Samana bay, being out of fuel. He said that the pirate had compelled them to anchor where they were, and that they were in a "bad fix." He also mentioned that the pirate carried four guns, that she was out of fuel and had thirty prisoners on shore cutting fuel.

Notwithstanding her crippled condition the pirate headed for the Tybee, with what object in view was not known; but it was considered time to leave, which was forthwith done.

The spirit of the Dominicans was plainly shown in the daring attack made under sail upon so formidable a craft propelled by steam. Had the force been anything like even there could have been no doubt of the result.

General Hungria, Minister of War, who came on the steamer with us, landed on the beach at the entrance of the bay with a small escort, proposing to reach Samana by land and direct the operations of the forces there against the pirate. The people of Samana—mostly blacks and colored persons from the United States—are loyal to a man to the government of Baez, and unaided have had already the satisfaction of proving their loyalty by driving a landing party of Luperon's men back upon the pirate.

There is every prospect of the capture of the Telegrafo. Without coals and without ammunition it is not probable she will be able to hold out long. The Dominicans are determined, and, encouraged by the discomfiture of the pirate this afternoon, will doubtless try their hand again. I hope before leaving the island to chronicle the downfall of the pirate Luperon and the capture or destruction of his craft.

Our own government, if it does not immediately send a vessel out after the Telegrafo, must be held responsible for all damage that she may do. Although she did not sail from an American port, she started on her piratical career under the American colors and through the aid of the representative of the American government. The glaring outrage thus committed upon a friendly and recognized republic is a disgrace and a breach of faith only to be effaced by at once despatching a vessel-of-war in pursuit of the renegade. It is true the American Consul, who was party to the act, as is alleged by authority, has been removed, and it is to be hoped will never be entrusted with another position of honor and profit under the government. From the same cause the Danish Governor General of St. Thomas and the Spanish Consul were removed. These official acts evidently show what is thought of the character of the Telegrafo. She carries an assortment of flags, which she uses as circumstances may suit. She is without proper papers. It is to be hoped the Navy Department will take the matter in hand and at once order a suitable vessel to punish the pirate for its temerity.

Owing to the interposition of the pirate I was prevented from making a detailed examination of the Bay of Samana. But, judging from its appearance at the entrance, it is a beautiful expanse of water, well protected and far exceeding New York harbor in accommodation. The entrance is between two promontories, the passage being nearly a mile in width. The bay itself is thirty miles in length and expands considerably within. The shores on either side are overgrown with forests of mahogany, cocoanut and palm. It is said that coal abounds. Of this I am unable to speak from observation, but have been so informed by the negro who conveyed the news across the island to Baez of the presence of the pirate. From all that I could see with the naked eye and the assistance of a powerful spy-glass I do not hesitate to pronounce the Bay of Samana, for commercial and naval purposes, one of the finest sheets of water in the world, and just what the United States government requires in the American tropics.

Affairs in the republic, with the exception of the pseudo American pirate Telegrafo, are in a very satisfactory condition. The latest news from the Haytien frontier announces a signal victory over Cabral and his Cacos, assisted by the Haytien rebels near St. John. One rebel general and captain were killed and thirty horses, twenty cattle and a considerable amount of ammunition were captured. The government troops, it is stated, were commanded by Gloria Regla. Cabral fled, with the remnants of his outlaws, to the neutral ground on the Haytien frontier.

Baez exhibits wonderful energy in pursuing the traitors and renegades who are constantly disturbing the peace and quiet of his people.

Puerto Plata, St. Domingo, June 25, 1869.

The steamer Tybee, having been prevented from entering the Bay of Samana on an exploring cruise by the American pirate Telegrafo, put into this port this morning. She will lie here to-day, taking in cargo, and will depart for New York direct to-morrow.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Thursday, July 1—6 P. M.

The money market still continued extremely active to-day, but the rate on call loans was more uniform, ranging from one-eighth exceptionally to three-eighths exceptionally, the majority of transactions taking place at a quarter per cent "flat" and a quarter per cent plus seven per cent. The operations of the clique were more definitely traced to-day, and large loans were known to go to a firm which was also lending at high rates, thus keeping up the apparent stringency and suffering little loss. There was less irregularity at the Clearing House this morning, showing that some of the banks were afraid to persevere in helping the cliques. Commercial paper is hardly quotable, the best names being offered at nine to twelve per cent. Foreign exchange opened strong, but the lower price of bonds and the early advance in gold led to large purchases of governments on foreign account, against which new bills were drawn. There is also a free supply of produce and petroleum bills on the market. One large cable transfer was offering at 110¼. For sterling the prime bankers at the close were asking 109¾ a 109⅞ for sixty days and 110⅜ a 110½ for sight. Exchange on England was weak; continental bills were firm. Governments opened weak, but rallied about a half per cent at the noon board, but thence declined again to the opening prices. In the following, which were the closing street quotations this evening, the July bonds are quoted ex coupon:—United States sixes, 1881, registered, 116⅞ a 117; do. do., coupon, 117 a 117¼; do., five-twenties, registered, 116⅝ a 117¼; do. do., coupon, 1862, 121¼ a 121½; do. do., coupon, 1864, 116⅞ a 117; do. do., coupon, 1865, 118 a 118⅜; do. do., coupon, 1865, new, 115¼ a 115⅝; do. do., coupon, 1867, 115¼ a 115½; do. do., coupon, 1868, 115⅝ a 115¾; do., ten-forties, registered, 107¼ a 108; do. do., coupon, 107⅞ a 108; currency bonds, 106 a 106¼.

General Butterfield, who assumed the place of Assistant Treasurer this morning, in place of Mr. Van Dyck, resigned, began his administration with the sale of one million of government bonds. The total amount offered was about three and a half millions. The lots accepted were as follows, at the accompanying prices:—$25,000 1867, registered, 115.84; $50,000 1867, coupon, 115.83; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.87; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.87; $18,000 1867, coupon, 115.99; $125,000 1865, registered, 115.83; $50,000 1865, registered, 115.62; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.80; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.95; $100,000 1867, coupon, 115.88; $27,000 1867, coupon, 115.90; $49,000 1862, registered, 115.48; $20,000 1864, registered, 115.49; $25,000 1867, registered, 115.63½; $100,000 1865, registered, 115.85.

Gold sympathized with exchange, opening firmly with it, advancing to 137¾ and receding later to 136⅞. The course of the market is shown in the table:—

10 A. M.	137⅛	2 P. M.	137⅛
10:30 A. M.	137¼	3 P. M.	137¼
11 A. M.	137⅜	3:30 P. M.	137
12 M.	137⅜	3:45 P. M.	136⅞
12:15 P. M.	137⅝	4 P. M.	137
1 P. M.	137½	5 P. M.	136⅞ a 137

The carrying rate for cash gold also contributed to the reaction late in the afternoon, the prospect of an easier market seeming remote as long as the general money market continues so stringent. The range of the carrying rate was from one-eighth to one quarter. The disbursements of gold interest by the Sub-Treasury were $4,344,000. The steamer Union for Europe to-day took out $6,000 in specie, and the Havana steamer $14,000. The Alaska, from Aspinwall, brought $67,539. The following is the report of the Gold Exchange Bank:—

Gold cleared	$71,253,000
Gold balances	3,062,161
Currency balances	4,251,259

Southern securities at the morning board were stronger in sympathy with an advance in new Tennessees to 59¾. These bonds being quite active and first on the call, are operative upon the general list. In the afternoon the whole market broke down with the general tendency of the hour, and prices fell off one to one and a half per cent. The Alabamas were weak in consequence of the very liberal extension of State aid to railroads. The following were the final street prices of the Southern list:—Tennessee, ex coupon, 62 a 63; do., new, 58 a 58¼; Virginia, ex coupon, 58 a 59½; do., new, 62 a 62½; Georgia sixes, ex interest, 80 a 82; do. sevens, 96 a 97; North Carolina, ex coupon, 58 a 58¾; do., new, 53 a 53½; Missouri sixes, 87 a 88; Louisiana sixes, 69 a 70; do. levee sixes, 67 a 68; do. do., eights, 86 a 88; Alabama eights, 95 a 97; do. fives, 61 a 62; South Carolina sixes, 80 a 82; do. new, 67 a 68.

The stock market was strong and buoyant until midday when a decline set in and the whole list fell "off" one-half to two and a half per cent. The early upward tendency was due to an impression that the worst of the monetary stringency had been seen inasmuch as the heavy disbursements of the gold by the government would fortify the banks and enable them to increase their accommodation. The market at the morning board was cheerful, the feeling continuing during the noon transactions in the Long Room, when New York Central sold at 195¾ and Hudson River at 165¼. The Northwestern stocks rose to 82⅞ for the common and 96⅜ for the preferred. Michigan Southern touched 110⅜. The strongest stock, the one which most stoutly resisted the decline and the most reactionary after it, was Pittsburg, which advanced to 102⅞. Pacific Mail sold at 90½, but receded to 89. In the decline Central touched 194⅞ and Michigan Southern 108. The Express stocks were heavy and lower, Adams selling down to 60¾. The market, after the adjournment of the Long Room, was better, and final street prices showed a decided improvement. The closing quotations at the last board were as follows:—Canton, 60 bid; Boston Water Power, 15½ a 17; Cumberland, 31 bid; Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, 31½ a 32; Adams Express, 61 a 61½; American Express, 42 bid; United States Express, 74½ asked; Quicksilver, 15 a 16½; Pacific Mail, 90 a 90½; Western Union Telegraph, 38½ a 38¾; New York Central, 196 a 196½; Mariposa, 8 a 9½; do. preferred, 15 a 16½; Hudson River, 164½ asked; Harlem, 144½ a 145½; Reading, 98½ a 98¾; Alton and Terre Haute, 35 a 37½; do. preferred, 59⅝ a 60; Toledo and Wabash, 72¾ a 73½; do. preferred, 78 a 81; Milwaukee and St. Paul, 75¾ a 75½; do. preferred, 86 a 86¾; Chicago and Alton, 159 bid; Ohio and Mississippi, 32⅞ a 33¼; Fort Wayne, 155½ bid; Michigan Central, 130 asked; Michigan Southern, 109⅞ a 109¾; Illinois Central, 143 a 144; Cleveland and Pittsburg, 101⅞ a 101¾; Rock Island, 118⅝ a 118¾; Northwestern, 82⅛ a 82⅜; do. preferred, 96 a 96¼; New Jersey Central, 104⅛ a 104½; Hannibal and St. Joseph, 118 bid; Columbus, Chicago and Indiana Central, 39 a 39⅛.

For future delivery the sales were small, being only 273 bales for December delivery on private terms. We append the current quotations:—

THE COURTS.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Sentences—McHenry and Davis Sent to the Penitentiary.

Before Judge Benedict.

SENTENCE OF DAVIS.

George D. Davis, convicted of making a false affidavit against Collector Bailey, and John D. McHenry, convicted of making false affidavits and giving false testimony against Messrs. Rollins, Harland and others, were brought up for sentence in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Benedict, yesterday.

Davis was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor in the Kings County Penitentiary and was fined one dollar.

M'HENRY ASSERTS HIS INNOCENCE.

When McHenry was arraigned Judge Benedict told him that he had been found guilty of the crime of perjury and asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced.

McHenry said there was much that he could say, but he did not believe it would avail him anything to say it. He was bound to accept the verdict of the jury. His previous character was unimpeached, except by political enemies. His life had been an honorable one. He had yet to know wherein he had wronged any man. He trusted he could, depending upon his Maker, bear any punishment that the Court could inflict, believing that what he had sworn to was true, and if he was about to meet his Maker, he would still assert such belief.

Judge Benedict, then addressing McHenry, said he had been found guilty of one of the most heinous crimes, committed under the most aggravating circumstances. The fact that within a short time five persons had been sentenced for making false affidavits against public officers showed how widely spread were such offences. The circumstances of McHenry's case were of such a nature as to leave no room to suppose that his sworn statements were made by mistake. It had been clearly shown that these statements were sheer fabrications. Under all the circumstances it was the duty of the Court to inflict the severest punishment the law permitted.

McHenry was then sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and to five years' imprisonment at hard labor in the Kings County Penitentiary.

[illegible], the counsel of Davis, entered a protest both as Davis' counsel and as a citizen of the United States, against the proceedings in the trial of Davis, saying that the faith of the government was violated in having Davis enticed from the British dominions under the pledge of protection, and then trying him for perjury.

Judge Benedict said such a protest could not be entertained by the Court, but should be made to the proper authorities.

The United States Grand Jury on Notary Publics.

The Grand Jury for the United States Circuit Court, in appearing before Judge Benedict for the last time before being discharged, made the following special presentment:—

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES:—

SIR—The Grand Jury feel that they would be derelict in their duty did they not, before being discharged, call your Honor's attention to a matter which, while perhaps not coming within their immediate jurisdiction, seems to require a positive and radical reform, namely, the culpably loose and careless manner in which the office of notary public has come to be administered in this city, whereby the very plain intent of the law creating said office is entirely defeated, the statute requiring that certain documents shall be acknowledged or sworn to before a notary public, that the party therein named shall personally appear, shall be to the notary well known, and shall acknowledge the act to be his, or shall make oath to the truth of the contents subscribed to by him, having become an expense and hindrance, without the supposed security; for we find in sundry cases that have come before us that the signatures to certain documents were fictitious, the parties purporting to have signed them myths; that these documents have, a dozen or more at a time, been left at different notaries by a messenger, and that repeatedly these have been duly attested by the notary and returned to the parties who have fraudulently used them. The evidence before us does to show, however, that the notaries were not designedly accessory to the fraud.

JOHN W. GRAYDON, Foreman.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon Eugene Rosenwick, aged three years, was run over by a baker's wagon, in the Tenth ward, and was fatally injured.

THE REUNION AND BANQUET of the Army of the Potomac promises to be a great success. Telegraphic despatches have been received from General Sheridan, General Meade, Secretary Rawlins, Governor Hoffman and others announcing their intention to be present. The President and Cabinet, General Sherman, Admiral Farragut and other distinguished officials have been invited and are also expected to attend.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.—On Wednesday last the Sanitary Superintendent of the Metropolitan Board of Health submitted to the Board a very lengthy and elaborate report relative to the fat-rendering, gut-cleaning and tripe-boiling establishments, and their effects upon the sanitary condition of the various parts of the city in which they are located, and recommending the adoption of certain rules and restrictions for the government and regulation of the traffic.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL.—At a meeting of the Philharmonic Society held yesterday at the Germania Assembly Rooms it was unanimously resolved that a grand festival, entitled "The Empire State Musical Festival," shall be given next summer, on which occasion it is decided to secure the services of the most celebrated talent available of the two hemispheres in all departments the object being to make it essentially artistic and unapproachable in a musical point of view.

BODIES FOUND IN THE WATER.—The remains of an unknown woman, about twenty-one years of age, and somewhat advanced in decomposition, were found floating beside a schooner in the bay by Sergeant Kelly, of the Harbor Police, and towed to Castle Garden. Coroner Rollins was notified to hold an inquest.

The body of a child was washed ashore on Governor's Island, of which fact Lieutenant Belger, of Fort Columbus, notified Coroner Rollins. An inquest will be held.

FIRE IN SIXTH AVENUE.—A fire broke out in the grocery store of Henry F. Sifke, Jr., northeast corner of Sixth avenue and Amity street, last night, at a quarter to twelve o'clock. The fire first appeared behind the counter of the store, and from thence spread through the building. The house was owned by the father of the proprietor of the store. The house was insured for $3,000 and the stock in the store for $3,000 more. The loss from the fire is estimated at $400, all the stock having been destroyed. The house was insured in the Stuyvesant and the store in the Bowery Insurance Company.

FERRYBOAT COLLISION.—Considerable excitement was occasioned at half-past ten o'clock yesterday morning by a collision between the ferry boats Columbia and America at the Fulton ferry. The ferry boat America was lying in the east slip on this side of the river, and the Columbia attempted to enter the west slip. The tide, however, carried her over to the opposite slip, and before her speed could be checked she ran into the America, her deck going beneath the latter, and tearing away the iron pin and chains. Several planks were torn from the deck of the Columbia. The passengers escaped without injury.

THE POLICE BOARD.—A lengthy session of the Board of Police Commissioners was held yesterday, when a report was received from the Board of Surgeons, nominating two physicians for duty at the Central Office. The Board took no action upon it beyond instructing the clerk to draft a set of rules for the government of the Board of Surgeons. The Board then proceeded to effect the long-talked of transfers of captains and sergeants. Sergeant John Murphy, Eleventh precinct, was transferred to the Twentieth, in place of McCullough, sent to the Eleventh; J. E. Haley, Eighteenth, was sent to the Fourteenth, in lieu of James Loonie, assigned to the Eighteenth; E. T. Halbour, Forty-seventh, was assigned to the Fifteenth, in place of Lucien S. Field, sent to the Forty-seventh. Mr. Smith being called away at this stage of the session, the further transfers were deferred until a future meeting.

EXTENSIVE FIRE IN WHITE STREET.—An extensive fire broke out in the large building of Messrs. William J. Peake & Co., dry goods merchants, 49 and 50 White street, this morning, at half-past one o'clock. It originated in the packing room on the fifth story, and catching in a lot of light material packed on the stairway communicated to the store below. It was discovered by officer Banker, of the 21st precinct, who gave the alarm. The firemen were promptly on the ground, and every effort was made to reach the seat of the fire, which was supposed to be in the centre of a quantity of dry goods in the packing room. When our reporter left (at forty-five minutes past one) the stock had suffered an estimated damage of $10,000, which was fully insured. When the fire broke out Mr. C. T. Banard, the bookkeeper of the establishment, was asleep on the first floor. The building is not much damaged, and the loss in dry goods will be principally by water, which was plentifully applied.

THE REPUBLICAN IMBROGLIO.

Meeting of the Republican General Committee Last Night—Denunciation of United States Marshal Barlow.

The Twenty-second Street Republican General Committee met last night at their headquarters, the President, Mr. J. V. Gridley, in the chair. The principal business which called the members together was to hear and take action on the report of a special committee appointed at their last meeting in reference to the alleged anti-republican course pursued by United States Marshal Barlow in not according a full meed of patronage to the republicans of this city.

Mr. CHARLES SPENCER read the majority report of the committee, which, after animadverting on the defiant position that General Barlow had assumed towards the republican party, set forth the following resolutions:—

Resolved, That the working republicans of this country in the late Presidential election won the fight; that they are entitled to a legitimate part of the victory; that any public man who owes his position to their efforts and who ignores them commits political suicide: that Francis C. Barlow, as a public officer, occupying a position from the results of a republican political victory, is a representative of the republican party and in honor is bound, upon the recommendations of reliable and trusted republicans, to appoint men honest and capable (as well as republicans) to the offices in his gift, and that his refusal to take this course of action, in the judgment of the committee, is a gross error.

Resolved, That this committee respectfully and earnestly asks the President of the United States to remove from the office he holds Francis C. Barlow, and that such action will meet with the grateful approval of 45,000 republicans by this committee represented; that, aside from a bravery in the field shared with thousands of common soldiers, Mr. Barlow never has had any claim upon the republican party; and that his attempt to do an exclusively political business upon his own personal account ought to result in political bankruptcy.

Resolved, That a copy of the above report and resolutions, duly attested by the officers of this committee and signed by each member voting for their adoption, be sent to the President of the United States, to each member of his Cabinet and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Mr. LAWSON presented a minority report from the same committee to the effect that there was nothing in the political conduct of General Barlow that demanded such action as the majority report suggested.

Some debate here arose on the two reports. Mr. Sinclair Tousey, ex-Judge J. C. White and others speaking in favor of General Barlow. The upshot of the whole thing was that the majority report was adopted, and the meeting broke up amid the smiles of the supporters of the measure and the chagrin of its opposers.

BOAT RACE IN THE NORTH RIVER.

Bell and Hayes the Contestants—The Former Breaks an Oar and the Latter Wins the Race.

A boat race of five miles, for $200 a side, between Frank Bell and W. H. Hayes, came off yesterday afternoon between the Elysian Fields and Weehawken. There was the usual delay in starting the boats, those in charge of the arrangement appearing to find that in the meantime a good deal of profit and interest might be derived from a lively and prolonged course of betting and a large and rapid consumption of lager beer. Anyhow, the race, which should have taken place at three o'clock, did not come off until after five. The attendance of spectators was large, especially on the Erie Railroad pier, where every pile of rubbish was seized upon as a vantage ground from which to have a good view of the contest.

A good many small boats kept moving around the starting point all the afternoon, but when the two men made their appearance in their light frail skiffs, ready for the struggle, the mosquito fleet of punts, dugouts, outriggers, &c., cleared away and gave a tolerable clear field to the contestants. Both got away evenly at the signal, but Bell, who held the outside course, had hardly proceeded twenty feet when he broke his left oar and wobbled considerably in the effort to recover himself. Undeterred by this disaster, he struck out with the broken blade, and having, after half a dozen pulls, reached his guide boat, he was supplied with a new oar, but one not quite corresponding with the right oar, which he retained. In the meantime Hayes had shot ahead over 300 feet, but when Bell got his pair of blades, unmatched as they were, fairly in the water, he crept rapidly up to his opponent amid the wild cheers of a rough and ready mob on board the steamer Virginia Seymour. Hayes had the smooth still water by the shore, the other, badly fixed as he was, took the current of the tide against him. Hayes worked along without a flaw in his rowing. He pulled from beginning to end with unflagging spirit, and after he had once fairly distanced his rival maintained his advantage with increasing odds to the end. The mile and a half stake was passed by Hayes in thirteen minutes, by Bell in thirteen minutes and seventeen seconds. The steamers Virginia and Wilbur accompanied the boats all along, the crowd on one cheering boisterously for Bell, the crowd on the other for Hayes. Hayes turned the stakeboat, two miles and a half from the start, in twenty-five minutes and thirty seconds. Bell in twenty-six minutes and fifteen seconds. On the return it was thought that Bell would make up for lost time and finally outstrip Hayes, but his guide boat advised him, unfortunately, to take the still water near the shore, while Hayes, on the contrary, took the open river and the favoring tide, the result being that the latter left his rival hundreds of yards behind and reached the winning point in forty-five minutes and fifty-five seconds, the other in forty-six minutes and forty-two seconds. Judges for Hayes, John Blue, William Maguire. For Bell, Charles McClenna, J. Stevens. Referee, Peter O'Brien.

THE BROOKLYN PARK BANK ROBBERY.

The examination in the matter of the Park Savings Bank robbery was resumed before Justice Walsh yesterday afternoon.

Mr. W. C. Kingsley testified that he saw Edward Hanitzsch on Saturday last at the office of Mr. Gill and saw the bonds; after looking at the bonds and seeing that they were a portion of the stolen bonds he asked him where he got them; after some little delay he answered that he "got them from a man;" prisoner said he resided in New Jersey; asked him if he knew the bonds were stolen, and he said he did not; told him they were, and considered it his duty to take the bonds and have him arrested; asked him again where he got the bonds and he replied from Mr. Frank; asked witness not to have him arrested and taken through the streets, and said he would remain until his employer (Mr. Le Baron) could be sent for, from whom he said he got the bonds.

William H. Rogers testified that he was in court on Tuesday during the first examination of the case; conversed with the prisoner at Grogan's saloon; prisoner asked him if he was a reporter, and he told him he was not; told him he thought he was and wanted him to write as favorable a report as possible; asked him if he did not think the testimony of the principal witness was very damaging; he answered that he did not know, but that most of it was true; he asked if it was not mean for the witness to repeat what he had told him in confidence.

Cross-examined—Was not introduced to prisoner; met him again at Grogan's, but not by appointment or request; asked me then if it was not mean to expose him after making a confidant of the witness; told him it was.

District Attorney said he did not propose to examine any more witnesses.

Mr. Wood, counsel for the prisoner, thought he ought to be discharged; but from the testimony elicited, and as the District Attorney was desirous of getting on the track of some $30,000 worth of bonds which had been stolen, it was not reasonable to suppose his discharge could be effected at the present time. He was satisfied from the examination that the prisoner was innocent, and he moved that he be admitted to bail. He said he would waive further examination. The prisoner was then called to the stand and his voluntary examination taken. He said he was twenty years of age; was born in Germany; lived at Elizabeth, N. J.; was a clerk and was not guilty of the charge preferred against him. Mr. Wood then examined the prisoner as a witness. He testified that he was a clerk in the employ of Mr. Le Baron, No. 26 Pine street; offered the bonds for sale by Mr. Le Baron; offered six for sale; Mr. Le Baron told him that Mr. French was a dealer in Brooklyn securities; that he might go to him and try and get the money for them; saw Mr. French the next day and he said he would find a purchaser for those bonds, and he appointed twelve o'clock the following day to call again; accompanied Mr. French to Brooklyn, was introduced to Mr. Gill, and was arrested at his office; Mr. Le Baron came over in the evening and tried to have him released on bail; had been in Mr. Le Baron's employ since October last at a salary of eight dollars per week; his father and mother lived in Saxony; conversed with Mr. Rogers and told him, thinking that he was a reporter, that he wanted as much publicity given to his acquittal as to arrest, said that what Latourette had told was mostly false.

Mr. Wood then renewed his motion to admit the prisoner to bail. The Judge denied the motion, and committed the prisoner to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

Commander D. L. Braine has been detached from ordnance duty at the New York Navy Yard and ordered to report to Admiral Godon as equipment officer of the Navy Yard. Commander C. H. Cushman, who formerly occupied this place, has been ordered to Washington, D. C., on duty at the Bureau of Equipment.

Admiral Turner has assumed the command of the consolidated squadrons of the North and South Pacific. Admiral Craven will remain in command of the Mare Island station, California.

THE CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.

Completion of the Capture—All the Vessels and Two Hundred Additional Prisoners Seized—Affairs at the Navy Yard—England the Future Base of Operations.

At last the finale of the great Cuban filibustering expedition has been reached, and its failure is as absolute as its results are disastrous. When Marshal Barlow directed all his energies to the detection and detention of the Catharine Whiting as the transport ship of the entire force, he effected an easy victory by a piece of clean strategy, as positive in its result as though he had seized each of the auxiliary vessels at their piers of debarkation. The capture of the tugboats Cool, Mabie and Webb, with 112 prisoners on board, has been already fully detailed by the HERALD correspondent who accompanied the expedition, who also stated that Colonel Ryan, with about 300 men, the steamer Chase and two schooners laden with ammunition and war materiel, had remained at Gardiner's Island, at the head of Long Island Sound.

On Wednesday evening, acting under instructions from Marshal Barlow, Deputy Marshal Crowley proceeded by rail to Milford, Conn., information having been received that the two schooners were unloading their cargoes at that place. The revenue cutter Mahoning also steamed up the Sound to the same destination. The two schooners, the Fancy and the Winona, were found at an abandoned pier a short distance from Milford, and an armed crew from the cutter was sent on board each vessel. The Fancy had already discharged the greater part of her cargo; but the Winona had not yet done so—in fact, being heavily laden, she could not get near the docks. The portion of the Fancy's cargo which was on the pier comprised about 150 cases, containing sabres, rifles, fixed ammunition, saddles, bridles, clothing, shoes, medical stores and other material necessary for the purposes of the troops, and in quantity sufficient to equip 1,000 men more completely than are any similar number now in the ranks of the revolutionists. Several pieces of field artillery are also embraced in the seizure.

The tugboat Chase was pursued and captured with about 200 of Colonel Ryan's men on board, but it was unknown whether Colonel Ryan was among the number, as no one of the officials present could identify him. One of the deputy marshals, who is known also, in addition to that position, to hold the very enviable post of a Spanish spy, has "laid himself out" for the capture of Colonel Ryan especially with the eagerness of a bloodhound, and should the colonel be among the captives, his pursuer, although baffled in his frantic efforts to capture, will no doubt gloat like a savage over the pleasure of identifying him. The deputy referred to has made himself the personal foe of Colonel Ryan and the mutual feelings of each toward the other are of a deadly description.

All the vessels captured started yesterday on their way down the Sound and were expected to arrive at the Navy Yard late last night, when the prisoners from the Chase would be placed with the captives who arrived on Wednesday, and the vessels will be also detained there with the steamers already seized.

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Yesterday afternoon, in conformity with instructions received from Washington by Admiral Godon, all the prisoners who arrived on Wednesday and who had been transferred to the receiving ship Vermont, were taken from the latter vessel and "put on board their own vessel, the Whiting," as Captain Strong, the gentlemanly executive officer of the Navy Yard, expressed it. The instructions received directed that the prisoners should be placed in the custody of Marshal Barlow, and be subsisted by him, the United States authorities to furnish the necessary guard. During the time they have been at the Navy Yard they have been victualled by the naval authorities. The prisoners generally express themselves as satisfied at the treatment shown them by the authorities, from the Admiral down to the marines and seamen. Numbers of officers and seamen have expressed openly at the Navy Yard, while on duty over the prisoners, the disgust they feel at being required to interfere with them, and openly avow their sympathy with the patriot cause. Señor Alfaro, the reputed Secretary of War of the Cuban Junta, is among the number, and has been promoted to the position of "cook of prisoners' mess No. 11," which duty he discharges as well as his limited culinary experience will allow, but with the best possible humor and kindness to his fellow messmen. It is rather strange, however, to see a fine-looking and wealthy Señor handling pots and pans, serving out spoons and soup dishes and issuing to the men their doses of broth.

FORFEITED AS A PRIZE.

Mr. Franklin, part owner of the tug Stable, which was seized with the Cool at Gardiner's Island, called on the Marshal yesterday morning to learn the fate of his boat. He was informed that she is forfeited to the government on account of her implication with a violation of the neutrality laws, and that she will be sold and the proceeds of the sale divided among the crew of the cutter Hugh McCulloch. On application he was given a permit to go on board of her, and got a recommendation from the Marshal to the Admiral of the Navy Yard to be allowed to place a man on board of her to look after the machinery.

THE TREASON

of some of the men connected with the enterprise is slowly developing itself, and there is little doubt that their conduct had much to do with the frustration of the object of the expedition. Besides this it is asserted that a Spanish spy on board the Cool disembarked at New London when the vessel arrived there on Monday and telegraphed information of the whereabouts of the squadron to New York.

The result of this matter is such as to deter any future attempts of a like character; but the leaders of the enterprise are still undaunted at their reverses, and it is probable that parties will in a few days leave New York for England to make arrangements for the fitting out of an expedition from that country, and to tender the protectorate of Cuba to Great Britain. Another expedition is about completed and will start from a part of the coast remote from New York, where there is no chance of detection or interference.

THE WARD FORGERY CASE.

Revival of the Velocipede Mania—A Swell on His Travels.

The arrest of Joseph Ward alias James Martin alias Dr. Hunter, and an indefinite number of other aliases, which took place on Tuesday, reveals an interesting character of sharp and successful financial operations. As thus far developed the operations of the prisoner have been exclusively confined to alleged operations in fraudulent checks, which, through forged certificates, he has had no difficulty in converting into the more solidified and substantial form of current greenbacks. The prisoner was yesterday morning brought before Judge Hogan at the Tombs. He was dressed in a stylish suit of Scotch gray, and altogether was very neatly and unexceptionably gotten up; but both in his apparel and the cut of his whiskers such a complete transmogrification has he undergone that it was with difficulty some of his victims, of whom about a dozen were present, were able to identify him.

The proceedings in court were long. First an affidavit was made against the prisoner by Mr. George Plumridge, in the employ of Calvin Witty. In his affidavit it was stated that the accused on the 1st of last month came to Mr. Witty's establishment, and, the velocipede mania being then at its height, purchased one of the "fiery untamed" bicycles. In payment for the purchase he gave a check for $253 on the National Shoe and Leather Bank, drawn to the order of James Martin, signed Frank Bird, and duly endorsed and certified. Everything seemed all right. His check was taken, and to Mr. Martin, the name he thus assumed as his own, counted out $112 in greenbacks, the difference between the amount of the check and the velocipede. In the usual order of business the check found its way into the Shoe and Leather Bank and was returned as worthless. As to the check, Mr. John M. Crom, cashier of the bank, made an affidavit that no such man as Frank Bird kept an account there, and that the certification was a forgery.

Upon the above affidavits the prisoner was remanded to prison, he not being able to furnish the $2,500 bail required for his formal examination. He gave his age as thirty, and his business that of a physician. As to the charge, he pleaded not guilty. Those claiming to have been victimized by him form quite a host. Among them are Brosnaw Brothers and Knox the hatter, who for once in his life knocks under at being taken in and done for. When the present complaint is disposed of the affidavit of these parties will be taken. The aggregate of his forgeries is said to amount to several thousand dollars. His prepossessing appearance, gentlemanly manners, liberal purchases, which he invariably made after banking hours, and the skilfully forged certifications of the checks he presented were his capital in trade, and, according to the allegations made against him, he made use of this capital to most brilliant advantage.

ACADEMY OF MOUNT ST. VINCENT.

The twenty-third annual commencement of this renowned institution was held yesterday at the Academy at Mount St. Vincent, and as a matter of course there was present during the exercises an exceedingly large and fashionable audience; for, as everybody knows, commencement day on the Mount, at Fonthill Castle, is an event of no ordinary importance in the eyes of New Yorkers. Special trains were run on the Hudson River Railroad for the benefit of the friends and admirers of the institution during the entire forenoon, but they barely sufficed to accommodate the numbers who left this city and the intermediate stations, to witness the exercises. The ladies were—as they generally are whenever there is anything worth seeing or hearing about a commencement—vastly in the majority, and the result was an assemblage of beauty in the hall where the commencement was had that was perfectly bewildering—a result which was, after all, inevitable, inasmuch as there are no ugly women nowadays, at least in New York. Besides, the old graduates of the institution and the relatives and friends of the present pupils were numbered by the hundred, while the clergy presented a formidable array, Vicar General Starrs, Fathers McNierny, Mooney, Brean and Quinn, of this city, and Gokein, of Fordham College, and Caro, of West Point, being of the number.

The exercises were had in the large hall of the Academy, the stage portion of which was tastefully decorated with evergreens, and were opened by a Rondo Militaire, which was performed on eight pianos by Misses Wilson, Walsh, McGlynn, Robbins, M. E. Connolly, M. Garrett, Perkins, Devlin, Bennett, M. Smith, Bachia, A. Smith, Lamb, Donahue, K. Robbins, Crean. It is almost needless to state that the effect of this thirty-two-hand combination was very grand, and was loudly applauded by the audience, as were an overture by Auber and a concordantia by Ascher, which were also performed by sixteen of the pupils. A dialogue in French and a melodrama, in which the Academy figured most poetically, were also quite attractive features of the entertainment. The following young ladies, at the close of the overture, were crowned and awarded the "academic honors:"—Miss Mary A. Reilly, of Jersey City, N. J.; Mary A. Walsh, Brooklyn, L. I.; Margaret E. Wilson, Baltimore, Md.; Kate V. St. John Noyes, New Haven, Conn.; Mary E. Loughran, Westchester, N. Y.; Margaret Kearney, New York; Kate K. Boyd, New Orleans, La.; Amanda Bussing, Westchester, N. Y.; Maria L. Konvalinka, Brooklyn, L. I.; Louise Bruguiere, New York; Mary Hughes, St. Louis, Mo., and Caroline C. Connolly, New York. The gold medal donated by the archbishop for the best original essay was awarded to Kate V. St. John Noyes, of New Haven, Conn. The salutatory, composed by Miss K. Noyes, was delivered by Miss Kent, and the valedictory, composed by Miss Konvalinka, by Miss Bruguiere. After the distribution of premiums Archbishop McCloskey addressed the graduates in his usually felicitous manner and was followed by Bishop Lynch, of Charleston.
